CALCUTTA,

The 4th April, 1889.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

ACQUISITION BY GOVERNMENT UNDER THE TREASURE TROVE ACT OF ARTICLES OF ARCHÆOLOGICAL INTEREST.

Cir. No. ²⁴₄₋₂ Arch.Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India, Revenue and Agricultural Department, dated 28th March 1889.

ARCHÆOLOGY.

Read the following Resolutions recorded in the Home Department, No. 3—167-181, dated 8th November 1882, and No. 1—58-71, dated 8th June 1883

Read also a despatch received from Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India, No. 79 (Statistics and Commerce), dated 8th November 1885.

RESOLUTION.

The subject dealt with in the Resolutions quoted in the preamble was the conservation and location in provincial or national museums of objects of archæological interest. The attention of the Government of India having been again called to the question by an enquiry from Her Majesty's Secretary of State whether more effective action cannot be taken to prevent the undue appropriation by private persons of such Indian antiquities as are worthy of being preserved in the national institutions of this country, the following instructions and suggestions are placed on record by the Government of India for the consideration of Local Governments and Administrations, who are invited to take such action and lay down such rules in connection therewith as may be deemed useful and desirable.

2. The opinion was expressed in the 4th paragraph of the Resolution first quoted, that the Government has never claimed any indefeasible rights in archæological objects, and that no such right could be asserted without legislation. This is true in regard to all objects of archæological interest of which the discovery could not be brought within the scope of the Treasure Trove Act. But it appears to the Governor General in Council that a material portion of discovered antiquities will be ascertained on enquiry to have been found in circumstances which would bring them under the provisions of Act VI of 1878. Such will be the case in respect to all ownerless antiquities of any value "hidden in the soil, or in anything affixed thereto." Statuary and remains of buildings, as well as coins, would, if buried underground, usually satisfy the required conditions, and could be classed as treasure under the definition of the Act which, as indicated by the extracts quoted in the Appendix, was intended by its framers to apply to objects of antiquarian interest discovered below the surface of the soil. Indeed the definition of treasure as framed in the original Bill was enlarged by the Select Committee for the express purpose of covering sculptures and similar antiquities, as well as coins.

3. The Treasure Trove Act permits the Government to claim the possession of treasure of which, as laid down in Section 4 of the Act, the amount or value is over ten rupees. Such "value" is not, as in Section 16, the price which the mere materials of the article found would fetch, but the market value or the price which the discovered object might, if offered for sale, reasonably be presumed to realize. The conditions under which the finder of treasure is to be compensated in cases where the claim of Government is asserted, are described in section 16 of the Act. The value at which the treasure is to be assessed is there defined as the value of the materials only, plus one-fifth of such value. The extra price which the discovered article might realize in virtue of its value as an object of archæological interest need not enter into account. It will not therefore be difficult to secure for preservation in national institutions the most important antiquities which may be discovered in any part of British India, without inordinate expenditure.

4. The Governor General in Council now desires that the conditions under which the Government can claim articles of antiquarian interest should be made generally known, as well to the officials upon whom the responsibility rests of giving effect to the provision of the Treasure Trove Act, as to the general public. His Excellency in Council is convinced that the Local Governments and Administrations will, on every occasion on which it may be considered proper to exercise the rights conferred by the law upon the State, act with due liberality, and with proper consideration for the natural claims and expectations of the finders of treasure, and will bear in mind that the object in view will be defeated if those who may discover objects of archæological value are not induced by the prospect of a sufficient reward to make their discoveries known to the officials of Government. On the other hand, it must be enjoined on all servants of the State that it is their duty to protect national interests so far as to ascertain the particulars of any discovery which may be brought to their notice, and to report the circumstances to the proper authorities under such rules and instructions as may be laid down for their guidance by the Local Government or Administration.

5. With regard to antiquities which cannot be brought under the definition of "treasure," in the Act of 1878, and of which the location in a national institution is considered desirable, no further action can be advised than to ascertain from the finder whether he is willing to surrender the object to Government at a reasonable price.

6. Nothing in this Resolution should be held to interfere with the instructions which are contained in the Resolution No. $\frac{1}{1871}$ of 8th June 1883 for dealing with discoveries made by Government officials, and which for the purpose of easy reference, are reprinted in the Appendix to this Resolution. The same instructions will be applicable, mutatis mutandis, to objects of archæological interest claimed and purchased under the Treasure Trove Act.

7. With the above remarks the Governor General in Council is content to leave the matter to the discretion of Local Governments and Administrations, but desires that any action which may be taken under this Resolution should be briefly noticed in the Annual Report of the Department of Land Records and Agriculture, as the Department which in most Provinces is connected with the administration of Museums.

APPENDIX I.

Extract from the Speech, dated the 29th November 1876, of the HON'BLE MR. E. C. BAYLEY, C.S.I., on the Treasure Trove Bill.

The Bill further proposed to adopt one other provision which, as indicated before, was taken from the modern law of Denmark. This was to give the Government a claim, on the payment of a specified percentage in excess of the intrinsic value, to the possession of such articles as it should consider worthy of preservation in the interests of the public, as being of historic or artistic interest. This provision was inserted some years ago in the law of Denmark, and the practical result had been to make the Government collection of national antiquities in that country the finest now existing. In India such a provision would be of the very greatest value. There was much hidden treasure in India, and as he (Mr. Bayley) could say from personal knowledge, much was being perpetually brought to light in various parts of the country, and a very large proportion of it was of importance, as illustrating either the history, the social habits, the religious beliefs, or the artistic skill, of the races who inhabited the country in past times. In truth, most of the only trustworthy information which we possessed of the history of India antecedent to the Muhammadan invasion was furnished by articles, especially by coins, discovered as "treasure trove."

It was, therefore, an object to prevent articles of this kind from being lost or destroyed and the provision the Bill proposed to make was, he believed, sufficiently liberal to secure to the Government an opportunity of purchasing such articles as they might consider of real public interest. Indeed, the present Lieutenant-Governor of the Punjab, Sir Henry Davies had recently acted on this principle in a very important case, with the consent of the finder, and had preserved from destruction articles of extreme historic interest.

Extract from letter from the Government of the Punjab, No. 636, dated 19th February 1877, on the original draft of the Bill to amend the law relating to Treasure Trove.

Mr. Kipling, Superintendent of the Government School of Industrial Art at Lahore, while considering the Bill effectual as regards precious metals, notes that there is a general misapprehension of the right of Government as regards stone, sculpture, wood, terra-cotta, and objects of this description. The Lieutenant-Governor thinks that the attention of the Legislative Council should be directed to this point, as there is considerable doubt as to whether these articles would be covered by the term "Treasure" in section 3 of the Act.

Extract from the report of the Select Committee, dated 31st January 1878.

The only other changes of importance we have made, besides those in the penal clauses, will be found in the definition of treasure, and in the clause (the first of section 4), which fixes the minimum value of treasure to which the Bill applies. We have enlarged the definition of the word "treasure," as it was urged by some of those consulted that it was desirable to do so in order to secure to the public (under section 15 of the Bill) objects of antiquarian interest which would not have been covered by the definition as first framed, and, with a similar view, we have reduced the minimum value of treasure to which the Bill applies.

Extract from the speech, dated the 13th February 1878, of the HON'BLE SIR E. C. BAYLEY, K.C.S.I., on the Treasure Trove Bill.

* * * And finally the Bill provided means whereby the Government would be able to procure for the national museum articles of historical or archæological value which it might be desirable to secure. Special provisions had been largely introduced into legislation in Europe for this purpose, and had the effect of preserving for national use much very valuable property and articles of great historical importance which would otherwise have been destroyed. He hoped that such might also be the result in India.

APPENDIX II.

Extract from the Proceedings of the Government of India in the Home Department (Archæology),—No. 1—58-71, dated Simla, the 8th June 1883.

RESOLUTION.—In the Resolution of the 8th November 1882, read above, the Govern-

3. As regards the question of preservation in situ as opposed to removal to, and exhibition in, a museum it may be observed that the great majority of the discoveries made by the Archæological Survey of India consist of the remains of buildings, massive pillars or inscribed blocks, which cannot be removed, and should for many other reasons be preserved where they stand. The case is, however, different with isolated figures, not in situ, especially if they are the remains of an extinct religion such as Buddhist figures, which are not unfrequently mutilated by the people, unless they happen to have been adopted by the Brahmans as belonging to Hindoo cults. In regard to such isolated figures and to others which although not mutilated, are lying neglected about the country, it appears to the Government of India that these might with propriety be removed to some safe place of deposit, such as the Indian Museum, where they could be seen and studied by all persons who take an interest in Indian Art. The Governor General in Council desires to make it clear that he is entirely opposed to the removal of any objects which are still in situ, such as the monoliths attached to Buddhist stupas and Brahminical temples, but on the other hand there seems no sufficient reason why isolated remains, such as a capital which is found lying without a shaft, or stray statues the original site of which is unknown, should not be removed to some museum in order to save them from future injury. To this class also belong the sculptures which have been found scattered about the Buddhist ruins of the ancient Gándhāra now occupied by the Yusufzai Afghans, whose custom is believed to be to mutilate such remains, unless this is prevented by their prompt removal to a place of safety.

4. In making the above remarks, the Governor General in Council has not lost sight of the fact that it may be argued that the claim of the Government to objects of archæological value rests upon no sufficient legal or other foundation. The Government has in fact never claimed any indefeasible right property in such objects, nor could such a right be asserted without legislation. Experience has, however, shown that the arrangements necessary for securing any object of worthy removal to a museum, or for preserving it in any other way, can in most cases be made without difficulty by Local Governments or local officers. This being so, it does not appear necessary to take any legal powers of compulsory acquisition.

will rest with the Local Government or Administration to issue orders for the preservation of the objects discovered in situ, or for their removal to a Provincial or Local Museum, where such exists, in accordance with the general principles set forth in the paragraphs marginally quoted above. Where there is no Local Museum, the object should be sent to the Imperial Museum, if the Trustees, to whom information of the discovery should be conveyed by the Local Government or Administration, should so desire.

II.—Local Governments and Administrations will furnish the Trustees of the Indian Museum with lists of all Museums in the Province and with descriptive catalogues of their contents, and will report to the Trustees all fresh discoveries dealt with under the preceding clause.

III.—The Trustees will be at liberty to arrange with Local Governments and Administrations either for the transfer to the Indian Museum of any object the Trustees may require or for acquiring it by exchange or for obtaining casts or other impressions of it, any points as to which there is a difference of opinion being referred to the Government of India for final decision. In dealing with such applications from the Trustees, Local Governments and Administrations will not fail to attach due weight to the desirability of completing any particular archæological series to which the Trustees of the Indian Museum may attach importance.

ment of India, after stating the general principles which should, in their opinion, regulate the utilization and disposal of objects of archæological interest in India, requested to be favoured with the remarks of Local Governments and Administrations on the subject. The replies received show that, while the general principles enunciated in paragraphs 3 and 4* of the Resolution are accepted by all Local Governments, there is some difference of opinion as to whether the place of deposit for such objects as it is not desirable to maintain in situ should preferentially be the Central Indian Museum, or the Local Museum of the Province or District, where such exists. After giving the matter his further consideration, the Governor General in Council thinks that all differences of opinion will be reasonably met by compliance with the following instructions:—

I.—All discoveries of objects of archæological interest made by Government officers (whether belonging to the Archæological Survey or not) should be reported by them to the head of the Local Government or Administration within which the discovery is made. When such a report is made, it

Director General of Railways' No. 19 (Statistical), dated the 21st February 1889, forwarding the Abstract Returns of Accidents to Trains, &c., on the open lines of Railway in India for the quarter ended 30th September 1888.

OBSERVATIONS.—As compared with the average of the five corresponding previous quarters, the number of accidents to trains, rolling stock, permanent-way, &c., shows an increase of 83, or 4.41 per cent., with an increase of 2,077.75 miles, or 16.94 per cent., in the mean mileage open, and of 1,657,717 miles, or 16·51 per cent., in the train mileage. The following are the railways on which the more important fluctuations occurred :—

Railway.	Number of accidents	ACCIDENTS				TRAIN MILEAGE
Rajputana-Malwa	71	.	26	.	26·00	15·36	...
Southern-Mahratta	57	38	...	200·00	...	132·53	...
North-Western	81	...	81	.	49·09	25·71	...
South Indian	81	21	.	33·87	...	21·37	...
Great Indian Peninsula	25	.	26	...	50·98	19·60	...
Dibru-Sadiya	124	68	...	121·43	...	4·93	...
The Nizam's	26	18	...	225·00	...	24·48	...

2. The principal variations on the Rajputana-Malwa Railway were a decrease of 30 accidents under "Trains running over cattle on the line" and an increase of 14 under "Failure of axles," the total number showing a decrease of 26·00 per cent. against an increase of 15·36 per cent. in the train mileage.

3. The increase on the Southern Mahratta Railway chiefly occurred under "Trains running over cattle on the line" and "The flooding of portions of permanent-way," the number of accidents recorded under the former being 23 against 8 and under the latter 12 against 2. The increase appears to have been mainly due to the increased mileage worked which was 854·5 miles against 363·75 miles. No portion of this line was open in 1883.

4. On the North-Western Railway, with an increase of 27·49 per cent. in the open mileage and 25·71 per cent. in the train mileage, the number of accidents was less by 81, or 49·09 per cent. The principal decreases were 7 under "Goods trains or parts of goods trains, engines, &c., leaving the rails," 18 under "Trains running over cattle on the line," 16 under "Failure of machinery, springs, &c., of engines," 7 under "Failure of couplings," and 9 under each of the heads "Fire in trains" and "Other accidents."

5. The increase on the South Indian Railway was apparently due to the working of the Cuddapah-Nellore line, which was opened for traffic on 15th September 1887. With the exception of an increase from 35 to 43 in the number of cattle accidents, there is no noticeable variation under any other head.

6. Of the decrease of 26 accidents on the Great Indian Peninsula Railway, 8 occurred under "The flooding of portions of permanent-way" and 6 under "Goods trains, or parts of goods trains, engines, &c., leaving the rails." No accident is returned under the latter head for the quarter under review.

7. Of the large number of accidents (124) on the Dibru-Sadiya Railway, a very heavy proportion arose from failure of couplings, and the remainder occurred in derailments.

8. On the Nizam's Railway the number of accidents rose from 8 to 26, or by 18, of which 8 appear under "Trains running over cattle on the line" and 4 under "Failure of machinery, springs, &c., of engines." The mean mileage worked during the quarter was 297, or larger by 90·69 per cent., and the train mileage run 112,432, or larger by 24·48 per cent.

9. The casualties resulting from accidents to trains, &c., were, among passengers and others, 1 killed and 8 injured, against 1 killed and 9 injured, and among servants, 2 killed and 6 injured, against 1 killed and 6 injured. Of the casualties to passengers, 4 passengers were slightly injured on the East Indian Railway in consequence of a down train colliding with the dead end buffers at Jamalpur. This accident was caused by the driver running at an excessive speed and being unable to pull up the train owing to the slippery state of the rails.

10. The following table exhibits the number of accidents under the different classes, due to accidents to trains, rolling stock, permanent-way, &c., and the number of persons killed and injured thereby, vide Tables Nos. 3 and 4 :—

11. The principal variations occurred under " Passenger trains, or parts of passenger trains, leaving the rails," 32 against 26; " Goods trains, or parts of goods trains, engines, &c., leaving the rails," 94 against 83; " Trains running over cattle on the line," 265 against 283; " Failure of axles," 25 against 7; and " Failure of couplings," 86 against 60.

12. The increase under " Passenger trains, or parts of passenger trains, leaving the rails," " Goods trains, or parts of goods trains, engines, &c., leaving the rails" and " Failure of couplings," was due to the numbers recorded under these heads on the Dibru-Sadiya Railway being very large, viz., 20, 28, and 65 against 4, 13 and 30, the average of the two corresponding quarters of 1886 and 1887, respectively, for which returns were received.

13. Omitting the Dibru-Sadiya Railway, the number of cases under the head " Goods trains, or parts of goods trains, engines, &c., leaving the rails" was highest on the Madras and South Indian Railways, viz., 11 on each.

14. The cattle accidents were numerous on the South Indian and North Western Railways, being 43 and 32 respectively. As compared with the average of the corresponding quarters of 5 previous years, there was a decrease of 18 accidents on the latter line.

15. Of the 25 cases of " Failure of axles" 16 occurred on the Rajputana-Malwa Railway alone; and of the 45 cases of " The flooding of portions of permanent-way " 12 occurred on the Southern Mahratta, and 11 on the North Western.

16. The total number of accidents classified as " Other accidents " was 47, of which 20 were recorded on the Bombay, Baroda and Central India Railway.

17. The casualties to passengers from causes other than accidents to trains, &c., vide Table No. 2 were :—

21. In addition to the above, 8 persons are reported to have been killed and 41 injured in yards, workshops, &c., and 91 persons to have died in carriages and at stations from causes unconnected with the working of trains.

RESOLUTION.—The Government of India observes that a large number of cases of “Failure of axles” has occurred upon the Rajputana-Malwa Railway during the quarter, 16 cases being reported against an average of 2 during the corresponding quarters of the five previous years.

The number of “Failure of couplings” on the Dibru-Sadiya Railway appears to necessitate enquiry.

The Chief Commissioners of the Central Provinces, Burma and Assam

The Resident at Hyderabad.

The Agents to the Governor General for Central India, Rajputana and Baluchistan

The Director General of Railways.

The Consulting Engineers to the Government of India for Railways, Calcutta, Lucknow and Central Division.

ORDER.—Ordered that this Resolution be communicated, for information, to the Local Governments, Administrations and Officers noted in the margin.

Ordered also that copies be forwarded for the information of Her Majesty's Government.

Ordered further that this Resolution, with the Abstract Returns, be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India.

Extract from a Report on the Accident which occurred at mile 115½ North-East Line, Great Indian Peninsula Railway, at 3-20 a.m., on the 23rd July 1888, to the Up Mail Train, from Jubbulpore to Bombay. . .

This accident took place on a bridge about $\frac{3}{4}$ th of a mile from the Násik station in the direction of Devláli. The bridge consists of nine spans of 30 feet arches, the height of rail level above the deepest point of the Nulla is about 40 feet, the bed of the Nulla is of rock, and on the night of the accident the stream was running about 50 feet wide and 2 to 3 feet deep.

The Jubbulpore Mail left Nándgaon at 12-55. The train had been examined there by Carriage Inspectors, and found in perfect running order. Everything went well between this station and Násik, which the mail reached up to time and left at 3-20. The distance between Násik and Devláli is $3\frac{1}{2}$ miles and the time allowed to cover this distance is 8 minutes.

The train reached the bridge at a speed of about 20 miles an hour. Two-thirds of the bridge had been passed over safely when the engine and tender left the rails followed by 9 out of the 13 vehicles composing the train. They ploughed along the ballast and eventually came to a stop when the engine tender and front brake-van had cleared the bridge. The rest of the train remained on the bridge, all the carriages being in most perilous proximity to the parapet, so near indeed were they that had not the guard of the train stopped the passengers, some would certainly have been killed or injured by jumping into the river which they were on the point of doing. The total detention of the train was $6\frac{1}{2}$ hours.

When it was daylight and an examination became possible, it was at once seen that the accident had been caused by removal of the fish plates, fish bolts and keys which formed the fastenings of one inside rail of the up track at a point one-third of the length of the bridge from its west or Devláli end.

From the Appendix it will be seen that eleven pairs of rails and their sleepers and fastenings were injured or destroyed. The damage done to the rolling-stock, considering the speed at which the train was running, is extraordinarily small, and amounts to only a few buffers cracked and a few carriage springs broken.

REVENUE REPORT OF IRRIGATION WORKS IN THE NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES
FOR 1887-88.

No 681, dated Calcutta, the 29th March, 1889.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Public Works Department

Read—

Letter No 703 I, dated the 1st March 1889, from the Government of the North-Western Provinces, forwarding the Revenue Report of Irrigation Works in the North-Western Provinces for 1887-88, and the Resolution of that Government reviewing the Report.

RESOLUTION.—The following table shows the capital outlay during the year 1887-88 and up to the end of that year —

The Capital outlay of the year was principally on the Lower Ganges Canal. A sum of Rs 14,51,354 was expended chiefly on the Nadrai aqueduct (which is now approaching completion, and will, it is believed, be open for the irrigation of the rabi crop, 1889-90) and on two drainage syphons in its neighbourhood. The remaining expenditure was mainly on drainage and distributaries on the Ganges, Agra and Betwa Canals.

2. There is a balance of nearly four lakhs unexpended on the estimate of the one Protective Work, the Betwa Canal. On three of the Productive Works (Ganges, Agra and Eastern Jumna) about 38½ lakhs remain to be spent to complete the projects. On the Lower Ganges Canal the expenditure is more than fifteen lakhs in excess of the sanction—a revised estimate of this project has been long promised by the Government of the North-Western Provinces. The following statement shows the stage of construction which the different Major Works have reached—

		SANCTIONED		COMPLETED

The Minor Works, which consist of 20 miles of canals and 511 miles of distributaries, are completed.

NOTE—These figures differ from the Finance Accounts in the following respects:—The Capital outlay, as shown in column 2, differs from the Finance Accounts, as it includes indirect charges which are not shown in the Finance Accounts. The indirect charges in column 7, which are mainly a calculation of liability for leave and pension allowances, are not shown in the Finance Accounts. Of the indirect receipts in column 4, which are a share of Land Revenue credited to Canals only that portion which pertains to "Major Works" is shown in the Finance Accounts.

The loss on the Betwa Canal is rather greater than in the previous year; but the table in para. 4 shows that the working of the canal is improving as the assessments of the year rose to Rs. 66,428. The irrigated area also has risen from 8,608 acres to 24,135 acres. There was an increase however in the cost of Establishment and of Repairs, and the net revenue both in the year under review and in the previous years has been considerably less favourable than the forecasts of the project anticipated.

In the Productive Works there has been a decrease in receipts and a slight increase in working expenses, the net revenue being about four lakhs below that of the previous year the percentage on Capital is 3.8 as compared with 4.5. The decrease has occurred on the Ganges and Agra Canals, and is mainly due to the great falling off in the irrigated area of 1886-87, the rabi charges for which fall to be collected within the year 1887-88 as compared with 1885-86. The Lower Ganges Canal is still partially crippled by the failure of the Nadrai aqueduct, which is under reconstruction, and is only working at about three-fourths of its full power. The Minor Works, on the other hand, though the revenue has slightly diminished from Rs. 2,46,090 to Rs. 2,31,230, show a much larger decrease in working expenses, and the net revenue is more than double that of the previous year. The percentage of net revenue to Capital on these canals was 3·2 in 1887-88 as compared with 1·48 in the previous year.

The Revenue Accounts of the Major Works in the North-Western Provinces show, on the whole, a profit of about 55 lakhs of rupees since the commencement of operations. That is to say, the net revenue up to date has exceeded the charges for interest on Capital by that amount. This favourable result is mainly due to the Eastern Jumna Canal, which has a surplus of R126 lakhs. The other canals, with the exception of the Lower Ganges, have still considerable balances against them. The Ganges Canal will, in all probability, soon clear off the charges remaining against it. The following statement shows the figures for the last four years:—

The rate charged per acre compares thus with the rate in other Provinces for the same year—

North-Western Provinces	3'4

Madras	3'3

The assessed revenue of the year shows an improvement of nearly 4½ lakhs on that of 1886-87 which was an unusually, bad year, but it is more than 8 per cent. below the average of the previous six years. The explanation of this decrease in the assessment is due to the falling off in the irrigated area which, in the year under review, was about 300,000 acres or 16 per cent. below the average of the previous six years.

5. The areas irrigated by the different canals are compared with those of previous years in the following statement :—

There has been an increase in the areas, as compared with those of the previous year, in all canals except the Eastern Jumna, where there was a large falling off in the rabi area. The general decrease in the irrigated area, compared with that of the average of previous years, which is referred to in the previous paragraph, is explained, first, by the fact of the excessive rainfall of the year in question, and, secondly, by the fact that for four consecutive years the rainfall has been above the average: the amount of moisture in the soil generally tends to reduce the demand for irrigation.

6. The value of the crops irrigated during the year aggregated Rs. 5,20,72,286, which is about 76 lakhs in excess of the corresponding figure for the previous year. The average value per acre is Rs. 34'3, and the total value of the crops is considerably more than half the total capital invested in the works. The wheat crop is the largest and most valuable one: the area under wheat was one-third of the total area irrigated, and the value of the crop was 203 lakhs of rupees. Sugarcane and indigo are next in order: the sugarcane crop was valued at Rs. 130 lakhs, and the indigo at Rs. 42½ lakhs; the latter, however, was somewhat the larger in area.

7. The duty of each cubic foot of water entering the canals classed as Productive Works varied in the kharif crop from 41 acres on the Lower Ganges to 94 acres on the Eastern Jumna. In the rabi crop the duty varied from 67 acres on the Agra canal to 185 acres on the Lower Ganges.

8. The working expenses of the year are higher than those of 1886-87, and exceed those of any previous year. The increase is almost entirely on the Betwa, Ganges and Lower Ganges canals. The Minor Works show a considerable reduction in expenditure. The following statement gives the figures :—

The rate per acre for the Major Works was 1.85 in 1886-87 as compared with 1.72 in the year under review, the corresponding figures for Minor Works being 2.17 and 1.27 respectively. The total rate for this and other Provinces for the past year is compared in the following table :—

North-Western Provinces	1.69
Punjab	1.22
Bombay	5.29
Madras	0.80

9. The increase in the working expenses of the Betwa Canal is said to be due to the greater length of channels (some 200 miles) to be maintained. The increase on the Ganges Canal was due to extensive repairs to the Hardwar Dam and to Protective Works below the falls necessary on account of the large supply passed on to the Lower Ganges Canal. The increase on the Lower Ganges Canal is due to the larger sum written back to Revenue on account of the cost of the old Nadrai aqueduct, Rs 1,72,358 having been so adjusted in 1887-88 as compared with Rs 1,01,000 in 1886-87.

10. The details of the working expenses shown in the preceding paragraph are as follows :—

(a) Includes collection charges in the Civil Department on account of owner's rates

The cost of Direction and Accounts is divided rateably between the Irrigation, the Roads and Buildings, and other branches ; the figure shown above is the proportion chargeable to Maintenance and Working Expenses. The Executive Officers employed on irrigation works form a distinct staff, but the actual cost of their salaries is divided between Capital and Maintenance ; the charge shown above is the share of this cost, debited to the Revenue account of the canals. The share charged to Capital (including also the proportionate share of Direction and Accounts) amounted in 1887-88 to Rs. 2,56,937, i.e., about 23 per cent. of the cost of the Capital works. The charge for Medical Officers is almost entirely the cost of separate establishment employed on the canals. The cost of the Revenue employes includes the pay of the Civil Establishment as well as the pay of Deputy Magistrates, Zilladars, Amins and petty establishment employed on the Supervision of Irrigation, and the preparation of the returns on which the revenue is collected. Fees to Lambardars and Patwaris represent the commission paid to them at about 2½ per cent. on the revenue collected and paid into Civil Treasuries by them. The Navigation Establishment consists of a Traffic Manager, Assistant Toll Collectors and their menial establishments. The last head indicates the pay of Foresters, Gardeners, &c., employed on the supervision and maintenance of canal plantations.

11. The navigation receipts on the Upper and Lower Ganges Canals and on the Agra Canal were smaller than in the previous year : the working expenses were also smaller. The receipts were Rs. 25,235 as compared with Rs. 31,554 in the previous year, and the working expenses were Rs. 35,885 as compared with Rs. 41,450. The decrease in revenue was chiefly under the head of private boats on the Ganges Canal. Attention has frequently been drawn by the Government of India, and recently by the Secretary of State, to the fact that Navigation in the North-Western Provinces is carried on at a loss. It is explained that at present the main canal is closed between Gopalpore and Cawnpore every alternate week, to supply water to the Etawah Branch ; but when the Nadrai aqueduct is completed there will be a continuous supply of water down both branches ; and when the few remaining low bridges on the Upper Ganges Canal have been raised, it is believed that much larger use will be made of the opportunities for Navigation. There has also been a considerable reduction made in the cost of establishment during the current year. The value of the goods carried on the canals was about 25 lakhs of rupees.

12. The revenue realised from water-power on the Canals fell from Rs. 89,361 in 1886-87 to Rs. 69,362 in 1887-88 the decrease is explained to be due to the long canal closure of the year, and to the weaker demand for the mills : the decrease was mainly on the Eastern Jumna and the Ganges Canals. The revenue from plantations has been steadily increasing for some years past ; it is now Rs. 1,79,754.

13. In addition to the Irrigation systems, which have been referred to in the foregoing paragraphs, there are certain canals in the Tarai and Bhábar which are under the jurisdiction of the Superintendent of the Tarai and the Assistant Commissioner of Kumaon Districts ; but which have received a certain amount of attention in engineering details from the Public Works Department since 1886.

The Canals are mentioned in the Revenue Report for the first time. The areas irrigated amounted to 114,187 acres.

14. The Report which was due on the 15th November 1888 was received by the Government of India on the 4th of March 1889: though still much in arrears, this is an improvement on the previous year, when it was not received until the 15th of April. The Government of India trusts that the report will in future years be submitted on the date fixed.

The Capital Expenditure was Rs. 2,01,532 less than in the previous year. The chief decreases, due to the approaching completion of works, were Rs. 1,62,314 on the Lower Ganges Canal, and Rs. 56,748 on the Betwa Canal.

ASSESSMENTS.

2. The gross assessments amounted to Rs. 55,84,205, or Rs. 4,43,235 more than in 1886-87; and the working expenses were Rs. 25,70,640, or an increase of Rs. 6,544.

The total net revenue was Rs. 30,13,565, or 3.83 per cent. on the total Capital of Rs. 7,87,67,319 invested in the Productive, Minor, and Protective Irrigation Works of the Province.

The net revenue on the four Productive Works alone, viz., the Upper and Lower Ganges Canals, the Agra Canal, and the Eastern Jumna Canal, amounted to Rs. 29,41,755 or 4.09 per cent. on the Capital expended on them.

The interest charge on the total Capital amounted to Rs. 28,09,805; deducting which amount from the total net revenue, the assessments show a profit of Rs. 2,03,760 against a deficit in the previous year of Rs. 1,64,495.

REALIZATIONS.

3. The income actually realized from all sources was Rs. 53,56,135. After deducting working expenses and interest charges as before, there is a deficit of Rs. 24,310, due to loss on Famine Protective Works. The profit on the Productive and Minor Works amounted to Rs. 1,89,035; but this was counterbalanced by a loss of Rs. 2,13,345 on the Betwa Canal.

TOTAL INTEREST CHARGES.

4. The total interest charges on the Capital expended on all classes of Irrigation Works since their inception in the North-Western Provinces in 1830, amount to Rs. 5,31,63,270. The total net revenue derived since the above date, amounts to Rs. 5,98,56,391; thus showing a clear profit of Rs. 66,93,121, or 8.5 per cent. on the total Capital outlay.

WORKING EXPENSES.

5. The working expenses under all heads, direct and indirect, amounted in 1887-88 to Rs. 25,70,640, or Rs. 6,544 more than in the previous year.

Under the sub-head of Establishment, there was an increase of Rs. 10,672, but a decrease of Rs. 1,10,342 as compared with 1885-86.

The percentage of working expenses to assessments on the four Productive Works is shown in the statement below:—

The percentage remains practically the same on the Eastern Jumna Canal, but there is a satisfactory decrease on the other canals. As the assessments however depend so largely on the nature of the season, any percentages based on them cannot be entirely accepted as a true index, but only as an indication of the comparative ratio of the working expenses.

The cost of measuring irrigation and preparing demand statements amounted to Rs. 35,472, or Rs. 2.33 per 100 acres against Rs. 2.58 in 1886-87. Owing to the bulk of the work being done by the permanent establishment, there is little difference in the total cost of different years, and the rate per 100 acres varies inversely as the area irrigated.

The cost incurred by the Civil Department in collecting the water-rate was $\text{Rs. } 1,10,319$ or 2.71 per cent. on the gross collections against 2.93 per cent. in 1886-87.

Under Owner's rate the total balance outstanding was $\text{Rs. } 3,881$; and under Occupiers' rate $\text{Rs. } 33,501$. Of this amount, $\text{Rs. } 33,412$ was in course of liquidation, and only $\text{Rs. } 89$ was reported as irrecoverable.

MILEAGE OF CANALS.

6. The following statement shows that 9,782 miles of channels have annually to be maintained :—

CANAL	Main canal and branches.	Naviga- tion channels	Escapes and mill channels.	Distribut- aries.	Drainage cuts.	TOTAL.
	Miles.	Miles.	Miles.	Miles.	Miles.	Miles

TOTAL	1,427	44	175	6,556	1,580	9,782

There was an increase during the year of 94 miles of distributaries, 82 miles of which were on the Betwa Canal. Nine miles of new drainage cuts were also constructed.

IRRIGATED AREA.

7. The following table gives the area of "kharif" and "rabi" crops for 1887-88 and the previous five years :—

	KHARIF.	RABI.	TOTAL.	PERCENTAGE.
	April to Sep- tember	October to March.		Kharif.	Rabi.
	Acres	Acres	Acres.
1882-83	740,390	1,233,785	1,974,175	37.50	62.50
1883-84	825,747	1,471,927	2,297,674	35.94	64.06
1884-85	773,603	843,701	1,617,304	47.83	52.17
1885-86	702,259	1,007,417	1,709,676	41.08	58.92
1886-87	541,821	821,994	1,363,815	39.73	60.27
1887-88	612,436	904,852	1,517,288	40.36	59.64

The total area is 1,517,288 acres, or 12.7 per cent. less than the average area irrigated during the last 10 years; but compared with the preceding year there is an increase of 153,473 acres, or 11.3 per cent.

The early part of the "kharif" season was normal with occasional showers in April. Rain fell between the 13th and 23rd June, lessening the demand for irrigation. On the 2nd July the monsoon broke, and after that no more irrigation was done, except on the Eastern Jumna, Dún, and Rohilkhand Canals, which remained open for irrigation of rice. During July and August the rainfall was above the average, and good rain, in some places excessive, fell about the middle of September.

Nearly all the "rabi" crop was consequently sown without the aid of canal water. Towards the end of December light rain fell, but in the greater part of the country there was a good demand for water until the 22nd of January, when there was general rain which entirely stopped all demand except for fields previously irrigated.

PRINCIPAL CROPS IRRIGATED.

8. The statement below compares the acreage of the principal crops during the last six years :—

CROP.		1882-83.	1883-84.	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88.
		Acres	Acres.	Acres	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.

	Barley	266,651	286,073	108,267	118,569	70,881	79,937
	Gram	48,400	61,123	16,954	42,087	27,793	33,091
	Poppy	16,233	16,370	10,762	15,629	14,679	12,957

The area under sugarcane was 197,532 acres, or only 1,009 acres less than that irrigated in 1882-83, which is the highest on record.

Indigo shows an increase of 48,743 acres, but the area under this crop is still 18 per cent. below the average.

Rice and poppy have slightly decreased, and cotton, wheat and barley increased. These fluctuations depend chiefly on the nature of the season.

During 1887-88 the double-cropped area was 15.6 per cent. of the total area, and 38.6 per cent. of the area under "kharif."

76.4 per cent. of the total irrigation was done directly by flow, and 23.6 by lift.

VALUE OF CROPS.

9. The total value of crops raised with canal water was Rs. 5,20,72,286 as shown in table below, which is prepared from data supplied by the Agricultural Department —

YEAR.	Area irrigated	Value of crops.	Occupier's rate.	Value of crops per acre	Occupier's rate per acre.	Percentage on value of crops.
	Acres.	R	R	R	R
1885-86	1,709,676	4,97,91,920	43,21,185	29 12	2 53	8 68
1886-87	1,363,815	4,44,17,015	35,31,970	32 56	2 58	7 95

VILLAGES AND OUTLETS.

10. During the year 9,016 villages received water from 37,355 outlets. In addition to the above, 221 villages were watered from the Tarai Canals. The statements do not show the number of villages watered from the Bhábar Canals and the Bundelkhand Lakes.

IRRIGATING DUTY.

11. The irrigating duty and the value of each cubic foot of water on the four main Canals are detailed in the accompanying table —

CANAL.	AREA IRRIGATED PER CUBIC FOOT OF WATER AT HEAD.			TOTAL WATER-RATE PER CUBIC FOOT OF WATER AT HEAD.
	1885-86	1886-87.	1887-88	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88.
	Acres.	Acres	Acres	R	R	R
Upper Ganges	216	198	194	760	756	760
Lower Ganges	138	111	166	415	343	491
Agra	164	101	120	584	360	431
Eastern Jumna	208	215	187	850	907	859

The water-rate per cubic foot is highest on the Eastern Jumna Canal and lowest on the Agra Canal, notwithstanding that the higher occupiers' rates are in force on the latter. The difference is chiefly due to the large area under first class crops, sugarcane and rice, on the Eastern Jumna Canal, as shown below —

						Percentage of area under 1st class crops
Upper Ganges Canal	22.8
Lower Ganges	"	5.4
Agra	"	2.7

MAINTENANCE CHARGES PER ACRE.

12 The maintenance charges per acre irrigated are as follows —

CANAL	Rupees
	1883-84	1884-85.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88.
Upper Ganges	0 91	1 45	1.25	1 60	1.60
Lower Ganges	1 06	1 64	1.59	2 34	2 00
Agra	1 02	2 20	1 58	2 46	2 20
Eastern Jumna	0 76	1 24	0 91	1.09	1 18

NAVIGATION OPERATIONS.

13. The results of the year's navigation operations are given in the following table —

CANAL	1887-88			1886-87			1885-86
	Gross Revenue (Receipts)	Working expenses	Deficit	Gross Revenue (Receipts)	Working expenses	Deficit	Gross Revenue (Receipts)	Working expenses	Deficit
Upper and Lower Ganges	14,700	28,449	13,749	19,820	35,119	15,299	20,026	31,924	11,898
Agra	10,535	7,440	-3,095	11,734	6,331	-5,403	5,674	5,321	-353
TOTAL	25,235	35,889	10,654	31,554	41,450	9,896	25,700	37,245	11,545

On the Upper and Lower Ganges Canals there was a loss of Rs 13,749 against a loss of Rs 15,299 in the previous year. As noted in previous reports, no material improvement can be expected until the new Nadrai Aqueduct is completed and constant running introduced on the Cawnpore Branch.

The Agra Canal shows a profit of Rs 3,095 against a profit of Rs 5,403 in 1886-87.

MINOR RECEIPTS

14. The actual receipts realized from minor sources of income are exhibited below —

Plantations	1,47,040	1,49,502	1,60,657	1,75,542	1,79,754
Water-power	72,765	60,668	73,761	89,361	69,362
Miscellaneous	54,263	50,917	50,404	48,540	53,694

The decrease under water-power is mainly on the Ganges and Eastern Jumna Canals, and is due to the long canal closure and to weaker demand for the mills. In addition to the above the sum of Rs 31,995 was realized by the Superintendent, Kumaun-Bhábar, on account of water-power on the Bhábar Canals.

RAINFALL.

15. This was the fourth consecutive year of heavy rainfall. Over the whole of the Upper and Lower Ganges Canal the mean rainfall recorded during the last four years has exceeded the normal amount as shown by the Meteorological Department by 25 per cent.; on the Eastern Jumna Canal by 22 per cent.; on the Agra Canals by 20 per cent.; on the Rohilkhand Canals by 17 per cent.; and on the Dún Canals by 12 per cent.

- At isolated spots, however, the falls have been far heavier. For instance, on the Narora Division of the Lower Ganges Canal, the Fatehgarh Branch of which traverses the Districts of Etah and Farukhabad, the actual rainfall during the four years ending 1887-88 was 156·3 inches, or more than double the amount that fell in the previous four years, vis., 74·8 inches. Even in this small area the amount that fell in 1887-88 varied largely. From the head of the Lower Ganges Canal at Narora to the 12th mile of the Fatehgarh Branch the rainfall was 29 inches; from the 12th mile to the tail at the 60th mile the fall was 42 inches.

Owing to this abnormal rainfall, the country in this portion of the Etah and Farukhabad districts has become supersaturated; and it will require a series of dry years to restore it to the state it was in six or seven years ago.

DRAINAGE WORKS.

16. In the Resolution on the Irrigation Revenue Report for 1882, it was noted that complaints were made of the country being overdrained, and of the pasture lands suffering in consequence of the number of drainage cuts made by the Irrigation Department. At the present time, after a small cycle of wet years, the cry, even in some districts which complained before, is that sufficient drainage cuts have not been made.

There are now 1,580 miles of drainage cuts, of which 207 miles, besides very many masonry works, &c., for the passage of drainage, have been constructed since 1882: more drainage works will have to be made in certain localities; but it must be borne in mind that the primary function of a drainage cut is not, per se, to reduce the height of spring level, but to prevent the rain water being entirely absorbed into the ground and thus raising the spring level.

SPRING LEVEL OBSERVATIONS.

17. Spring Level Observations continue to be carefully recorded as usual. The observations show a considerable rise during the four years 1883-84 to 1887-88; but there is little difference between the measurements of 1887-88 and the previous year.

As might be expected from the abnormally heavy rainfall, the portions of the Etah and Farukhabad districts traversed by the Fatehgarh Branch of the Lower Ganges Canal show a continuous rise. At the 7th mile from the head the spring level is 2·2 feet higher than it was in 1884-85; at the 25th mile it is 4·1 feet higher; at the 50th mile 6·3 feet; and three miles below the tail at the 60th mile it is 6·1 feet.

RIVER SUPPLIES.

18. The supplies in all the rivers were more than sufficient to meet requirements except for a few days in May and June, when the Jumna fell very low and short supply was obliged to be run in the Eastern Jumna and Agra Canals

PROFITS OF PRODUCTIVE WORKS.

19. The following statement summarizes and compares the net profits and the percentage on capital of the four Productive Works :—

	UPPER GANGES.		LOWER GANGES.		AGRA.		EASTERN JUMNA.

FAMINE PROTECTIVE WORKS.

20. The year under review was the second in which irrigation was done during both crops from the Betwa Canal.

In 1886-87 the revenue was R23,157, and the expenses R76,348; thus showing a loss of R53,191.

In 1887-88 the revenue was R66,428 and the expenses R89,713; or a loss of R23,285.

The area of crops sown was small, and there was ample supply of water. During the "kharif" season the level of water in the reservoir fell 10'8 feet against 11'5 feet in the previous year.

MINOR WORKS.

21. On the Rohilkhand Canals there was a profit of R28,162 against a loss of R40,435 in 1886-87. On the Bijnor Canals the profit was R19,002 against R11,454 in the previous year.

On the Dun Canals there was a profit of R48,543 against R41,012 in 1886-87. On the Bundelkhand Lakes there was a loss of R613 against a loss of R4,318.

The Tarái and Bhabar Canals are for the first time shown in the Revenue Report of the year; but the returns regarding them are not included in the Canal statements, as no actual water-rate is levied.

The following statistics are given from data supplied by the Superintendent of the Tarái and Bhabar respectively :—

TARÁI CANALS

Area irrigated	24,410 Acres.
Revenue	24,309 R
Expenditure	15,934 "
PROFIT	8,375 "

BHABAR CANALS.

Area irrigated	84,099 Acres.
Revenue	1,47,668 R
Expenditure	46,906 "
PROFIT	1,00,162 "

Apparently an arbitrary rate has been taken on both Canals as showing the probable revenue derivable from the water. In the case of the Tarái Canals this seems to be about R1'00 per acre; and R1'9 on the Bhabar Canals. The large area under oilseeds on these latter Canals is noticeable. It was reported as 14,974 acres, while the area on the rest of the Canals in the province was only 3,458 acres.

TOTAL-NET PROFITS, INCLUDING ALL CLASSES OF WORKS.

22. The net profits and the per centage on the total Capital outlay from all the Canals in the North-Western Provinces, except in the Taráí and Bhabar, is compared with the results of the ten previous years in the following statement :—

RESOLUTION—The rule referred to in the preamble stands as follows

II—Officers of Royal Engineers, who have attained or hereafter may attain the rank of General Officers, must vacate their appointments in the Public Works Department. But if an Officer at the time of so vacating office is a Chief Engineer, 1st class, or holds a post carrying that rank, he may be continued in the position which he had been required to vacate, for the remainder of the term of five years referred to in Rule III, unless in the meantime he must vacate office under some other regulation. Officers of Royal Engineers holding rank below that of Chief Engineer, 1st class, vacating office under this rule, are not eligible for reappointment to the Public Works Department.

It has been decided, with the sanction of the Secretary of State for India, that special exceptions to this rule may, at the discretion of Government, be admitted in the case of officers who, on account of specially accelerated military promotion for distinguished service in the field, have reached the rank of Major-General without attaining the departmental rank of Chief Engineer, 1st class, required under the rule, for reemployment in the Public Works Department.

RESOLUTION.—With reference to the Resolution quoted above, regarding the retirement of officers of the Military Works and Public Works Departments, who, at the age of 50 years, have not attained the rank of Superintending Engineer, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to decide that the rule is not to be applied absolutely, as in the case of superannuations, under the 55-years rule. Each case which may come under the operation of the Resolution of 26th September, 1887, must be specially dealt with on its own merits, and with due consideration of any special circumstances, other than inefficiency or misconduct, which may have tended to retard the advancement in the Department of the officer concerned. Relaxation of the rule may then be permitted if it appears that an officer has been prevented by causes, unconnected with any default on his part, from being promoted to the Superintending Engineer class before attaining the age of 50 years.

WEATHER SUMMARY FOR MARCH 1889.

The month of March usually witnesses the commencement of the hot weather in Central and Northern India. The cold weather rarely lasts later than the middle of March on the Gangetic Plain. Hence it is a month of large change of meteorological conditions, mainly caused by rapid increase of temperature. The distribution of pressure changes considerably. Pressure decreases in the whole Indian area,—most rapidly in Northern India, and least in the Bay of Bengal and Southern India. The area of minimum pressure is usually transferred to the Eastern districts of the Central Provinces and Chutia Nagpur, which determines and accompanies an imperfect cyclonic circulation of the air over that and the adjacent districts.

The atmospheric disturbances of the month of March are usually of a different character from those of the preceding two months. The latter are usually due to the appearance of depressions in Upper India which drift eastwards and always give cloud, and frequently light to moderate rain to the districts near and on the north of the depression. In March the atmospheric disturbances are much more local in character and are chiefly due to the contrasts of conditions produced by the rapidly increasing temperature of the interior. The interaction of land and sea currents and of air motion between the plains and hills give rise to the various classes of storms comprised under the term hot weather storms, which include the nor-wester of Bengal, the thunderstorms and hailstorms of the Gangetic Plain and the adjacent hill districts, and the duststorms of Central and Upper India. Their cause is by no means yet fully understood, nor have the conditions of their occurrence been determined. The month of March is hence a transition month between cold weather and hot weather conditions in Northern India. It is usually a dry month, and the rainfall, which usually occurs, is sometimes due to storms similar to those of the cold weather and sometimes to local series of thunderstorms in the hot weather storms. In at least two cases out of three, when February has been wetter than usual, March is an unusually dry month and characterized by excessive temperature and unusually rapid increase of temperature.

The past month has been an example of a very dry March following an abnormally wet February.

The following gives a brief account of the more important depressions and large atmospheric disturbances of the month.

A shallow depression lay over Sind on the 7th, on which day temperature was 5° above the normal in the Central Provinces. The depression passed rapidly across the head of the Peninsula, and gave rain chiefly as thunder showers in some parts of the Central Provinces, North-Western Provinces, Bengal, and Behar. It filled up on the 3rd, and the barometer was very high in Upper India for three or four days afterwards. A very shallow depression formed or appeared in Sind on 13th, but it disappeared on the next day without giving rain. Immediately before this, temperature was excessive in North-Western India. Thus in Sind and Rajputana the mean temperature of the 10th was 7° above the normal of the day, of the Punjab 5° , and of Guzerat and Central India 4° . Another depression appeared in Sind on the 13th and 14th, which was preceded by excessive temperature, viz. :

Punjab 9° above average.

Guzerat and Central India $5\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ above average and North-Western Provinces 5° above average.

It apparently passed across the head of the Peninsula and gave some thunder showers, chiefly in Bengal, Assam, and Burmah.

Another similar disturbance appeared in Sind on the 17th. It gave thunder-storm showers on that day in parts of the Punjab, North-Western Provinces, and Rajputana, and even caused a brief rapid reduction of temperature. Almost immediately afterwards, a depression formed in North Bengal and Behar and the adjacent hill districts. It gave rise to very strong south-westerly winds in South Bengal, and to much cloud, rain, and disturbed weather in the hills. Numerous duststorms occurred in Behar on the 20th, and some thunderstorms in Bengal and Assam on the 21st and 22nd.

After a brief period of rapid increase of temperature lasting until the 25th, a depression again formed in North Bengal under similar conditions to the preceding. It gave few showers, chiefly in Assam, and probably storms in the adjacent hills, and passed away on the 28th, after which ordinary weather prevailed until the end of the month.

Pressure.—The preceding discussion has hence shown that the month was unusually free from large disturbances. The chief feature was the excessive pressure which prevailed and which accompanied, contrary to the usual rule, increased temperature. The mean pressure for the month was $\cdot 051$ above the normal. The excess was greatest at the hill stations, thus showing that the unusual pressure conditions were probably due chiefly to abnormal conditions of the higher strata.

The relative anomalies were smaller than during the previous month. Pressure was relatively in slight defect in Northern India, and in slight excess in the Deccan. In the preceding month the excess in the Deccan was very prominent, but the change initiated by the hot weather conditions of March has already diminished this excess considerably, and hence it will probably pass away entirely during the present hot weather, and conditions more favourable to a strong Bombay monsoon current be established than have obtained during the past two years.

Temperature.—Owing to the absence of any large disturbances during the month the sky was unusually free from cloud, and hence the mean temperature of the month was everywhere above the normal. The greatest excess of temperature was in Sind and Rajputana ($+1.9^{\circ}$), but this was closely approached by Bengal and Assam with an excess of 1.8° , and by the Punjab, the Central Provinces and Berars with an excess of $1\cdot7^{\circ}$ each. On the whole, the excess of the mean minimum temperature was greater than that of the mean maximum.

Rainfall.—No rain fell throughout the month in the Berars, Khandeish, Guzerat, or the Konkan, and in several other divisions, as will be seen in the following table, the total rainfall of the month was quite insignificant. There was a trifling excess in Rajputana, Sind, and Cutch, but both the actual and the average rainfall for March in those Provinces is very small, and the slight excess reported is unimportant.

The following table shows the actual average rainfall and the normal rainfall of the month of the twenty-one districts into which the country is divided, so far as it is indicated by the telegraphic reports of a few stations in each district:

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 30th April, 1889.—Rainfall slight in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Madura, Tinnevely, Coimbatore, Nilgiris, Salem and Malabar; none elsewhere. Standing crops generally good, but suffering from want of rain in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Chingleput, North Arcot, Trichinopoly and Tinnevely; wet crops withering in parts of Cuddapah, Anantapur and Coimbatore. Pasture deficient in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Cuddapah, Bellary, Kurnool, North Arcot, Madura, Tinnevely and Coimbatore. No great fluctuations in prices; prices of rice and ragi falling in Ganjam. General prospects favourable, except in Ganjam; improving in Coimbatore. Labourers employed on last day of week—on Rushikulya works, 5,618; on Gopalpore Canal, 2,570; decrease due to outbreak of cholera, on Taptapani road, 482.

Bombay.—For week ending 24th April, 1889.—Rain has fallen in parts of Upper Sind Frontier, Sholapur, Belgaum, and Dharwar. Late crops in one taluka of Sholapur unsatisfactory. Cotton in parts of Dharwar blighted. Harvesting of late crops and preparations for next season's crops progressing. Probable outturn of late crops in Thana seven annas on average, and of cotton in Belgaum nine annas. Fodder scarce in Khandesh, and in parts of Karachi, Nasik, Poona, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Dharwar, Kathiawar, and Baroda.

Bengal.—For week ending 23rd April, 1889.—Rain in East Bengal and parts of Central Bengal during the week has much benefited the standing crops and the cultivation of the autumn crops. More rain is generally wanted throughout the Province. Spring rice, cheena, indigo, and sugarcane are still doing fairly well, but the prospects of cheena are unsatisfactory in Muzaffarpur and Champaran, here but a small yield is expected. The rabi harvest is practically over, and the general outturn is from 10 to 12 annas in the majority of districts, while in the Chota Nagpur districts and in Bankura, Pubna, and Faridpur it is about 8 annas. The result of the opium weighments as far as carried out shows that the actual outturn will be about 40 per cent. approximately below the estimate. The latest report from the Patna division shows that there is a noticeable tendency to rise in the prices of food-grains, but that there is no marked increase in pressure anywhere.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 24th April, 1889.—No rain. Weather very hot. Rabi harvest nearly completed. Markets full. Prices on the whole steady. Condition of cattle satisfactory.

Punjab.—For week ending 24th April, 1889.—No rain, except a slight fall in the Rawalpindi and Peshawar districts. Prices rising in Delhi and Mooltan; falling in Jullundur, Lahore, Rawalpindi, Shahpur, and Peshawar; stationary elsewhere. Harvesting of rabi crops going on, also weeding of cotton and sugarcane. Ploughings for other khari crops in progress. Prospects of rabi crop good. Crops of six villages in Peshawar tahsil have suffered somewhat from hail. Fodder sufficient, except in Sadr station, Lahore. Opium produce small in Rawalpindi.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 24th April, 1889.—Weather cloudy and rather stormy. Threshing and winnowing in progress. Wheat outturn expected in Saugor 12, Hoshungabad 6, Nagpur 8, and Bilaspur 9 annas. Water scarce, except in northern districts.

Burma.—For week ending 20th April, 1889.—Slight rain fell in Toungoo, Tavoy, Bhamo, Shwebo, Yamethin, and Pynmana. In Lower Burma there was a slight rise in the price of paddy in Rangoon, Tharrawaddy, Prome, and Tavoy and a fall in Henzada. In Upper Burma prices remained much the same, except in the Upper and Lower Chindwin, where a fall in the price is noticeable. Food-supply sufficient.

Assam.—For week ending 24th April, 1889.—Weather seasonable. Sufficient rain in most districts. Sowing of early rice nearly finished. Preparation of lands for late rice continues. Tea doing well.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 24th April, 1889.—Slight rain reported in one taluka of the Shimoga district. Standing crops in good condition, except in parts of the Tumkur and Kolar districts. Paddy sown and sugar-cane planted in parts. Outturn of crops harvested generally favourable. Supply of water diminishing in parts of the Mysore and Kolar districts. Prices slightly risen in the Mysore district.

Showers have fallen in parts of Coorg. The prospects of coffee and cardamom crops have already been affected by the prolonged drought. No pasturage.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 24th April, 1889.—Harvesting of rabi crops almost completed everywhere. Ploughing operations in progress for preparing fields for next crops. Agricultural stock good. Fodder insufficient, and prices of food-grains high in some districts.

No rain during week at Hyderabad. Harvesting of rabi crops concluded, that of hot weather crops continues. Scarcity of fodder and water felt. Prices stationary.

Central India.—For week ending 24th April, 1889.—Slight rain in Indore and Bhopawar, where weather has been cloudy and hot. Harvest gathered in Bhopal, Bundelkhand, and Baghelkhand. Land being prepared for kharif sowings in Bhopawar. No other material changes since last report.

Rajputana.—For week ending 24th April, 1889.—Slight rain in Bikaner. Standing crops gathered in. Outturn of harvests average in some States. Agricultural stock good. Pasturage or fodder sufficient, except in Marwar, Kherwara, Meywar, and parts of Serohi. Prices rising in some States. Opium fair in Ajmere and Jeypore.

Nepal.—For week ending 18th April, 1889.—Slight rain. Weather cloudy. Harvesting of onion and garlic and wheat crops commenced.

No. 134.—In exercise of the powers conferred by section 4, sub-section (1), of the Electricity Act, 1887, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to make the following rules

General.

1. In these rules, unless the context otherwise requires,—

(1) expressions used in the Indian Telegraph Act, 1885, and the Electricity Act, 1887, have the same meanings as in those Acts.

(2) "electric supply line" means a wire or wires, conductor, or other means used for the purpose of conveying, transmitting or distributing electricity for light or power, with any casing, coating, covering, tube, pipe, or insulator enclosing, surrounding or supporting the same or any part thereof, or any apparatus connected therewith for the purpose of conveying, transmitting or distributing electricity or electric currents for light or power.

- (3) "main" means a conductor used to convey electricity from the source of supply to the point or points where it is distributed for use :
- (4) "lead" means a conductor used to distribute electricity from the mains to the various appliances in which it is to be used :
- (5) "switch" means any appliance for permitting, arresting or changing the flow of electricity in conductors.
- (6) "commutator" means any appliance for regulating or diverting the flow, or for altering the direction, of electricity in conductors :
- (7) "cut-out" means any appliance for confining the flow of electricity to conductors capable of safely carrying it when its amount rises accidentally above the normal :
- (8) "transformer" means any appliance by means of which electricity of high potential is converted to electricity of lower potential, or vice versa.

Rules for the protection of person and property from injury by reason of contact with, or the proximity of, appliances or apparatus used in the generation or supply of electricity.

2. Whenever notice has been given under section 3 of the Electricity Act, XIII. of 1887, of an intention of any person to undertake the business of supplying electricity or to use electricity for a public purpose or in a public place or such other place as is referred to in clause (b) of that section, the District Magistrate or Commissioner of Police receiving such notice shall forthwith report the circumstance to the Local Government, who may thereupon authorise an officer, either by name or in virtue of his office, to enter, inspect and examine any place, carriage or vessel in which the officer has reason to believe any appliances or apparatus used in the generation or supply of electricity are, and any building or place to and in which electricity is to be supplied and used.
3. The Local Government shall, if necessary, instruct the District Magistrate, or, in a Presidency-town, the Commissioner of Police, as to the roads or public places in which overhead electric supply lines are not to be allowed, and the persons undertaking the supply of electricity or using the same shall attend to any orders of these officers in this respect.
4. The person or persons who intend to undertake the business of supplying electricity, or intend to use the same for the purpose or in a place indicated in Rule 1, shall provide all means for testing the appliances or apparatus used in the generation or the supply and use of electricity.
5. Conductors must have a sectional area and conductivity so proportioned to the work they have to do that if double the current proposed is sent through them, the temperature of such conductors shall not exceed 150° Fahrenheit.
6. The conductors or their casings must be placed in sight as far as possible ; and they must always be as accessible as circumstances will permit.
7. Within buildings the conductors must all be insulated ; and this rule applies equally to all conductors and parts of fittings which may have to be handled.
8. Whatever insulating material is employed, it must not soften until a temperature of 170° F. has been reached, and in all cases the material must be damp-proof.
9. When leads pass through roofs, floors, walls or partitions, and where they cross or are liable to touch metallic substances such as bell-wires, iron girders or pipes, they must be thoroughly protected by suitable additional covering ; and where they are liable to abrasion from any cause, or to the depredations of rats or mice, they must be encased in some suitable hard material.
10. In the case of portable fittings with which flexible leads are used, special precautions must be taken.
11. Conductors must be kept as far apart as circumstances will permit, the spacing between them being governed by their potential difference.
12. When conductors are carried in very inflammable structures, precautions must be taken to isolate them therefrom.
13. Conductors which are protected on the outside by lead or metallic armour of any kind require the greatest care in fixing on account of the large conducting surface which would become connected to the core in the event of metallic contact between them.
14. In cases where conductors pass into a building, from one building to another, or from one room to another, precautions must be taken to prevent the possibility of fire or water passing along the course of the conductors.
15. All joints must be mechanically and electrically perfect, to prevent heat being generated at these points. When soldering fluids are used in making joints, the latter must be carefully washed and dried before insulation is applied.
16. Under all circumstances complete metallic circuits must be employed. Gas and water pipes must never form part of the circuit, as their joints are rarely electrically good, and therefore become a source of danger.
17. Overhead conductors, whether passing over or attached to buildings, must be insulated at their points of support. Precautions must be taken to obviate all risk of short circuiting where they are likely to touch a building or other overhead conductors and wires, either by their own falling or being fallen upon by other conductors.

18. In the case of overhead wires, every main conductor must have a lightning protector at each point where it enters or branches into a building.
19. Metal fastenings for fixing conductors must be avoided.
20. The insulation of a system of distribution must be such that the greatest leakage from any conductor to earth (and in case of parallel working, from one conductor to the other, when all branches are switched on, but the lamps, motors, &c., removed) does not exceed one-five-thousandth part of the total current intended for the supply of the said lamps, motors, &c., the test being made at the usual working electromotive force.
21. It is desirable as a means for the prevention of accidents for the positive lead to be coloured differently to the negative, or made otherwise distinguishable.
22. Every switch or commutator must be of such construction as to comply with the following condition, namely, that, when the handle is moved or turned to and from the positions of "on" and "off," it is impossible for it to remain in any intermediate position or to permit of a permanent arc or heating.
23. The handle of every switch must be completely insulated from the circuit.
24. The main switches of a building must be placed as near as possible to the point of entrance of the conductors, or to the generators of the current if they are within the building itself. Switches must be provided on both leads.
25. Switch boards must bear clear instructions for their use by the inexperienced.
26. Switches, commutators, resistances, bare connections, lamps, &c., must be mounted on incombustible bases. Cut-outs mounted on bases of wood rendered unflammable are admissible. Vulcanite bases are undesirable in damp situations. The cracking of porcelain and earthenware fittings is a source of danger which can be avoided by precautions in fixing.
27. All circuits must be protected with cut-outs; and all leads from the mains or small conductors from larger ones must be fitted with cut-outs at their branching points.
28. Where fusible cut-outs are used, the section must so be situated within its frame that the fused metal cannot fall where it may cause a "short circuit" or an ignition.
29. For all main conductors a cut-out must be provided for both the "flow" and "return," and the two fusible sections must not be in the same compartment.
30. The flexible leads of portable fittings must in all cases be protected by cut-outs at their fixed points of connection.
31. Arc lamps must always be guarded by lanterns or netted globes, so as to prevent danger from ascending sparks and from falling glass and incandescent pieces of carbon.
32. All parts of the lamps and lanterns which are liable to be handled (except by the persons employed to trim them) must be insulated.
33. The armatures and field-magnet coils of dynamo-machines must be thoroughly insulated. Dynamo-machines must always be fixed in dry places; and they must not be exposed to dust flyings or other industrial waste products carried in suspension in the air. They must not be permitted in the working rooms of mills, where the liability to such dangers exists, or where any inflammable manufactures are carried on, or inflammable materials are stored.
34. Motors must be subject to the same conditions; but when it is necessary to use them in positions such as those referred to, they must be securely cased in, such cases having a non-combustible lining.
35. Both primary and secondary batteries must be placed and used under the same precautions as prescribed for dynamo-machines, and the room in which they are placed must be well ventilated. The batteries themselves must be well insulated.
36. When transformers are used to transform either direct or alternating currents of high electromotive force, that is, from or to an electromotive force of, say, 200 volts, they, together with their switches and cut-outs, must be placed in a fire and moisture proof structure, preferably outside the building for which they are required. No part of such apparatus must be accessible, except to the person in charge of their maintenance.
37. In all cases conductors conveying currents of high electromotive force inside buildings must be specially and exceptionally insulated, cased in, the casing made fire-proof.
38. The positive and negative terminals connected to such conductors must not be permitted to be nearer each other than 12 inches.
39. Transformers which, under normal conditions of load, heat above 150° Fahrenheit must not be permitted to remain in use.
40. Transformers must be so constructed that under no circumstances whatever should a contact between the primary and secondary coils lead the high electromotive force into the building.
41. No repairs nor alterations must be made when the current is "on."
42. Full particulars of the proposed installation must be furnished when required to the officer authorised by the Local Government under Rule 1. These particulars must include a statement of the maximum current to be sent by means of the various conductors, the electromotive force of the current, and the nature of the current (whether direct or alternating) that is to be employed. Samples of the conductors to be used must be furnished, that their conductivity and the quality of their insulation may be ascertained. Specimens of the cut-outs, protectors and switches may be required, if considered necessary, by such officer.

Rules for preventing Telegraph lines from being injuriously affected by any appliances or apparatus used in the generation or supply of electricity.

43. Any person supplying or using electricity shall not lay down any electric supply line or do any other work for the supply or use of electricity whereby any telegraph line established by, or by license from, the Governor-General in Council is or may be injuriously affected. Before any such electric supply line is laid down, or work is done within ten yards of any part of such telegraph line (other than repairs or the laying of connections with the mains where the direction of the electric supply lines so laid down crosses such telegraph line at right angles at the point of shortest distance and continues the same for a distance of six feet on each side of such point), the person or his agent shall not more than twenty-eight nor less than fourteen clear days before commencing such work give written notice to the Telegraph authority, specifying the course and nature of the work, including the gauge of any electric supply lines; and the person and his agent shall conform with such reasonable requirements, either general or special, as may from time to time be made by the Telegraph authority for the purpose of preventing any telegraph lines established by, or by license from, the Governor-General in Council from being injuriously affected by the said work.

44. Any difference which arises between the Telegraph authority and the person supplying or using electricity or his agent with respect to any requirements so made shall be referred to the Local Government for decision, and the orders of that Government shall be final.
45. For the purposes of the foregoing rules, a telegraph line shall be deemed to be injuriously affected by a work if telegraphic communication by means of such line is, whether through induction or otherwise, in any manner affected by such work, or by any use made of such work.
46. Electric supply lines must throughout their entire lengths and in all localities be so constructed as to avoid contact with telegraph lines, and if carried overhead, must be so placed as to enable telegraph lines at any future time to be carried in any street on posts of 24 feet in height without contact with or interference from such electric supply lines.
47. Only one side of any street must be occupied by electric supply lines.
48. At all street crossings the minimum headway of electric supply lines must be 30 feet.
49. The provisions of Rules 5 and 6 may be relaxed in certain localities where it is not intended immediately to construct telegraph lines for, or by license from, the Governor-General in Council, on condition that the person or persons erecting the electric supply lines give a general undertaking to the Telegraph authority to comply with these rules within fourteen days from the time when notice may be given that telegraph lines are to be constructed in such localities.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 27th April, 1889.—No rain at Godavari; good at Madras, Tanjore, Trichinopoly, Madura, Tinnevely, Coimbatore, Nilgiris, Salem, and Malabar, slight elsewhere. Standing crops generally good, but suffering from want of rain in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Chingleput, North Arcot, and Trichinopoly. Wet crops withering in parts of Cuddapah, Anantapur, Chingleput, and Tinnevely. Pasture deficient in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, and eight other districts. Prices rising in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, and six other districts; falling in five and stationary in others. General prospects favourable, except in Ganjam; much improved in Coimbatore by recent rain. Labourers employed on last day of week—on Rushikulya works, 5,991, Gopalpore Canal, 4,862; and Taptapani Road, 536.

Bombay.—For week ending 1st May, 1889.—Rain throughout Deccan and Southern Mahratta Country and in parts of Hyderabad, Ahmedabad, Khandesh, and Nasik. Exotic cotton in parts of Dharwar reviving. Harvesting of late crops and preparations for next season's crops progressing generally, and sowing commenced in Karachi. Fodder scarce in Khandesh and in parts of Nasik, Poona, Ahmednagar, Sholapur, Dharwar, and Kathiawar.

Bengal.—For week ending 30th April, 1889.—Showers reported in East and North Bengal and in a few places in Central Bengal; but no rain elsewhere. General rain is wanted throughout the Province for the standing crops and for the cultivation of the autumn crops. Spring rice has begun to be harvested, but for want of rain the outturn will not be so good as was expected. Cheena is doing well in Gya, Shahabad, and Sarun, but its prospects are unfavourable in Darbhanga, Muzaffarpur, and Chumparun, where but a small yield is expected. Sugarcane and indigo are still in fair condition; mulberry is doing fairly well in Midnapore, but in Murshidabad there is scarcely any leaf available for silk rearing; in Maldah an average mulberry crop has been reaped. Mango is generally a very short crop this year, except in Darbhanga, Muzaffarpur, and certain other districts in Behar, where it is plentiful. Prices of all foodgrains, particularly rice, show a marked tendency to rise throughout the Province.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 1st May, 1889.—Weather seasonable. Slight rain in a few districts. Threshing of rabi crops in progress. Sugarcane and indigo being irrigated. Markets well supplied. Prices generally steady. General condition of agricultural stock is satisfactory.

Punjab.—For week ending 1st May, 1889.—Slight rain in parts of Hissar, Delhi, and Ferozepore. Prices falling in Rawalpindi; unsettled in Peshawar; stationary elsewhere. Rabi crops are being harvested. Ploughings for kharif sowings in progress. Cotton being sown in Shahpur and Dera Ismail Khan. Prospects of rabi and kharif are promising. Stock-cattle reported healthy. Fodder sufficient, except in Sadr station of Lahore. Poppy almost harvested in Amritsar. Opium produce small at Rawalpindi.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 1st May, 1889.—Rain in all districts, except Chhattisgarh. Threshing continues. Ploughing commencing for autumn crops. Water scarce in most districts. Prices rising in Saugor.

Burma.—For week ending 27th April, 1889.—Slight rain fell in Prome, Moulmein, Amherst, Toungoo, Tavoy, and Mergui. In Upper Burma rain fell in Bhamo, Myadoun, Lower Chindwin, Meiktila, Yamethin, and Pyinmana. Prices of paddy show a slight rise in Bassein, Thongwa, Henzada, and Moulmein. In Upper Burma there is a rise in prices in Myadoun, Magwe, and Pyinmana, and a fall in Shwebo. In the Bhamo district some of the dry weather crops have been destroyed owing to want of rain.

Assam.—For week ending 1st May, 1889.—Weather seasonable. Rain sufficient in almost all districts. Condition and prospects of crops good. Tea doing well.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 1st May, 1889.—Some rain in the civil and military station Bangalore. Rain also reported throughout the Mysore State. Condition of crops good, except in parts of one taluk of Tumkur district, where water is much wanted. Agricultural operations in progress. Prospects generally favourable. No material change in prices.

Good rain has fallen throughout Coorg.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 1st May, 1889.—Preparation of land for kharif crops in progress in Berar. Agricultural stock generally good. Fodder insufficient in some districts. Prices almost stationary.

No rain during the week in Hyderabad. Reaping of hot-weather crops continues. Scarcity of fodder and water felt almost everywhere. Prices stationary.

Central India.—For week ending 1st May, 1889.—Slight rain in many parts during the week. Prices of foodgrains stationary in Neemuch; falling in Gwalior, rising in Baghelkhand. Condition of agricultural stock and pasturage in Western Malwa reported indifferent, and below average in Bundelkhand.

Rajputana.—For week ending 1st May, 1889.—Rainfall good in Meywar and Kotah; slight in Jhallawar. Average outturn of harvests in some States. Agricultural stock good. Prices rising in Meywar. Opium below average in Kotah.

Nepal.—For week ending 25th April, 1889.—Weather cloudy at times. Midday very hot. Rice is being sown. Sowing of Indian corn delayed for want of rain.

No. 890-F.—The following Order of Her Majesty the Queen in Council which appeared in the London Gazette of the 8th March, 1889, is republished for general information :

AT THE COURT AT WINDSOR.

The 2nd day of March, 1889.

PRESENT :

The Queen's Most Excellent Majesty.

Lord President.

Lord Arthur Hill.

Secretary Lord Knutsford.

Mr. Raikes.

Whereas by Treaty, grant, usage, sufferance, and other lawful means Her Majesty the Queen has power and jurisdiction in relation to Her Majesty's subjects and others within the dominions of His Highness the Sultan of Zanzibar.

Now, therefore, Her Majesty, by virtue and in exercise of the power in this behalf by the Foreign Jurisdiction Acts 1843 to 1878 or otherwise in Her Majesty vested, is pleased by and with the advice of Her Privy Council to order, and it is hereby ordered, as follows :

1. This Order shall be construed as one with the Zanzibar Order in Council of 1884 (herein referred to as the "Principal Order"), as amended by any subsequent Order in Council, and may be cited as "The Zanzibar Order in Council, 1889."

2. Where it is shown by evidence on oath, to the satisfaction of the Consul-General, that any British subject or British-protected person is disaffected to Her Majesty's Government, or has committed, or is about to commit, an offence against the Principal Order, or is otherwise conducting himself so as to be dangerous to peace and good order in Zanzibar, or is endeavouring to excite enmity between the Sultan or people of Zanzibar and Her Majesty, or intriguing against Her Majesty's power and authority in Zanzibar, the Consul-General may, if he thinks fit, by order under his hand and official seal, prohibit that person from being in Zanzibar, within the limits specified in such order, during any time therein specified, not exceeding two years.

(2) If the person named in the order of prohibition fails to obey, or acts in contravention of, the order—

(i) He shall be guilty of an offence against this order, and, on conviction thereof, shall be liable to imprisonment for any term not exceeding two years, without prejudice to the operation of the order of prohibition ;

(ii) Whether the offender has been convicted of, or imprisoned for, that offence or not, the Consul-General may, if he thinks fit, by order under his hand and official seal, authorise and direct that he be taken into custody, and be removed in custody to some place named in the order of removal, being a place to which a person can under the Principal Order be reported beyond the limits specified in the order of prohibition.

(iii) The offender shall be taken into custody and removed accordingly, and in such removal, force may be used if necessary ; and he shall be discharged from custody at the place named in the order of removal.

(3) In any case in which the Consul-General can, under this Order, make an order of prohibition, he may, if he thinks fit, in lieu of such order, make and execute an order of deportation in like manner, and with all the like consequences, as an order of deportation can under the Principal Order be made and executed in the case of a person who, after conviction of an offence, has failed to give security required for good behaviour.

(4) An appeal shall not lie against an order of prohibition, or removal, or deportation made under this Order.

(5) The Consul-General, by order under his hand and official seal, may from time to time vary any order of prohibition (not extending the duration thereof), and may revoke any order of prohibition or removal.

(6) The Consul-General shall forthwith report to the Secretary of State every order made by him under this article, and the grounds thereof, and the proceedings thereunder.

3. This Order shall come into operation as from the date hereof.

The Consul-General shall, so soon as any copy of this Order, or statement of the effect thereof, has been transmitted to him by a Secretary of State, exhibit in a conspicuous place in his Consular office a transcript or print of such copy or statement respectively, sealed with his seal, and shall supply printed or written copies thereof at such reasonable price as he directs.

The Revised Estimates showed an expected deficit of Rx. 201,700. The information now received indicates a net improvement on Imperial Account of Rx. 151,000, leaving a deficit for the year of Rx. 50,700. The improvement is the net result of a falling off in revenue of Rx. 58,700 and of a saving in expenditure of Rx. 436,700. But of this improvement of Rx. 378,000, a sum of Rx. 227,000 goes to swell Provincial and Local balances, leaving, as already stated, Rx. 151,000 as the sum by which the expected deficit of the year has been reduced. The falling off in revenue is made up of a decrease of Rx. 64,600 in India, and of improvements of £4,000 and Rx. 1,900 in England and exchange. Of the saving in expenditure of Rx. 436,700, Rx. 357,200 has occurred in India, £57,300 in England, and Rx. 22,200 in exchange.

The most important heads in which variations have occurred are examined below.

Revenue.

LAND REVENUE.—The collections of March have fallen short of the estimates, chiefly in Bengal and the North-Western Provinces, and to a smaller extent in all other Provinces except Burma. The falling off in Bengal is reported to be due to the scarcity in Behar and Orissa, and that in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh to an unfavourable season having necessitated large suspensions which were only partly allowed for in the Revised Estimate. It should also be recollected that the 31st March was a Sunday, so that the receipts which would otherwise have been paid into Treasuries on that day will appear as revenue of the current year.

SALT.—The Revised Estimate has been very nearly realised. In Bengal the receipts have fallen short of the estimate by Rx. 28,400. Though the deficiency may be due to ordinary trade fluctuations, yet it seems probable that it is partly due to the rumours of an impending reduction of duty, and partly to the rise in freights and to the operations of the salt syndicate.

OTHER PRINCIPAL HEADS OF REVENUE—CUSTOMS.—The collections of March have fallen short of the estimate by Rx. 38,600, chiefly in Burma and Bengal. In Burma the deficiency is attributed to a late rice season, the effect of which will merely be to throw forward the revenue expected in March to the current year. In Bengal it is reported to be due to temporary slackness of trade, attendant on a stringent money market and, in some measure, to failure of crops.

RECEIPTS BY CIVIL DEPARTMENTS—Under Marine it is expected that the receipts will exceed the Revised Estimate by Rx. 15,900.

MISCELLANEOUS—GAIN BY EXCHANGE—The Revised Estimates included a sum of Rx. 951,800 on account of "Gain by Exchange." This receipt depends on transactions which are not yet accurately known, as they comprise the issues on Capital Account to the several Railway Companies in England. The matter is further complicated by the fact that, even for the same Company, the rate of conversion of sterling is not always uniform. Such information as is afforded by the Treasury issues in India to the Companies indicates that the receipt may fall short of the estimate by Rx. 28,700.

RAILWAYS—The gross earnings of State Railways are expected to be about Rx. 40,000 better than the Revised Estimate.

Expenditure.

DIRECT DEMANDS ON THE REVENUES—CIVIL DEPARTMENTS AND MISCELLANEOUS.—The preliminary accounts show a saving of Rx. 43,500 in Opium expenditure, owing to the payments for produce not having commenced as early as was expected. There will also probably be a saving of about Rx. 6,000 in Marine expenditure. As regards the other heads, an accurate forecast of the final results cannot be founded on the preliminary actuals, as large transactions are brought to account under them in the final settlement of the cross transactions of the several Departments. Savings of about Rx. 100,000 are, however, expected, of which Rx. 40,000 will probably be on Imperial Account.

INTEREST.—The payments in March on account of interest on Government securities in India have exceeded the Revised Estimate by about Rx. 35,000.

POST OFFICE, TELEGRAPH AND MINT.—A saving of about Rx. 17,500 in Telegraph expenditure is indicated. Under Post Office there will probably be a saving of Rx. 16,000 in the expenditure, but, on the other hand, the revenue will fall short of the Revised Estimate by about Rx. 10,000.

RAILWAY REVENUE ACCOUNT.—The preliminary accounts show that there will be a saving of Rx. 32,500 in the working expenses of State Railways, but there will be an excess of Rx. 42,600 in payments of surplus profits of Guaranteed Lines.

BUILDINGS AND ROADS—There will be very large savings in the expenditure under this group, but the greater portion of it will fall to the credit of the Provincial and Local Account.

ARMY.—According to present information, the Army expenditure will be less than the Revised Estimate by Rx. 80,700, of which Rx. 40,000 will occur in India, and the remainder in England and exchange, mainly on account of smaller payments for stores.

SPECIAL DEFENCE WORKS.—The saving under this head arises chiefly from smaller payments for stores on account of the Aden Works.

No. 1411, "Field Operations," dated Mandalay, 21st February 1889.

From—MAJOR-GENERAL SIR GEORGE WHITE, K.C.B., V.C., Commanding Upper Burma Force.
To—The Adjutant-General in India.

I have the honor to forward, for the perusal of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief, Brigadier-General H. Collett's report of the operations against Saw-la-paw, the Chief of Eastern Karenni, culminating in the capture of that State on the 8th December last.

The operations appear to me to have been conducted with the judgment to be expected from Brigadier-General Collett's ability and previous valuable services; and I recommend him to the consideration of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

I cordially endorse the encomium passed by Brigadier-General Collett on the bearing of the troops under his command. On many previous occasions I have had to acknowledge the admirable service performed by the 27th Bombay (1st Biluch) Light Infantry during their service in Upper Burma; and I would specially name Colonel G. C. Sartorius and Lieutenant M. J. Tighe of this battalion as having rendered specially distinguished service.

Major C. H. B. Norcott, 1st Battalion, Rifle Brigade, and Captain F. Beaufort, Royal Artillery, are entitled to mention, as having commanded the detachment of the 1st Battalion, Rifle Brigade, and a division of No. 1 Bengal Mountain Battery, respectively, of whose bearing Brigadier-General Collett reports so highly.

Dated Camp Sawlon, Eastern Karenni, 12th January 1889.

From—BRIGADIER-GENERAL H. COLLETT, C.B., Commanding Karen Field Force,
To—The Assistant Adjutant and Quartermaster General, Upper Burma Force, Mandalay.

I have the honor to submit the following report of the operations of the Karen Field Force up to the occupation of Sawlon on the 8th January 1889.

2. The Field Force, as detailed on the margin, was concentrated at Sagá, four marches south of Fort Stedman in the Shan States, on the 28th December 1888, and marched on the 29th idem for Sawlon, the capital of Eastern Karenni.

2 guns, No. 1 Bengal Mountain Battery under Captain Beaufort, R.A.
100 rifles, 1st Battalion, Rifle Brigade, under Major Norcott.
40 rifles, 1st Battalion, Rifle Brigade, Mounted Infantry, under Lieutenant A. H. W. Lowndes.
240 rifles, 27th Bombay (1st Biluch) Light Infantry, under Colonel Sartorius.
70 rifles, 27th Bombay (1st Biluch) Mounted Infantry, under Lieutenant Tighe.
23 rifles, Madras Sappers and Miners, under Lieutenant C. H. Heycock, R.E.

3. On the 1st January, as the advance guard of the column was issuing from the thickly wooded hills through which the route had passed, and was entering on the plateau of Lwékaw, our left, advanced scouts of the 1st Biluch Mounted Infantry came upon the enemy in some broken jungly ground under the village of Nga-kyaing. The scouts were fired on, and were immediately supported by the whole of the Biluch Mounted Infantry under Lieutenant Tighe, who, seeing a large body of the enemy in his front, straightway charged them, detaching a section under Jemadar Rám Singh to his left to cut off their retreat to the hills. The charge was so vigorously executed, that, though the ground was in favour of footmen, the Karens broke and fled, a part of them attempting to reach the hills, and the remainder making for Lwékaw, eight miles distant. Lieutenant Tighe pressed the enemy with great determination, pursuing the Karens to within two miles of Lwékaw, and killing not less than 150 of them. The gallant Jemadar Rám Singh led his section with conspicuous judgment and energy until he was unfortunately killed at the head of his men; and so effectually performed his task, that but very few Karens got away into the hills. I supported Lieutenant Tighe with a company of the Rifle Brigade under Captain F. S. W. Raikes and a company of Biluchis under Major W. A. Broome. I employed the Mounted Infantry of the Rifle Brigade under Lieutenant Lowndes to reconnoitre and clear the ground to our front, after which I sent them also to join the Biluchis. I cannot speak too highly of the gallant dash with which Lieutenant Tighe and his men pushed home the charge. The Karens numbered 500 men at least, all well armed and in a good position; but the Biluchis, never hesitating for a moment, went straight for them at full gallop. Major-General Sir George White is already well acquainted with the excellent service which the brave Jemadar Rám Singh has rendered in the 3rd Brigade, and will appreciate the loss which Her Majesty's Service has sustained by his untimely death. In this brilliant affair the Bilúch Mounted Infantry lost—

1 Native officer and 3 men	Killed.
8 Men	Wounded.

(One, it is feared, mortally, five severely, two slightly : Captain Jackson, R.E., who accompanied them as a volunteer, was wounded.)

4. About two hours after this affair I received information that a large number of Karens under command of Saw-la-paw's son, with other important leaders, were then in Lwékaw, and intended to hold the place against us. Deeming it of importance to follow up the success just gained with a blow at this party, I immediately marched with the whole column (leaving only the Bilúch Mounted Infantry and a company of Bilúchis, with the Sappers, to guard the camp) for Lwékaw, which place the force reached at sunset, unfortunately only to find the town evacuated, the Karens having fled at the news of our approach. The troops bivouacked for the night on a hill commanding Lwékaw, and suffered much from the cold ; for there was a heavy dew, with a sharp frost, towards the morning.

5. On the 3rd January the column crossed the deep and rapid stream of the Balu (Mobyé) river in boats and encamped on the right bank.

6. We marched on the 4th to Law-pi-ta, on approaching which we found the road blocked with felled trees, and the advanced guard was fired at from the village by a Karen picquet, numbering about fifty men, who were immediately charged and dispersed by the advanced files of the Bilúch Mounted Infantry, six of the enemy being killed, with no loss to ourselves. In the afternoon, with the full concurrence of the Superintendent of the Shan States, I caused the village to be burned, as a warning to the other villages in front of us that they had better not oppose our advance.

7. On the 5th January the column marched to the Pon Choung, descending some 2,000 feet over a rocky and difficult path to the river. We passed several villages, which, though spiked with bamboos and more or less prepared for defence, did not attempt to dispute our advance. At 2 p.m. our advanced guard reached the river at Tee-la-Ngya ferry, and was received by a fire of musketry from the further (or left) bank. The men of the Rifle Brigade lined the side of the river, and replied very effectively ; and Captain Beaufort, commanding No. 1 Bengal Mountain Battery, threw four shells into the village and bush in which the enemy were posted. These measures drove the enemy off, when some Bilúchi sepoys swam over and seized two boats, which were drawn up on the further bank. In these boats ("dug-outs") I immediately passed over a party of 50 Bilúchis, thus securing the passage of the stream. The Sappers then set to work to construct rafts ; and patrols were sent to search for other boats. The rafts, I regret to say, turned out a failure, as the stream was too rapid to admit of their being worked. But we found six more boats of sorts ; and with them and the five elephants, who could just manage to get through with their loads on them, the whole force was passed over the river by the evening of the 6th, except 1,320 Shan bullocks and the Commissariat stores which they carried.

8. The column marched the next morning at 9 A.M., leaving a strong rear-guard to bring on the bullocks, who, it was hoped, would be all across the river by noon. About three miles from the ferry we entered the long defile, which extends for some twelve miles to the Nwédoung Ferry, within two miles of Sawlon itself. This defile is of a most difficult nature, and if held by a determined enemy, could only be forced with considerable loss. On the right runs the Pon Choung, unfordable, with a width of from 100 to 150 yards ; and on the left rise rugged hills, covered with thick forest, and in places quite inaccessible. The road runs along the bank of the river for the most part within easy musket shot from the right bank (and at several times small parties of Karens fired at the column from the further bank, but soon dispersed under our superior rifle fire), while on the left the hills sometimes close in on the river, forcing the road into a narrow precipitous gorge, and in other places open out to a breadth of half a mile or less. We were more or less opposed along the whole length of this defile, and our progress was slow, averaging about a mile an hour, as in order to secure our long baggage train from molestation, I deemed it necessary to crown each height and turn each defile with infantry as we moved along. The work was most laborious ; but it was so efficiently performed by the men of the 1st Battalion Rifle Brigade and 1st Biluch Light Infantry, that no bullet from the enemy ever reached our baggage line. The column encamped in the pass for the night of the 7th, and at 4 P.M. on the 8th reached the gorge at the Nwédoung Ferry. The Karens had made considerable preparations to defend this point. Trees had been felled to form an obstruction, jingals were placed on both banks of the river, small earthworks had been constructed, and two mountain guns had been placed in position; but the enemy at this time had been thoroughly beaten; and the infantry, aided by a few well placed shells from Captain Beaufort's guns, soon drove the enemy out and captured the guns; and at sunset we emerged into the plain under the town of Sawlon. The place was found deserted; and I immediately occupied Saw-la-paw's palace and the principal phoongyi kyoungs with the Biluch Infantry, the remainder of the column encamping below, on the bank of the Pon Choung.

9. From this time all opposition has ceased, and not a shot has since been fired. I am happy to say that our casualties in forcing the Pon Choung defile were only as follow:

Rifle Brigade.	Surgeon N. Manders, Medical Staff	...	Severely wounded (shot through thigh).
	No. 4237, Rifleman William Farley	...	Killed.
	No. 6114, Rifleman R. Robinson	..	Severely wounded.
	No. 3888, Rifleman John Currall	...	Slightly wounded.
	Two sepoy, 1st Biluch Light Infantry	...	Severely wounded.

The enemy's loss is difficult to estimate; but it was certainly not less than forty killed, probably more. Amongst the killed was an important leader, the Chief of Youa-thit.

10. I am now employing the troops in reconnoitring the whole district of Eastern Karenni, while the Superintendent, Shan States, is engaged in effecting arrangements for the settlement of the country—a task that is rendered difficult by the disappearance of Saw-la-Paw himself, who is said to have fled from Sawlon on the 5th instant.

11. In conclusion, I desire again to submit for the Major-General's favorable notice the admirable manner in which the troops of this small force have behaved; officers and men have been equally keen to get at the enemy, and equally ready to undertake with soldierlike cheerfulness the hard work they were called on to perform. The health of all the troops has been excellent throughout.

P.S.—Nominal rolls of the killed and wounded are enclosed

(Sd.) G. C. SARTORIUS, Colonel,

The 14th January, 1889.

Commanding 27th Bombay (1st Biluch) Light Infantry.

No. 1953, "Field Operations," dated Mandalay, 9th March 1889.

From—MAJOR-GENERAL SIR GEORGE WHITE, K.C.B., V.C., Commanding Upper Burma Force,

To—The Adjutant-General in India.

In continuation of my No. 1441 of the 21st February last, I have now the honor to forward reports, as per margin, received from Brigadier-General Collett, C.B., subsequently to the report forwarded with my letter above quoted.

I would add to the list of officers therein specially brought to notice by me the names of—

Captain F. J. Pink, 2nd Battalion, the Queen's (Royal West Surrey) Regiment;

Captain H. M. Jackson, R.E.; and

Surgeon J. Crimmin, Indian Medical Service (Bombay).

Captain Pink has been a useful Staff officer in the 3rd Brigade since Brigadier-General Lockhart commanded it; and Captain Pink served under him with distinction.

Captain H. M. Jackson, R.E., has shown conspicuous zeal and untiring energy, which have resulted in most valuable survey work in the Shan States. He is now reported by Brigadier-General Collett as having rendered very dashing service of another kind, in which he was wounded; and I have much pleasure in recommending him to the special notice of His Excellency the Commander-in-Chief.

Surgeon Crimmin, Bombay Medical Service, has for some time been doing useful service at Fort Stedman, and has now specially distinguished himself.

I have called for more detailed statements and evidence bearing upon the act of gallantry reported of him, which, if satisfactory, will be forwarded in due course.

No. 37-T, dated Fort Stedman, Shan States, 25th February 1889.

From—BRIGADIER-GENERAL H. COLLETT, C.B., Commanding 3rd Brigade, Upper Burma Force, and Karen Field Force,

To—The Assistant Adjutant and Quartermaster General, Upper Burma Force.

In continuation of my letter dated Sawlon, 12th January 1889, I have the honor to report that the Karen Field Force arrived at Fort Stedman on the 12th February, and has now broken up.

2. The force remained halted at Sawlon from the 8th until the 30th January, when the Kya Maing, or heir-apparent, of Saw-la-paw, accompanied by all the principal Karen chiefs, having come into our camp and tendered his submission to the British Government, and the Superintendent of the Shan States having notified to me that a satisfactory political settlement had been made with him, the column marched en route to Fort Stedman.

3. While at Sawlon the following reconnaissances were made :

- (1) To Bawlaké.
- (2) To Youathit and the valley of the Salween.
- (3) To Sadaw.

These reconnaissances enabled Captain Jackson, R.E., of the Survey Department, to complete the survey of Eastern Karenni, and to add to our maps about 1,000 square miles of hitherto unknown country.

When at Youathit our detachments met the advance party of the Siamese troops, who arrived on the left bank of the Salween, opposite Youa-thit, on the 21st January, long after all opposition had ceased, and of course much too late to be of any assistance to us, or to prevent Saw-la-paw crossing the river.

4. The conduct of the troops employed in the expedition has been admirable throughout, and not a single instance of serious misconduct has been brought to my notice. Officers and men have been keen to meet the enemy, and have cheerfully borne the hardships inseparable from a campaign conducted in a mountainous country covered for the most part with thick jungle.

5. The health of the troops and followers has been remarkably good. I may add that, owing to the difficulties of transport, the men of the 1st Battalion, Rifle Brigade, have had no rum, having been given a free ration of chocolate instead. They have cheerfully borne the deprivation; and their excellent health and exemplary conduct furnish another proof that rum is certainly not a necessity for British soldiers in the field.

6. I leave to Colonel Harvey the task of describing the operations of the Southern Karen Column under his command, and will forward his report when I receive it. I sent him an order on the 2nd January, from Lwékaw, to arrive at Sawlon if possible on the 8th January, so as to co-operate with the Northern Column; but I regret to say my letter never reached him, and he therefore, in accordance with the instructions he had previously received from the General Officer Commanding Lower Burma, did not move his column further north than Pahzoung. After Sawlon had been occupied and opposition had ceased, I directed Colonel Harvey to return to Moulmein, the presence of his force in Eastern Karenni being no longer necessary. Colonel Harvey rendered excellent service in diverting the attention of the Karens from our advance from the north, and in protecting the frontier of Lower Burma from retaliatory raids.

7. In conclusion, I desire to bring to the notice of Major-General Sir George White the names of the following officers :

Colonel G. C. Sartorius, commanding the 1st Bilúch Battalion, has commanded his admirable regiment with conspicuous zeal and ability. I beg particularly to recommend this officer for favorable notice. The 1st Bilúchis are always ready for work and keen for a fight, and have rendered many valuable services during their three years' stay in Burma.

Lieutenant M. J. Tighe commanded the Mounted Infantry of the 1st Bilúchis, and greatly distinguished himself in his brilliant action with the Karens near Lwékaw on the 1st January. On other occasions also he has proved himself to be a valuable and capable officer.

The following officers commanded detachments with the Column, as specified against their names. All performed their duties to my entire satisfaction; and I am much indebted to them for the valuable aid they rendered throughout the expedition :

Major C. H. B. Norcott, commanding detachment of the 1st Battalion, Rifle Brigade.

Lieutenant A. H. W. Lowndes, commanding the 1st Battalion, Rifle Brigade Mounted Infantry.

Captain F. Beaufort, R.A., commanding a division of No. 1 Bengal Mountain Battery.

Lieutenant C. H. Heycock, R.E., commanding detachment of No. 5 Company, Queen's Own Madras Sappers and Miners.

I am much indebted to Captain F. J. Pink, 2nd Battalion, the Queen's Regiment, Deputy Assistant Adjutant and Quartermaster General, for zealous assistance and useful advice. He has shown himself a capable staff officer.

Lieutenant E. W. H. Somerset, 1st Battalion, Rifle Brigade, has acted as my orderly officer, and is a very intelligent and active young officer. He was very useful to me.

Lieutenant A. H. Morris, 2nd Battalion, the Royal Irish Regiment, the Executive Commissariat and Transport Officer with the Force, carried out his duties without a hitch. The supplies were ample and of good quality; and the transport animals were so well looked after, that we arrived at Fort Stedman with only 3 per cent. unfit for work. Lieutenant Morris also acted as baggage-master, and had command of the baggage and rear guards during the entire march, and showed throughout great zeal and energy. I consider him a valuable and capable officer.

Lieutenant Morris has reported to me very favorably on the manner in which Sergeant J. C. Scutt, Commissariat Department, carried on his duties.

Surgeon J. Crimmin, Bombay Medical Service, the senior medical officer, evinced great care and forethought in his arrangements for the comfort and disposal of the sick and wounded, which were as perfect as the circumstances of the time admitted. I wish also to bring to the notice of the Major-General the personal gallantry which Surgeon Crimmin showed when accompanying the Biluch Mounted Infantry in action on the 1st January, and which Lieutenant Tighe, who was in command of the Mounted Infantry, reported in the following terms:

"I especially wish to bring Surgeon Crimmin to the notice of the Brigadier-General for the gallant way in which he attended the wounded under a heavy fire. At one time while attending a wounded man he was surrounded by the enemy, and defended himself and the wounded man, killing some of the Karens. When not attending the wounded, he was present with me during my pursuit of the enemy for about six miles."

Captain H. M. Jackson, R.E., Survey Officer, was most energetic in the performance of his special duties, and accompanied the Biluch Mounted Infantry as a volunteer during the fight of the 1st January, when he was wounded, and had a narrow escape of his life in a personal encounter with a Karen soldier. Captain Jackson acted as orderly officer with me during the fighting of the 7th and 8th January in the Pon Choong defile; and his knowledge of the topographical features of the country was on several occasions very useful to me.

No 69 R. T., dated Simla, the 26th April 1889.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Public Works Department.

Read again—

Section 8 of Act IV (the Indian Railway Act) of 1879.

Public Works Department Notification No. 299, dated 23rd September 1880, publishing the General Rules for all Railways in India, and Public Works Department Circular No. 17 Railway, dated 21st August 1880.

Public Works Department letter No. 1062 R. T., dated 20th October 1885.

Read also—

Bombay Government letter No. 459, dated 26th February 1887.

Notification by the Government of India in the Foreign Department, No. 1343-1., dated the 28th March 1889.

OBSERVATIONS.—In accordance with the provisions of Section 8 of the Indian Railway Act IV of 1879, as extended by the Notification of the Government of India in the Foreign Department read above, to the lands occupied by the Bhavnagar-Gondal-Junagadh-Porbandar Railway in the territories of the Rulers or Representatives of the States of Baroda, Junagadh, Gondal, Wadhwan, Bhavnagar, Limli, Chura, Wala, Lathi, Piparia, Bantwa, Jetpur and Porbandar, the Manager of that Railway has applied that the General Rules for Indian Railways, which have received the sanction of the Governor General in Council and were published in the Gazette of India, dated 18th September 1880, may be applied to the Bhavnagar-Gondal-Junagadh-Porbandar Railway, with the exception of Rules 342 and 343, which he requests may be modified so as to read as follows :—

"No. 342.—No engine or train shall be moved from any station until the Driver has in his possession a "Line Clear," "Caution Message," or other permission written on the authorized form showing that he can proceed to the next station. The Driver is to receive this written permission from no other person than the Guard of his own train, or from the Station Master, or from one of the Station staff duly authorised for such duty; but on all occasions when the Guard does not personally deliver the permission to the Driver, it must be countersigned by the Guard before delivery to the Driver. The Driver must also receive from the Guard the usual starting signal before moving.

When a train is arranged to run through a station without stopping, the written permission to proceed to the next station may be handed to the Driver direct by the Station Master or other authorised person of the Station staff, and a duplicate of it handed to the Guard in the same manner.

"No 343.—The Station Master, or other authorised person of the Station staff, is to hand the written permission to the Guard, who must satisfy himself that it is properly filled up and dated with the time added, and is signed in full and in ink, and that it applies to the particular train or engine for which it is given and received before handing it to the Driver. The Driver must also satisfy himself on these points before starting.

This written permission is never to be given to the Driver until the train is to start; and when waiting to pass another train, it must not be given to the Driver until the whole of such other train has come in and is clear of the points.

When a train is not timed to stop at a station, and the written permission is handed both to the Driver and Guard of the train, the Station Master will be held wholly responsible that it applies to the particular train or engine for which it is given, and that it is properly filled up and dated, with the time added, and is signed in full and in ink."

RESOLUTION.—With Rules 342 and 343 altered as proposed, and with the exception of section XVII which refers to the working of a single line of railway on the system termed in Rule 3 of the said Rules "Train Despatching," the Governor General in Council is pleased, under Section 8 of the said Act as so extended, to sanction the application to the Bhavnagar-Gondal-Junagadh-Porbandar Railway of the General Rules for Indian Railways as published in the Gazette of India dated 18th September 1880.

ORDER.—Ordered that the General Rules, which have been published in the Gazette of India, be further notified to the Railway servants and the public by a copy thereof [with the exception and alterations noted] and of this Resolution being kept open to inspection, free of any charge, in the office of the Station Master of every station on the said Railway.

Ordered also that this Resolution be communicated to the Secretary to the Government of Bombay, Public Works Department, for information and guidance, with reference to his letter No. 459, dated 26th February 1887, and that it be published in the Gazette of India.

Irrigation Operations, North-Western Provinces, for the "Kharif" Season (1st April to 30th September) 1888.

No. 7061., dated Allahabad, the 2nd March 1889.

RESOLUTION—By His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, North-Western Provinces, and Chief Commissioner, Oudh.

READ—

Statements A23, B23, and C23, showing Irrigation Operations for kharif, 1888, of Canals in the North-Western Provinces.

OBSERVATIONS.—The area irrigated during kharif, 1888, was 702,959 acres against 650,597 acres in 1887, and 589,908 in 1886; an increase of 8·04 and 19·16 per cent. respectively.

All canals, except the Agra and Bijnor Canals and the Bundelkhand Lakes, show an increase.

The monsoon broke early in July southwards of Aligarh, but not till about a fortnight later northwards of that place; and continued with no general or well-defined "break" nearly to the end of September. No crops, except rice, were irrigated after the rains commenced.

The assessments on account of occupiers' rate amounted to Rs 21,90,933 against Rs 19,95,753 in 1887 and Rs 17,57,488 in 1886; an increase of 9·73 and 24·66 per cent. respectively.

2. Table I shows the areas under the different crops for the past four years :—

Crops.	1885.	1886.	1887.	1888.
	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
Sugarcane	175,638	169,123	197,604	225,280

Bájra and Juár	6,062	4,304	4,452	3,917
Maize	14,505	13,929	9,868	23,781

Miscellaneous	42,457	30,817	25,912	31,407
TOTAL	702,258	589,908	650,597	702,959

Sugarcane shows an increase of 26,676 acres, or about 14 per cent.; indigo an increase of 11,428 acres, or 5·4 per cent.; rice an increase of 7,030 acres, or 5·3 per cent.

Owing to the late setting in of the rains the area under maize is nearly 2½ times as great as in 1887.

Cotton shows a decrease of 11,629 acres, or 24·4 per cent.; due partly to the large area under sugarcane, which required all the available supply on the Upper Ganges and Eastern Jumna Canals.

3. Table II compares the areas by canals during the last two years :—

TABLE II.

CANALS.	1887.	1888.	More.	Less.
	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.	Acres.
Upper Ganges	259,992	278,037	18,045	...

Bhābar	25,161	28,712	3,551	...
TOTAL	650,597	702,959	52,362	...

The decrease on the Agra Canal is said to be due to the restricted sowings under the apprehension of another year of heavy rain and to the insufficient supply of water during the hot weather.

4. The assessments on account of occupiers' rates by canals for the last four years are shown in Table III.

TABLE III.

CANALS.	1885-86.	1886-87.	1887-88.	1888-89.

TOTAL	21,39,359	17,57,488	19,95,753	21,90,933

The Upper Ganges and Eastern Jumna Canals show the largest increase, owing to the large area under 1st class crops, sugarcane and rice, on these canals.

The rate per acre irrigated is R3·12 against R3·26 in the previous year.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weather Review of India for the week ending 8 a.m. on Monday, May 20th, 1889.

The weekly meteorological summary and rainfall return which was commenced last year is now resumed on the approach of the rainy season.

The summary includes a short review of the changes, &c., in the principal meteorological elements and a detailed statement of the rain received in the different Provinces of India during the week. The collection of rainfall is now carried out at nearly all the district head-quarters throughout India and Burma, and the information telegraphed to the Meteorological Department weekly consists briefly of the rainfall for each day of the week under review at the district officer's head-quarters and the total rainfall for the seven days. It also shows the average rainfall of the whole district of which the head-quarters office is the centre. This average is derived from the returns sent in by the sub-divisional offices. The normal average of the district is also given. These figures are not absolutely correct, as daily returns from all the districts are not available, and hence the normal average has been estimated by comparing the monthly averages of the various districts with the monthly averages of neighbouring districts, where the daily fall is known, and estimating the weekly fall accordingly. The final columns of the table give the total rainfall in the various districts since the 13th of May up to the date of the return (in this case the morning of the 20th), the normal fall for the same period, and the variation of the rainfall of the season under review from that normal.

During the past week the distribution of pressure has been remarkably steady. It has been high throughout the week on the west and south coasts of the Peninsula and over the south and centre of the Bay. From these regions it has decreased towards the north,—on some days slowly, on others more briskly,—and was lowest over the east of the Central Provinces, West Bengal, the Gangetic plain, Rajputana, and Sind. Within this low pressure area there were ordinarily three centres of depression,—one over West Bengal and the east of the Central and North-West Provinces, a second over the plain along the foot of the mountains in the North-West Provinces and the Punjab, and a third over Sind. In the neighbourhood of each of these centres the winds were cyclonic in their movements, though the circulation was in each case feeble and irregular. In other parts of the country the general wind directions were fairly normal except on the west coast. In this region the normal wind is a fresh breeze from west (west-south-west—west-north-west), but during the past week light breezes from all directions, including even east, have prevailed on that coast. Over the head of the Bay there has been a strong southerly wind on most days, but in the south and centre the wind has been light and variable. The week has been marked by an absence of travelling storms or cyclones both over the land and sea.

So far, there does not appear to have been any serious advance of the south-west monsoon into the Indian region. There have been one or two falls of rain over Southern India, but they appear to have been attributable to local causes, and have generally been accompanied with light and variable breezes.

The changes of pressure compared with the normal have been large. At first the barometer was below the average over Northern India and the west and south of the Peninsula. It then rose above the average, except in Assam and Malabar. This distribution continued during the 16th and 17th, but on the 18th pressure gave way and fell below the normal again over Northern India. During the next two days this deficiency continued and extended to Central India and the north of the Peninsula.

During the first two days of the week the weather was very cool in the Punjab for the time of year, but was hotter than usual in all other Provinces. On the 16th the departure of temperature from the normal was generally small in all Provinces. This was in a modified degree the case on the 17th also, but on the 18th the thermometer rose again, and from that date till the close of the week the mean average temperature was almost everywhere considerably above the normal average.

On the 15th the chart showed large contrasts of temperature in different parts of India, the deficiency in the Punjab and the excess in Bengal being very remarkable.

Punjab Maximum.			Bengal and North-Western Provinces Maximum.
Ludhiana	...	97°3—5°7	Burdwan	...	105°7+10°1
Lahore	...	90°1—11°5	Berhampore	...	107°7+13°2
Sialkote	...	89°1—11°9	Purneah	...	104°3+11°1
Rawalpindi	...	88°5—7°4	Durbhanga	...	104°4+10°0
Simla	...	66°2—9°3	Gorakhpore	...	108°8+10°2

West and Central Bengal and the east of the North-West Provinces have been the hottest parts of India relatively to the average during the week, though the absolutely highest temperature has as a rule been reported from the Western Desert.

Rain.—The rainfall of India has been very defective. The only divisions recording an excess are East Bengal, the Assam Valley, Coorg, the Konkan, the Bombay Deccan, and South Madras; and of these divisions, the only one which has received an important addition to its rainfall is the Assam Valley, where an inch more than usual fell. The rainfall in Upper India, extending from Chota Nagpur and Behar north-westward across the North-West Provinces to the Punjab, was practically nil, as the few light showers received in the Punjab and North-Western Provinces were of no importance. It will however be seen from the second column of the table that hardly any rain is expected in these regions during this period. The same is true of the central parts of the country,—Khandeish and Rajputana—where the small average which usually falls during the week under review has not been reached.

In Burma only about $\frac{1}{4}$ of the normal rainfall has been received, while in East Bengal and the Surma side of Assam there has been an excess or only a slight deficiency. Over this portion of the Indian region some moderately heavy rainfalls have already occurred. For instance, in the Amherst district of Tenasserim one subdivisional station received 8·3 inches of rain; Tongail in the Mymensingh district received 6 inches; and Sadiya in Dibrugarh received 7 inches. In Deltaic Bengal and also in Northern Bengal rain, though slight, occurred fairly generally, but on leaving those divisions rainfall, as noted above, practically ceased.

On the South-West Coast rain occurred almost daily, but the amounts were small and the average was not reached; while in the Konkan on the contrary, though there were only one or two wet days, yet owing to heavy falls in the North Kanara district, the average was exceeded. In the Deccan rain fell in all the divisions—heavily in some—and the total was larger than the normal.

In the Madras divisions there were no heavy falls, and the total was short of the normal.

REVENUE REPORT OF IRRIGATION WORKS IN BENGAL FOR 1887-88.

No. 99 I, dated Simla, the 22nd May, 1889.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Public Works Department.

Read—

The Revenue Report of Irrigation Works in Bengal for 1887-88 and the Resolution thereon by the Government of Bengal, No. 451A., dated 18th March 1889.

OBSERVATIONS.—In the Bengal Province there are four Major Works; the Orissa and the Sone Canals, which are mainly for purposes of irrigation, the Midnapur Canal, which is mainly, and the Hidgelee Tidal, which is entirely, for navigation purposes. There are three Minor Provincial Works in operation; the Surun Canals (for irrigation) and the Orissa Coast Canal and the Calcutta and Eastern Canals for navigation. There are also two works in abeyance, the Tirhut and Damodar Projects, on which in past years 7½ lakhs of rupees have been spent on surveys and preliminary work. The following statement shows the Capital expenditure during and up to the end of the year 1887-88 for the construction of these works.

	Number of works	CAPITAL EXPENDITURE DURING THE YEAR			CAPITAL EXPENDITURE TO THE END OF THE YEAR
		Direct	Indirect	Total	Direct	Indirect	Total

There are no Protective Works in Bengal, but a grant in aid of Rs 8,66,000 (included in the above figures under Minor Works in operation) has been given from Protective funds for the Orissa Coast Canal. There are three works in Bengal of which no Capital accounts are kept,—the Nudda River, the Eden Canal, and the Madhuban Canal.

The Capital expenditure of 9 lakhs was chiefly on the Orissa Canals (about 4 lakhs), the Orissa Coast Canal (about 3½ lakhs), and on the Sone Canals (about 1½ lakhs). The expenditure on the Orissa Canals was chiefly on drainage and protective works, and on the extensions of the Taldanda and Matchgong Canals; 26½ miles of new distributaries were completed. On the Orissa Coast Canal the money was chiefly spent in completing the earth-work of the canal and on the locks. The expenditure on the Sone Canals was almost entirely on drainage works and on 8 miles of distributaries.

2. The sanctioned estimates of the four Major Works aggregate about 719 lakhs, of which 597½ have been expended, leaving 121½ lakhs to be spent; of this balance 89 lakhs are on the Orissa Canals, and 32 lakhs on the Sone Canals.

The following statement shows the progress on construction of the works :

	Number of works.	SANCTIONED.		COMPLETED.
		Miles of Canals	Miles of Dis- tributaries	Miles of Canals.	Miles of Dis- tributaries.

There are 53 miles of canals and 1,155 miles of distributaries to be constructed to complete the projects, of which 52 miles of canals and 1,429 miles of distributaries are in the Orissa Irrigation System.

3. The actual financial results of the year under review on the works in operation are shown in the following statement :

NOTE — The indirect charges under Working Expenses (which are mainly a calculation of liability of Leave and Pension Allowances) are not shown in the Finance Accounts.

4. It will be seen from this that only one work in Bengal paid its working expenses during the year. As regards the Major Works, the loss of Rs. 4,85,090 is the largest which has been recorded for the last 20 years, during which time the gross Revenue from the Major Works has in nine years more than covered their working expenses. The large loss of the year under review is due both to increase in working expenses and to decrease in revenue, but chiefly to the latter cause. The revenue of the year (Rs. 10,87,080) is nearly 3 lakhs less than that of the previous year, and is less than that of any year since 1880-81, while the working expenses are the highest on record.

5. The decrease in the receipts from the Major Works is almost entirely due to a falling off in the collections of water-rates. The cause of this is explained as follows in the review of the Local Government :

An examination of the figures by canals shows that, although there is a small falling off on the Midnapur Canal, the decrease under water-rates is otherwise wholly on the Sone

Canals, there having been satisfactory increments both on the Orissa and Sarun Canals. The decrease on the Sone Canals is due to three causes:—firstly, the good collecting work of the year or two immediately preceding the year under review had largely diminished the arrears, so that there was actually less to collect; secondly, the comparatively small area irrigated in 1886-87 reduced the amount of the current demands; and thirdly, the agitation amongst the cultivators, which retarded the collections, so that there was a considerable increase in the closing balance as compared with the opening balance of the year.

The increase in the working expenses is almost entirely due to an alteration in the system of accounting for the charges for establishment. Formerly a percentage was charged against Irrigation Works in Bengal, while all the remaining cost of establishment was debited to "Roads and Buildings." During the current year a different procedure has been adopted, and the actual cost of the establishment employed on irrigation, or mainly so employed, has been charged to that head; this system, while it is more correct in itself, adds materially to the charges against irrigation for establishment. This point is enlarged on in paragraphs 18 to 21 below.

6. With reference to the Minor Works of which Capital and Revenue Accounts are kept, however, the results are very different. The net revenue is, with two exceptions, the largest on record; and it would have been absolutely the largest on record but for the loss on the Orissa Coast Canal, which is a work that has not yet reached its full development. The working expenses shew a moderate increase over those of the previous years: the increase is due partly to the Orissa Coast Canal, and partly to the new method of debiting the establishment charges.

7. The Revenue Accounts of the Major Works in Bengal shew, on the whole, a loss of over 330 lakhs of rupees since the commencement of operations. That is to say, the simple interest on Capital and the working expenses up to date have exceeded the gross Revenue by that amount. The simple interest for the year 1887-88 amounted to Rs. 23,13,116, and the loss on Revenue Accounts, for direct charges, was (14,87,436—10,87,080) Rs. 4,00,356, making a total of Rs. 27,13,502, which falls on the revenues of the Province, as the works in Bengal are all provincialised. Under the terms, however, of the last Provincial Contract, a sum of Rs. 20,89,000 was the net assignment to Bengal from Imperial Revenues on account of four Major Works, so that a loss of only Rs. 6,24,802 really falls on Provincial Revenues, and the remaining sum is paid out of Imperial Revenues of India.

8. The figures in the foregoing paragraphs have been based on the actual receipts collected within the year and credited in the Treasury Accounts. The following statement shows the assessed revenue of the year compared with that of the three previous years:

		1887-88.			TOTAL ASSESSED REVENUE.

* These canals are for navigation only.

9. The above statement gives a more accurate view of the working of the canals as irrigation systems during the year than does the statement of actual collections in paragraph 8. On both the Orissa and the Sone Canals the rainfall of 1887 was deficient, and the irrigated area was considerably larger than in the previous year, and the assessed water-rates were consequently higher.

The increase on the Midnapur Canal was entirely due to navigation revenue; there was a slight decrease in the irrigation assessments. The decrease in revenue on the Hidgellee Tidal Canal is due to the closure on account of silt clearance. The assessed revenue on the Sarun Canals is exceptional; it is not assessed on the area irrigated, but is almost entirely made up of amounts which are guaranteed by the indigo planters of the district, whatever area may be irrigated.

10. The rate per acre assessed as water-rate on occupiers in Bengal (Rs. 1-99) compares unfavourably with that of all other Provinces* in India:

* Rate per acre in 1887-88.

Bombay	...	Rs. 4 88
Madras	...	3 3
Punjab	...	2 19
North-Western Provinces	...	3 4

this is partly due to the fact that the water-rates are lower, and partly to the fact that no addition is made to the land revenue paid by landowners on account of the supply of facilities for irrigation.

11. The areas actually irrigated during the year are compared in the following statement with those of the previous three years:

MAJOR WORKS
Productive Public Works—				Acres.	Acres	Acres	Acres.
Orissa Canal	109,506	77,769	72,339	57,362

TOTAL AREA IRRIGATED				494,968	417,821	480,078	504,556

12. It is mentioned in paragraph 13 of the Chief Engineer's note that the irrigated area in Orissa is nearly half of the area which is provided with distributaries; this, coupled with the fact that there has been an increase of nearly 50 per cent. in the area as compared with that of the previous year, is satisfactory. The existing main canals in Orissa are capable of carrying a much larger volume of water than can at present be delivered on the fields by the existing distributaries. Liberal estimates were sanctioned in 1883 for the extension of the distributary system, but the progress made is extremely slow, as is shewn by the following figures:

				EXPENDITURE ON DISTRIBUTARIES		Total number of miles of distributaries completed at end of year.
				During year.	To end of year
				Rs.	Rs.	Miles.
1884-85	41,750	14,00,283	641
1885-86	38,548	14,38,816	645
1886-87	90,879	15,29,715	691½
1887-88	91,414	16,21,232	718

The sanctioned estimate provides a total sum of nearly 49 lakhs for expenditure on 2,147 miles of distributaries from the Orissa Canal; so that only one-third of the capital required has been spent and only one-third of the distributaries completed. A reference to the Irrigation map shews that many miles of distributaries have been commenced from Ranges 2 and 3 of the High Level Canal, on which construction must have made extremely slow progress, and on three Branch Canals which are shewn as completed (the Patamundi, Golri, and lower part of Kendrapara), no distributaries appear to have been begun. It is to the completion of these distributaries that Government must look both for a proper utilisation of the water-supply and for a moderate return on its outlay; and the extension of irrigation from the distributaries which are completed appears to warrant a more rapid execution of the remainder of those which have been sanctioned. The Government of Bengal was specially addressed on this subject in October last.

13. The value of the crops irrigated during the year is stated as being Rs. 89,19,633, or about $2\frac{1}{2}$ lakhs less than last year, although there was an increase of 77,147 acres irrigated. From the remarks made in para. 113 of the Chief Engineer's note, it appears that the statistics concerning the value of irrigated crops are not very accurate. Crop experiments were recorded on the Orissa and Sone Canals; in Orissa the experiments gave the following results:

			OUTTURN OF—
			Paddy.	Straw.
			Mds.	Mds.
Canal-irrigated rice lands	12.32	16.84
Unirrigated rice lands	9.88	12.0

Both in irrigated and unirrigated lands the results are considerably less than the averages of previous years.

On the Sone Canal the results were—

			OUTTURN OF—
			Paddy.	Straw.
			Mds.	Mds.
Canal-irrigated rice lands	17.67	39.45
Unirrigated rice lands	10.75	23.67

The accuracy of the crop experiments recorded by the Canal Officers was much questioned during the enquiry made by the Irrigation Commission, which was appointed by the Local Government in 1888 to enquire into the working of the Sone Canal System. The general accuracy of the returns has, however, been substantially confirmed by a report lately submitted by an officer of the Civil Service, who personally conducted a large number of experiments in the khareef season of 1888.

14. The Working Expenses (including indirect charges) are shown in the following statement:

15. The rate per acre of the working expenses in Bengal is higher than that of other Provinces of India* except Bombay, but it is necessary to remember that, although this method of general comparison is perhaps the best which can be adopted, it is not one which can be made with absolute accuracy: the circumstances of the various Provinces are not parallel. In Bengal, for instance, a considerable proportion of the working expenses of the irrigation systems is directly due to navigation, and is quite without connection with the irrigated area; but in the North-Western Provinces and the Punjab the proportion which is fairly chargeable against navigation is much smaller.

Rate per acre in 1887-88.			Rs.
Madras	0-80
Punjab	1-22
North-Western Provinces	1-69
Bengal	3-10
Bombay	5-29

This is shown by the fact that in the North-Western Provinces 31 per cent. of the mileage of the irrigation canals are navigable, in the Punjab 14 per cent.; but in Bengal 67 per cent. of the four irrigation systems are open for navigation.

16. The large increase in the working expenses of the Orissa Canal in 1886-87 and 1887-88 is mainly due to the repairs to the breach in the Mahanadi weir, the maintenance and repairs of the headworks having cost Rs. 29,689 in 1885-86, Rs. 2,31,706 in 1886-87, and Rs. 1,91,350 in 1887-88. There was also exceptionally heavy expenditure on the headworks of the Sone Canal, due to the failure of the under sluice piers. The increase in the working expenses of the Hidgellee Tidal Canal is due to heavy silt clearance: a project is about to be recommended for the sanction of the Secretary of State to obviate the heavy expenditure which is periodically necessary for this purpose and which materially interferes with the efficiency of this canal.

17. The details of the working expenses shown in the preceding paragraph are as follows:

			1887-88.	1886-87.
			Rs.	Rs.
Extensions and Improvements	7,010	5,092
Maintenance and Repairs	9,74,942	9,81,196
Establishment	7,21,376	5,16,714
Tools and Plant	1,05,408	83,143
Indirect Charges	1,00,994	72,341
TOTAL			19,09,730	16,58,486

The charge for Establishment is made up of the following items:

			1887-88.	1886-87.
			Rs.	Rs.
Share of Direction and Accounts	49,112	49,216
Executive Officers	3,90,246	1,77,175
Medical
Revenue Establishment	1,98,340	2,04,819
Navigation	83,678	85,504
TOTAL			7,21,376	5,16,714

18. It has already been explained that the increase in the working expenses of the works in Bengal has been mainly due to a change in the method of dealing with the establishment charges. The figures given above display this fact clearly, the increase under Establishment (Rs. 2,04,662) and that under Indirect Charges (Rs. 28,653) being entirely due to this change.

19. The entire cost of establishment in Bengal for all branches of the Public Works Department during the last three years has been—

					Rs.
In 1885-86	22,79,650
„ 1886-87	22,79,424
„ 1887-88	21,91,041

The charges in the first two years are practically the same; the decrease in the last year is mainly due to revisions of establishment, and partly to a less charge under “Fees and Allowances for the Collection of Revenue,” consequent on the reduced revenue realized.

20. The above charges were distributed as follows:

					Buildings and Roads Branch.	Irrigation Branch.	Other Departments.
					Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1885-86	13,74,353	8,10,028	95,269
1886-87	14,00,411	8,20,778	58,235
1887-88	8,54,592	11,10,454	2,25,995

It will thus be seen that, as the result of the new procedure adopted for the distribution of the cost of establishment between the different branches of the Public Works Department, the charges to irrigation have risen from a little over 8 lakhs of rupees to over 10 lakhs of rupees, whilst the charges to the Buildings and Roads Branch have fallen from 14 lakhs to 8½ lakhs.

21. The percentages which the expenditure on establishment bore to that on Works and Repairs in the Buildings and Roads and Irrigation Branches in these years were—

					Buildings and Roads Branch.	Irrigation Branch.
					Rs.	Rs.
1885-86	68.02	23.00
1886-87	48.12	23.00
1887-88	29.26	35.25

The percentage charged to Buildings and Roads Branch in 1885-86 was abnormally high, owing to the grants for Works and Repairs being unusually low (20 against 29 lakhs); but the reduction in 1887-88 below the percentage of the previous year is very marked. In the Irrigation Branch the increase is also very noticeable.

22. The largeness of the arrears in the collection of water-rates was specially noticed last year by the Government of India in reviewing the operations of the year 1886-87. It was said, in para. 8 of the Resolution, “the Governor-General in Council trusts that the measures which have been introduced may be worked with persistent energy until the results obtained are more in consonance with those which are recorded in other Provinces.” The improvement in the collections which was observed in 1886 and 1887 has not, however, been maintained, the outstanding balances of water-rates have increased on each of the four irrigating systems, the aggregate figures being—

					Rs.
Water-rates outstanding on 1st April 1885	9,24,311
Ditto ditto 1886	8,49,089
Ditto ditto 1887	8,96,226
Ditto ditto 1888	5,87,148

The increase has been chiefly on the Sone Canal, where the outstandings were Rs. 2,31,582 in 1887 and Rs. 4,11,281 in 1888. It is explained that the cause of this was the agitation among the cultivators and the appointment of a Committee of Enquiry, which seriously retarded the collections, as the cultivators anticipated that remissions of outstandings would probably result.

23. The statistics given in the Chief Engineer's note concerning the complaints do not shew clearly the number of complaints received, disposed of, and outstanding. The number of complaints about irrigation matters in Bengal is very large: in Orissa 2,743 complaints were received about assessments alone, of which a large proportion were admitted as valid; the number not disposed of (1,503) appears unduly large: in Midnapur 841 complaints were received, and a large proportion were disposed of: in the Sone Canal the number of complaints received is not stated, but the total number to be dealt with was 8,835: of complaints against assessment, remissions were granted in 37·3 per cent. of the cases.

24. No information is given concerning the progress of collections by the certificate procedure in Orissa. In Midnapur no certificates were issued in connection with the current demand, but 16,052 were issued with reference to arrears, 72 per cent. of all certificate cases were disposed of, and in 85 per cent. of the cases the dues were realised. The information given concerning the certificate procedure on the Sone Canal is not complete. There was a considerable increase in certificates in the Patna district, and a very large decrease in Shahabad. The progress made in collecting dues in the Patna district is slow, and the arrears are large.

25. The Government of India trusts that energetic measures will be adopted to ensure the collection of the current demand as soon as it is due; such action will, more than anything else, tend to reduce the necessity of resorting to the certificate procedure.

26. The following statement shows the navigation revenue of the year and that of the previous three years:

	NAVIGATION REVENUE		NAVIGATION REVENUE
	1887-88	Per mile of Navigable Canal	1886-87	1885-86	1884-85

TOTAL ...	9,21,482	1,500	7,88,685	8,34,780	8,22,187

The figures in this statement are taken from column 5 in Form I C.

* This rate is calculated on 27 miles of artificial canal; but there is an extensive system of navigable rivers which are connected with the system known as the "Calcutta and Eastern Canals."

27. In addition to the above works, there is a system of navigable rivers—the Nadiya rivers—which are maintained by the Public Works Department. The navigation revenue on these rivers has been—

	1887-88.	1886-87.	1885-86.	1884-85.
Nadiya Rivers	1,98,675	2,03,250	1,83,781	1,95,457

The revenue of these rivers has hitherto been collected under the orders of the Board of Revenue, but, from the close of the year under review, this duty has been made over to the Irrigation Branch of the Public Works Department. There has been an increase of 50 per cent. in the working expenses of these rivers in 1887-88; this is partly due to the alteration in the system of charging for establishment, but mainly to an actual increase in maintenance and repairs, due to training works on the Bhagirati river, which, however, have not yet succeeded in keeping the channel open through the dry season.

28. The increase in the navigation revenue in Bengal is satisfactory. It is extremely difficult to calculate the portion of working expenses on irrigation systems which is properly due to navigation: an attempt to do this is made in Form I. D. attached to the report under review, which results in showing that navigation in Bengal returned a net profit of Rs. 1,59,521. There is no doubt about the remunerative character of the Calcutta and Eastern Canals: the net revenue of the year (including indirect charges) was Rs. 3,55,278 on a Capital expenditure of Rs. 52,39,113, or 6.78 per cent.

29. The quantity and value of goods carried on the canals were as follows:

	TONS OF GOODS.		VALUE.
	1887-88.	1886-87.	1887-88.	1886-87.
	Tons.	Tons.	Rs.	Rs.

Hidgellee Tidal Canal	44,563	53,557	26,13,351	31,18,820
Sone Canal	70,073	78,681	56,80,508	64,65,651

Calcutta and Eastern Canals... ..	956,527	860,031	6,35,62,193	5,30,12,670
TOTAL	1,321,655	...	9,08,97,988	7,78,30,807

The figures given for the quantity of goods carried do not include the rafts of bamboos and timber which are expressed in the returns either in number or in cubic feet.

30. Besides the larger works treated of in this Resolution for which separate Capital and Revenue Accounts are kept, there are three systems of which only Revenue Accounts are kept, and for which the following table gives the same information as is given in paragraph 3 for the larger system:

	Gross Revenue.	WORKING EXPENSES.			Net Revenue.
		Direct.	Indirect.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Nadiya Rivers	1,98,675	92,022	...	92,022	1,06,653
Eden Canal	918	41,769	...	41,769	—40,851
Madhuban Canal	9	9,821	...	9,821	—9,812
TOTAL	1,99,602	1,43,612	...	1,43,612	55,990

Of these, the Nadiya River system has already been referred to in para. 27. The Eden Canal is mainly for the supply of drinking water to Burdwan and to villages along its banks. The Madhuban Canal is intended for irrigation, but the weir, breached in 1886, was only restored by the end of the year under report, and no irrigation has as yet been possible.

31. In the Resolution of the Government of India on the report of the year 1886-87 the attention of the Government of Bengal was drawn to the very late date on which the report was submitted to the Government of India. The report under review has nevertheless been received by the Government of India some days later than that of the previous year, and more than four months after it was due, although the reports of Superintending Engineers and Commissioners were, with one exception, received by the Government of Bengal in good time. His Honour the Lieutenant-Governor, in para. 15 of the review by the Local Government, has specially referred to the necessity for increased punctuality in dealing with this report: the Government of India trusts that measures will be adopted which will ensure that result. The reasons given in the last paragraph of the Chief Engineer's note cannot be accepted as sufficient excuse for the great delay which occurred in its preparation.

ORDER.—Ordered, that copies of this Resolution and of the Report be forwarded to the Finance and Commerce and the Revenue and Agricultural Departments for information.

Ordered also, that copies of this Resolution be forwarded to the Government of Bengal for information and guidance; and that copies of the Resolution be forwarded to the Local Governments and Administrations in the Public Works Department noted in the margin for information, and to the Foreign Department for communication to the Government of Mysore.

The Governments of Malis, Bombay, North-Western Provinces, and the Punjab
*The Chief Commissioners Central Provinces, Burma, and Assam
The Resident at Hyderabad.
The Agents to the Governor General for Central India and Rajputana

Ordered further, that this Resolution, and the Resolution by the Local Government, be published in the Supplement to the Gazette of India, and that copies of this Resolution be forwarded to Her Majesty's Secretary of State for India.

IRRIGATION.

THE CANAL REVENUE REPORT FOR 1887-88.

No 458 I A, dated Calcutta, the 19th March 1889.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of Bengal, Public Works Department.

Read—

The Canal Revenue Reports for 1887-88 and the Chief Engineer's Note on the same.

The total outlay, direct and indirect, to the close of the year 1887-88 on canals in Bengal of which Capital accounts are kept has been Rs. 7,06,14,592. Of this sum, Rs. 8,66,000 have been contributed by the Imperial Government from Famine Relief and Insurance Funds, Rs. 92,24,652 have been provided from Provincial Revenues, and Rs. 5,97,49,285 have been charged to Loan Funds. In addition to the sums mentioned above, Rs. 7,74,655 have been expended on surveys and investigations for irrigation works which have not been carried out.

2. There are now in actual operation in Bengal 814 miles of canal, of which 614½ miles are navigable. The total area commanded by irrigation canals is 2,698,846 acres; of which area, 1,768,811 acres are irrigable by the completed projects, and 1,398,147 acres are irrigable by the existing works.

Of this last area, 475,138* acres, producing crops of the estimated value of Rs. 90,70,980, were irrigated during the year. The total number of boats plying in the canals was 190,839, of which 24,709 were passenger boats. The total value of goods passing through the canals in boats and rafts aggregated Rs. 9,08,97,989 approximately.

3. The receipts from, and expenditure on, the canals in operation for the last three years are given in the statement below; the figures include indirect charges:

Name of Canal	1887 88		1888 89		1889 90.

GRAND TOTAL	17,57,682	19,25,896	19,12,198	16,75,406	21,10,280	14,59,206

There was thus a deficit for the year of Rs. 1,68,214. In addition to this, interest amounting to Rs. 23,13,416 was payable to the Imperial Government, so that the total deficit to be met from Provincial Revenues was Rs. 24,81,660. The unfavourableness of the results for the last three years has thus been increasing, the deficits in 1885-86 and 1886-87 having been Rs. 15,89,119 and Rs. 19,56,294 respectively, and is again due both to falling off in receipts and increase in expenditure (though much more to the former than the latter) as compared with the previous year.

4. The increase in expenditure is to a very large extent a purely nominal one, so far as the Provincial Revenues are concerned, and is due to a new method of accounting for the establishment, the charges for which are distributed approximately according to the establishments actually employed in divisions, instead of the Irrigation Department being assessed, as heretofore, with a fixed charge by percentage on expenditure, the remainder of the cost of establishment being shown against the Roads and Buildings Branch. The present method appears to be the fairer, and at any rate it shows in a clearer light what is the cost of establishment employed on the various canals. Chiefly on account of this alteration, the charges for Direction and Executive Establishments have increased by Rs. 2,12,967 as compared with last year, thus nearly accounting for the total increase in the working expenses. On the Orissa Canals there was, on the whole, a fair decrease, notwithstanding the increase in establishment charges, and the fact that a portion of the expenditure on repairing the breach made in the Mahanudi weir during the floods of 1886 fell in the year under review. On the Hidgellee Tidal and Orissa Coast Canals there was an increase, due, in the former case to the necessity for carrying out the long-postponed silt clearance, and in the latter to the repairing damages caused by the cyclone of 1885. The comparatively small fluctuations on the other canals do not call for remark.

* Exclusive of 5,975 acres irrigated in an unauthorised manner in the Orissa Canals, and 13,855 acres of hot weather irrigation on the Sone Canals this latter irrigation is almost entirely sugarcane, and is included already in the kharif.

5. The revenue collected in the last three years on the works mentioned in the above statement is shown below :

Head.	REVENUE
	1887-88	1886-87.	1885-86.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Water-rates	7,69,362	10,43,343	12,33,612
Navigation	9,21,482	7,88,695	8,34,780
Miscellaneous	66,839	80,170	50,688
TOTAL	17,57,682	19,12,198	21,19,280

It will be seen that practically the falling off is entirely under Water-rates, whilst under Navigation there is a very satisfactory increase, to which reference will be made further on. An examination of the figures by canals shows that, although there is a small falling off on the Midnapore Canal, the decrease under Water-rates is otherwise wholly on the Sone Canals, there having been satisfactory increments both on the Orissa and Sarun Canals. The decrease on the Sone Canals is due to three causes : Firstly, the good collecting work of the year or two immediately preceding the year under review had largely diminished the arrears, so that there was actually less to collect; secondly, the comparatively small area irrigated in 1886-87 reduced the amount of the current demands; and thirdly, the agitation amongst the cultivators, which retarded the collections, so that there was a considerable increase in the closing balance as compared with the opening balance of the year.

6. The assessments or earnings of the same year are as follows :

Head.	EARNINGS.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Water-rates	10,00,489	9,49,260	10,45,339
Navigation	9,21,482	7,88,685	8,34,780
Miscellaneous	66,838	80,171	90,441
TOTAL	19,88,809	18,18,116	19,70,600

Judged by the standard of earnings, the working of the year would show for all canals a small excess over expenditure of Rs. 62,913.

7. The arrears of water-rates outstanding at the close of each of the last three years are shown in the statement following :

Name of Canal	ARREARS.
	1st April 1888	1st April 1887. "	1st April 1886.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
Orissa Canals	92,109	87,458	64,884
Midnapore Canal	56,493	50,749	69,972
Sone Canals	4,11,281	2,31,582	3,98,381
Sarun Canals	27,265	26,437	15,912
TOTAL ...	5,87,148	3,96,226	5,49,089

The increase in the outstanding balance is practically wholly on the Sone Canals, where, as already explained, the agitation amongst the cultivators and appointment of a Committee of Enquiry retarded the collections very seriously. The remissions were comparatively small, and were less even than those of last year.

8. It is necessary to distinguish between the collections of arrears and those of the current demand to understand clearly the results of the year's work. Of the outstandings of former years, a sum of Rs. 3,26,147, or over 76 per cent., was adjusted; 89 1 per cent. of this amount being collected, 4·9 remitted, and 6·0 written off. On the whole, this is more favourable than last year, and the success was undoubtedly due in a great measure to the arrears in the Shahabad district having been collected before the agitation on the Sone Canals began. Of the current year's demand (which includes Rs. 1,80,559 due but not payable till after the expiry of the year), Rs. 4,59,375, or about 50 per cent. only, was adjusted, about 1 per cent. of this having been remitted, and the rest, with the exception of a small sum of Rs. 86 written off, collected. The results cannot be considered satisfactory, but so far as the Sone Canals are concerned, the falling off in the results is fully accounted for by the agitation to which reference has already been made. Notwithstanding however this difficulty, the Sone Canals, as a whole, show better results than Orissa or Midnapore, in neither of which was 50 per cent. of the current year's demand collected. A considerable sum—some Rs. 19,000—was again written off as irrecoverable on account of old arrears on the Sone Canals, chiefly in the Shahabad district. In the Sarun Canals the total collections were a few hundred rupees short of the current year's guarantee, so that there was a slight increase in the outstanding balance as compared with the previous year. This is a vast improvement on the work of last year, but is still unsatisfactory. Excluding the sum due but not payable until after the close of the year, the total outstandings amount to Rs. 4,56,589. On the whole, and making allowances for the abnormal difficulties on the Sone Canals, the results can scarcely be deemed very unsatisfactory; and the Lieutenant-Governor notices with approval that the matter continues to receive the attention of the district officers. The necessity however to reduce the arrears, which still amount for years previous to the year under review to about a lakh of rupees, has not ceased; and Sir Stuart Bayley trusts that the subject will receive attention, especially in Orissa, which, on the whole, is the most backward in this respect.

9. The total number of certificates for the recovery of arrears issued in all districts, save Gya (the figures for which are not given but they were very few during the year), was 28,805 against 30,504 issued in the previous year; and the pending cases were reduced from 28,953 to 19,369, good progress having been made in Orissa and in Shahabad. The progress however in Midnapore was not good, whilst the work in Patna, owing apparently to shortness of establishment, was very unsatisfactory. The reduction in the number of certificates issued continues.

10. The information regarding complaints, though fuller than that given last year, is still very incomplete. So far as can be gathered from the figures afforded in the reports, 10,332 complaints against assessments were pending from the previous year, or filed during the year, on the "Major works" systems: of these, 8,120 were disposed of, leaving 2,212, or rather more than 21 per cent., still pending. Considering the circumstances of irrigation in Bengal, the number filed, although large, does not appear to be out of proportion on the whole, though the following table would seem to show that there is considerable room for improvement on the Orissa Canals in the assessment of water-rate and administration generally; since not only were the complaints more in proportion to the area irrigated than even on the Sone Canals, where the number was abnormally raised by agitation, but the percentage of complaints admitted was very high :

	ORISSA.		MIDNAPORE.		SONE.		TOTAL.

Proportion of acres irrigated to one complaint ...	39.9		78.3		46.7		47.5

The above table, for want of the necessary details, is not quite correct as regards the proportion of acres to one complaint, inasmuch as it has been impossible to separate the arrears from the complaints filed in the year, whilst the area for the year has been taken. Still for practical purposes of comparison it can be accepted ; and the Lieutenant-Governor trusts that the above comparison will show the officers concerned of the Orissa Canals the necessity for greater care in assessing water-rates and in the administration of their duties generally.

11. The areas irrigated (actuals) during the last three years are detailed in the following table :

					Acres.	Acres.	Acres.

Total Minor Works				...	4,218	2,146	4,565
Grand Total Major and Minor Works				...	494,968	417,821	480,078

There is a very satisfactory increase on the Orissa Canals, and a satisfactory increase on the Sone Canals, due chiefly to the favourable character of the season from an irrigation point of view. Most of the increase on the Orissa Canals, and a fair proportion of that on the Sone Canals, is under long leases, so that the anticipation of an extension of irrigation expressed in the Resolution on last year's report appears to be receiving confirmation. The irrigated area on the Midnapore Canal continues unfortunately to decrease. The cause is said to be the irregularity and insufficiency of the supply in the Cossye river; and for this hitherto no practicable remedy has been found.

12. The tollage collections from the various canals for the last three years are given in the table following:

Year.	Orissa Canals.	Midnapore Canal.	Hidgellee Tidal Canal.	Orissa Coast Canal.	Sone Canals.	Calcutta and Eastern Canals.	Total.
	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.	Rs.
1885-86 ...	61,093	1,25,331	52,143	13,663	41,712	4,97,573	7,94,520
1886-87 ...	58,661	1,09,693	51,904	28,587	49,665	4,73,193	7,71,706
1887-88 ...	66,628	1,26,571	40,406	52,828	50,994	5,71,872	9,09,292

The increase is about 15 per cent. on the total collections of last year, and upwards of a lakh more than the collections of any previous year since 1882-83 inclusive, from which date only the whole of the figures are readily available. The chief increase is on the Calcutta and Eastern Canals, on which there was a small defect last year. It was, however, mentioned in last year's Resolution that the decrease did not point to any permanent decline; and the figures for the year under review confirm this opinion. The increase is due to the expansion of the grain and jute traffic. The receipts on the Orissa Canals are the highest since 1882-83, when they were almost the same figures, viz., Rs. 66,736, the highest on record. On the Midnapore Canal they are the highest on record, excluding transport service receipts. The falling off in the Hidgellee Tidal Canal revenue is due to the closure of the canal for silt clearance. The increase in revenue on the Orissa Coast Canal is satisfactory, being in excess of the forecast.

13. On the Nuddea rivers there was a small falling off in the receipts, attributable to the impossibility during 1887-88 of maintaining more than one of the three alternative routes between the Ganges and Calcutta in a navigable condition, on account of the deterioration of the entrances from the Ganges.

14. The Lieutenant-Governor observes that the necessity for further enquiry and the collection of opinions from experts has hitherto prevented any action being taken on the report of the Commission that enquired in 1888 into the working of the Sone Canal system. These have now been brought to a completion, and the report will be disposed of without further delay.

15. With the exception of the Revenue report of the Commissioner of the Orissa Division, all reports were received with fair punctuality. The Examiner's Finance Accounts were received about the same time as last year. Both in submitting and in dealing with the Revenue reports, there is need, in the Lieutenant-Governor's opinion, for increased punctuality.

ORDER.—Ordered, that a copy of this Resolution, and of the Note and its accompaniments, be submitted to the Government of India, in the Public Works Department, for information; also that copies be forwarded to the Appointment, Revenue and Financial Departments of this Government; the Board of Revenue, Lower Provinces; the Commissioners of the Presidency, Burdwan, Patna and Orissa Divisions; the Collectors of the 24-Pergunnahs, Nuddea, Hooghly, Midnapore, Burdwan, Patna, Shahabad, Gya, Sarun, Out-tack, and Balasore; the Superintending Engineers of the Orissa, South-Western, and Sone Circles; and the Examiner, Public Works Accounts, Bengal, for information.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Memorandum on the Snowfall in the Mountain Districts bordering Northern India, and on the Abnormal Features of the Weather in India during the preceding months.

The following preliminary note and forecast will be followed in the early part of June by a final forecast drawn up by the Meteorological Reporter, based on the information of snowfall on the Himalayas during the months of April and May and the meteorological observations for the month of May.

The premises hitherto accepted are that the strength and extent of the south-west monsoon current in India appear to depend mainly on three factors:

- 1st.—The amount of snowfall and the period of its occurrence in the northern mountain districts of India.
- 2nd.—The local peculiarities of the weather in India itself immediately antecedent to the rains, and mainly impressed upon it during the preceding hot weather. These are chiefly measured by the local variations of pressure from the mean.
- 3rd.—Local peculiarities in the Bay of Bengal and Arabian Sea, over which the monsoon current passes before it reaches India.

The first factor appears to be mainly influential in determining the northward limits of the monsoon rains, heavy and prolonged snowfall in the Himalayas either delaying or preventing the extension of the monsoon current over Upper India during the rainy season.

The second factor appears to determine those large local district and provincial variations of rainfall during the monsoon which are evidently due to local conditions and peculiarities, and not to general causes, such as snowfall over the whole Himalayan region, or as variations in the number of sunspots.

The third and last factor is of equal importance with the preceding, but it is that on which information is least in amount and is longest in being received.

In the present note it is only possible to state the snowfall conditions in the mountain districts of Northern India and the abnormal features (chiefly of pressure) in India itself.

Summary of Snowfall information.—Over the Afghan Highlands the snowfall seems to have been on the whole decidedly less than the normal. The snowfall on the Spinghar was about the same as that of last year, but it was followed by heavy rain, which melted much of it and it is probable there was very little snow on these ranges by the end of February. There appears to have been little or no snow in March. There was also a marked absence of cold winds, which may probably be accepted as an indication of deficiency of snow.

On the hills to the north of the Punjab there is a good deal of difference in the amount of snow received in different districts. In Ladak and Kashmir there has been extremely little snow. In Lahoul, Plach, and Kulu, on the contrary, there was an abnormally early and abnormally heavy snowfall: the snow is deeper and will probably lie longer than it has for several years past. At Naini Tal and Mussoorie, on the contrary, there was apparently no snow of importance.

In the Eastern Himalayas the snowfall has been normal or less than normal. There is, however, some evidence that the early snow which characterised the winter in Lahoul, Kulu, and Plach extended into the Eastern Himalayas also, as the Deputy Commissioner, Darrang, says the Bhutias explained their late appearance by referring to the quantity of snow in the passes.

I.—AFGHAN HIGHLANDS.(a) HILLS WEST OF DERA ISMAIL KHAN.

The Deputy Commissioner, Dera Ismail Khan, furnishes the following report on the snowfall on the ranges west of the Indus in the season 1888-89:

The season was marked by the absence of cold winds, and was dry till the rainfall of February and March. There was no snow observable till the end of November, when slight snow was seen on the peaks of the Takht-i-Suleman hills. The snow gradually increased and extended, but towards the middle of February it slowly disappeared.

(b) HILLS WEST OF KOHAT.

The Officer in charge of the Thull Outpost forwards the following information through the Deputy Commissioner of Kohat :

December 1888.—Snow to the depth of about 2 feet fell on the Spinghar, Piwar, Shalozan, and Kirman, and to the depth of about 6 inches on the Terah on the 21st.

January 1889.—There was a good snowfall on the Spinghar between January 28th and February 1st. After this fall heavy rains occurred which washed the snow away from the lower hills and the maidans, only the Sufed Koh and higher ranges remaining white.

February 1889.—There was a good snowfall from the 18th to the 23rd, and again on the 25th of February. The following was the approximate depth of snow which fell :

Sufed Koh (Spinghar)	12 to 13 inches.
Dandaghar	2 to 3 „
Zawa	4 to 5 „
Sumana	1 to 1½ „
Terah	4 to 4½ „

The Deputy Commissioner, Kohat, is of opinion that any snow of less than 7 inches depth soon melts away at this season, so that there can have been but little snow on these ranges by the end of February.

(c) HILLS WEST OF PESHAWAR.

The Assistant Commissioner, Mardan, through the Deputy Commissioner, Peshawar, forwards the following information :

January 1889.—Snow fell to a depth of from 1 to 2 feet on the hills bordering the Sadhum Valley during January 1889.

February.—About 2 feet of snow fell on the Bahman hills in February. None fell in March.

The Political Officer, Khyber Pass, reports that—

January.—Snow fell on three occasions in Rajgal and the maidan of Terah, the total depth being 3 feet, and on two occasions on the Lakka hill to a depth of 2 feet.

February.—Heavy rains fell during February in the Terah hills, followed by snow. Depth of snow 2 feet or a little more.

The snowfall in the Khyber and Lakka and Tartara hills was between one and two feet.

II.—THE HIMALAYAS.

I.—THE PUNJAB AND KASHMIR HIMALAYAS.

(a) Leh.—The Reverend F. Redslob reports that there has been extremely little snow during the winter. There has not been so little snow since the winter of 1885. On the Kashmir highlands also there is very little snow.

(b) Lahoul.—The Reverend A. W. Heyde reports that heavy rain and snow fell in the autumn of 1888, and that the passes were closed most unusually early; but, with this exception, “the present winter, which is now nearing its end, has on the whole been a normal one.”

(c) Murree.—The following gives the monthly snowfall at Murree and on the hills adjacent to Kahuta :

	Murree.	Kahuta.
	Ft. in.	Ft. in.
January 1889.	4 9	2 6
February	2 6	1 9
March	Nil	Nil
April	Nil	Nil

(d) Kangra and Kulu.—The Assistant Commissioner, Kulu, reports an extraordinary fall of snow in the autumn months, as was the case in Lahoul.

There was also an exceptionally heavy fall of snow between January 30th and February and.

The following are the reported depths of snow at the end of each month on the chief passes in the Kulu and Plach districts:

Kulu District.

The Assistant Commissioner is of opinion that last year's figures were exaggerated, as the snowfall of the past winter was very much heavier than that of the winter before. Snowfall is said to be heavier and later than has been known for many years. It may be taken that the snow is deeper on the high ranges and will probably lie longer this year than it has for several years past. All over Kulu, Plach, and Lahoul there had been an unusually large quantity of snow during the winter.

II.—NORTH-WESTERN PROVINCES HIMALAYAS.

Neither at Naini Tal nor at Mussoorie does there appear to have been any snow of importance.

III.—ASSAM HIMALAYAS.

(a) The Deputy Commissioner, Kamrup District, writes that from enquiries made during his (the Deputy Commissioner's) visit to Dewangiri he is of opinion that the fall of rain and of snow was much less during the past year than during preceding years.

(b) The Deputy Commissioner, Darrang, writes: "On making enquiries during the winter from the different hill tribes, &c., it appears that the snowfall was less this year than last"

On the Koriapara side "the snowfall in the hills appears this year to have been normal."

"The Bhutias explained that their late arrival is due to the extra quantity of snow that had fallen in December and January, but it is doubtful to what extent their statements are trustworthy. They were in want of an explanation for their late arrival, and gave this as their reason for the same."

Abnormal features of pressure in India during the past four months.—In January the pressure variations were small, comprising a slight excess over the Punjab and the Peninsula and a deficiency elsewhere. In February they were even smaller than in January, hardly exceeding 0.02" in any part of India. They were in addition very irregularly distributed. In March the pressure variations assumed a more distinct distribution, though they remained generally small. They showed that a deficiency of pressure existed over Burma and the greater part of Bengal, and an excess over Behar, the North-Western Provinces, and the Punjab. In the south of the Peninsula, both on the west and east sides, there was also a slight deficiency, while the Deccan, the whole of the Central parts of the country, Sind, and Rajputana participated in the excess noticed over Upper India. The greatest excess was in Central India. In April approximately the same distribution of the abnormals obtained. There was again a slight deficiency over Burma, Bengal, and the south of the Peninsula, and an excess over the Central parts of the country and in Upper India. In Sind, however, a change had occurred, and the excess of the preceding month had been replaced by a deficiency. The barometric anomalies for the first half of May show two important changes. In Burma pressure has become excessive, while in the North-Western Provinces the excess, which has been maintained since the commencement of the year, has given way and been replaced by a considerable deficiency. At the same time the deficiency, which has prevailed over Bengal all the year, has intensified considerably. An excess of pressure is reported from the Punjab, Sind, Rajputana, the whole of the Central parts of the country, and the north and east of the Peninsula. In the southwest from Goa southward to Madura and Colombo there is a slight deficiency.

Summarising this information, it appears that there has been an excess of snow over a limited area of the mountain range to the north of the Punjab and an excess of pressure over the Punjab, Rajputana, the Central parts of the country, and the north of the Peninsula; deficient or not more than normal snowfall over the mountain ranges to the west of the Indus, as well as over the whole of the Himalaya range from the North-Western Provinces eastward to Assam; and a deficiency of pressure in Assam, Bengal, a portion of the North-Western Provinces, and in the south of the Peninsula.

Premising that a heavy snowfall and high average pressure are not conducive to the proper extension of the monsoon current, it would appear that in the Punjab and Rajputana there is a probability of the rainfall being scanty; that over the Central parts of the country and the north of the Peninsula the monsoon rainfall will be normal or slightly below the normal, with a tendency to scantiness in Central India, Khandeish, and the Bombay Deccan.

Premising that a slight snowfall and low average pressure are conducive to rainfall, it would appear that the monsoon rainfall will be heavy in Assam, Bengal, the greater part of the North-Western Provinces—more particularly along the foot of the hills—and the south-west of the Peninsula.

So far as the land observations are concerned, there is very little that would lead to the supposition that the "bursting" of the monsoon would be delayed on either side of India; but for some days antecedent to the present date pressure has apparently been abnormally high over the Bay, and this may be an indication of a delay in the establishment of the monsoon current over Bengal. The high pressures which now obtain in Burma would seem to indicate that there will be a strong set of the monsoon towards Orissa and the north-east angle of the Bay.

Briefly, the indications are in favour of—

A good monsoon rainfall over North-Eastern India, including Upper Burma, Assam, Bengal, and the greater part of the North-Western Provinces, and also over the south-west and west of the Peninsula.

A normal or slightly deficient (more particularly in Central India, Khandeish, and the Bombay Deccan) monsoon rainfall over the Central parts of the country and the north of the Peninsula.

A deficient rainfall in the Punjab and parts of Rajputana.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weather Review of India for the week ending 8 a.m. on Monday, June 3rd, 1889.

The weather has been less unsettled than it was last week, and conditions have been generally more normal. The distribution of pressure has on the whole been such as is characteristic of the period preceding the appearance of the monsoon current; and the relative coolness which was so remarkable last week has disappeared and been succeeded by a period of somewhat excessive heat. At the close of the week a remarkable storm appeared on the West Coast and ushered in the monsoon to that region with considerable violence. Previous to the appearance of this storm incursions of monsoon winds had occurred over Southern India, but the current had on each occasion retreated again to the southward, and what is popularly described as the "burst" of the monsoon on the West Coast followed in the wake of the above mentioned storm.

The Chart of the 28th showed that the barometer was falling everywhere—briskly in Sind. Pressure was highest on the West Coast, with relatively low readings over Sind on the one hand and the Central and North-Western Provinces on the other, with an intervening shoulder of relatively high pressure over Rajputana and Central India. On the following day there was comparatively little alteration in the general distribution of pressure, though both low pressure areas had to a limited extent filled up, and readings were more uniform. On the South-West Coast there was a considerable deficiency of pressure when compared with the normal. On the 30th another general barometric fall was reported. The change was greatest in the Northern and Central parts of the country, and there was hence an increase in the steepness of the barometric gradients. The area of relatively low pressure off the South-West Coast was even more marked than on the previous day. The depression was apparently travelling north-westward up the Coast. On the 31st the barometer had risen on the West Coast, while it had fallen elsewhere—briskly in the north—and the general distribution approximated fairly closely to the normal. The relative depression of the South-West Coast was less defined than on the two preceding days. On the 1st, while the general conditions were such as are normally experienced at this season, the observations around the Bay and from the Malabar Coast gave indications of unsettled conditions in both those regions. On the following day, the 2nd, the observations showed that a feeble depression had developed over the Bay, off the Madras Coast, and that a more important depression was approaching the Bombay Coast from the Arabian Sea. On the 3rd the Madras disturbance was no longer observable as a distinct depression; but the storm on the West Coast had become more defined and was causing a rapid fall of the barometer at Bombay and Ratnagiri.

Winds.—On the 27th an exceptionally strong northerly component was shown in the winds over Rajputana, the Central parts of the country, Khandeish, and the North Konkan, but as pressure fell in the north and increased in the south of India, the winds over the greater part of the country assumed the normal directions, blowing from the westward over the Central districts, from south over the Bay and Lower Bengal, from east in Assam and North Bengal, and from north-west down the Gangetic plain. On the West Coast the wind was steadily from the south-eastward or eastward—a direction due to the indraught towards the depression off that Coast.

Temperature—As noticed above, the past week has been one of generally excessive temperature. The increase of heat which was in progress almost everywhere at the close of the preceding week was maintained and the mean average temperature of the different Provinces continued to increase as the week advanced. The maximum temperature of the week was 123°5', recorded at Jacobabad on June 1st. The following table shows the excess or defect of the mean average temperature of the different Provinces and the change which has taken place since the preceding week :

Provinces.	Difference of mean temperature of week from normal.	Rise or fall since preceding week.
Burma	+ 3.6°	+ 1.8
Bengal	+ 3.3°	+ 5.5
North-Western Provinces	+ 2.8°	+ 9.1
Punjab	+ 2.0°	+ 6.4
Bombay	+ 2.0°	+ 1.5
Central Provinces and Berar	+ 4.0°	+ 8.3
Guzerat, Central India	+ 5.0°	+ 9.5
Sind and Rajputana	+ 3.7°	+ 6.5
Madras	+ 1.2°	— 1.0

From this it will be seen that there has been a rise of from 8° to 9° in the mean average temperature over the North-Western Provinces, the Central Provinces, Berar, Guzerat, and Central India.

Rain.—Except in parts of the Peninsula and in Burma and Assam, where it has fallen daily, rain has been less general and less heavy than it was last week. Showers were reported from the Deccan, the north of the Punjab, Lower Bengal, and Orissa on the 28th; from Lower Bengal and Orissa on the 29th; from Lower Bengal and the Circars on the 30th; from the Deccan on the 31st and 1st; and from the Circars, North Bengal, Khandwa, and Amraoti on the 3rd. These falls were however generally light showers, accompanying in many cases thunder or dust storms; and the only regions where there was heavy or continuous rain are the Provinces noted above.

Of the fifty-one rainfall divisions, seven report no rain; in eight divisions there was an excess; and in the remainder, a deficiency. The only important excess is in Assam, where the Southern Valley has received 6½ inches and the Northern Valley 2½ inches more than usual. In the divisions in other parts of India which report an excess the amount of the excess is generally under ½ inch. The greatest absolute defect is reported from Burma; but, relatively to the average, the greatest deficiency is in the North-Western and Central divisions of India:

Eastern, Deltaic, and Central Bengal have received much less than the usual amount, while in North Bengal there has been a slight excess. Orissa, Chota Nagpur, and the whole of Behar have received hardly any rain; and the North-Western Provinces and Oudh were practically rainless. The Punjab had showers in all except the hill districts; and in the submontane districts the small normal rainfall was slightly exceeded.

Malabar and Mysore received slightly more than the average rainfall; but in the other divisions in the west of the Peninsula the rainfall was short—largely so in Coorg. All over the Central parts of the country nothing more than a few slight showers are reported; and the same is true of Bombay (North), Rajputana, and Central India. On the East Coast all the divisions, except the south, report deficient rains.

The column giving the state of the seasonal rainfall shows that up to the present date the rainfall has been rather largely deficient throughout the greater part of Burma—excessive in Assam, but deficient over the whole of the Bengal Presidency, except Orissa. In the east of the North-Western Provinces and in Oudh there has been a local excess; but in other divisions within these Provinces, the rainfall, like that of Bengal, has been decidedly deficient. In the Punjab on the contrary, except in the hill districts, the rainfall up to date has been exceptionally heavy. All over the Peninsula and the Central parts of the country the rainfall is, so far, largely deficient; but in Guzerat, Kattiawar, the east of Rajputana, and the west of Central India there is a large excess—the result of the heavy rain of last week.

In the returns of maximum falls within the districts there are very few amounts of any importance—a condition which was to be expected in face of the generally deficient averages. In Burma there are no falls requiring notice, but in Assam the amounts are larger: Cherrapunji received 37½ inches, and Sibsagar and Goalpara 7 inches. North Bengal received fairly large amounts, Cooch Behar reporting 9 inches and Alipore (in Jalpaiguri) 8½ inches. In no other part of Bengal were there any large amounts. In Upper India no station reports one inch of rain. In the south-west of the Peninsula the heaviest amounts vary between 10 and 13 inches.

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 1st June.—No rain in Madras; good on West Coast and Nilgiris, Trichinopoly, and Tanjore; fair in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Bellary, North Arcot, and Salem; and slight elsewhere. Crops generally good, but withering in parts of Cuddapah, Anantapur, Chingleput, and South Arcot; affected also from want of water in Vizagapatam, North Arcot, and Coimbatore. Gingelly blighted in Vizagapatam. Water-supply scarce in Ganjam; insufficient in Vizagapatam, Nellore, and Tinnevely. Stock suffering very badly, chiefly from rinderpest, in Malabar, and badly in Trichinopoly, Tanjore, and Anantapur. Prices rising in eleven districts, falling in four, and stationary in others. Prices of rice and ragi risen in Ganjam. 1,452 deaths from cholera in Ganjam. Labourers employed last day of week—on Rushikulya works, 5,408; Gopalpore Canal, 5,394; Ghat Roads, 1,267; average daily number on drinking-water tanks and wells, 3,694; on minor irrigation works, 2,268. General prospects favourable, except in Ganjam.

Bombay.—For week ending 5th June.—Rain in Deccan and Southern Mahratta Country and in parts of Karachi, Shikarpur, Nasik, Colaba, and Ratnagiri. Preparations for next season's crops progressing generally. Sowing commenced in Ahmedabad, Colaba, Ratnagiri, and Poona, and continues in Belgaum and Kanara. Fodder scarce in parts of Nasik, Thana, Poona, Ahmednagar, Dharwar, Kathiawar, and Baroda. Drinking-water scarce in parts of Nasik, Thana, Sholapur, and Dharwar.

Bengal.—For week ending 4th June.—Moderate rain has fallen in East and North Bengal and in parts of South-West Bengal, and also in the Bhagalpur district. Agricultural prospects have slightly improved in consequence of this rain and the general rain reported last week. More rain is still generally wanted, and in some places the cultivation is retarded and the newly sown aus and jute crops are suffering. Sugarcane and indigo are better, but are also in want of more rain in places. The spring rice harvest is nearly over, and the reaping of the cheena crop in Behar continues. No material improvement in the prices of food-grains, which continue to be high throughout the Province. Concerning the distress in the Patna division, the latest report shows that the pressure is being felt beyond the limits of the affected tracts, and that the number of persons employed on relief works is increasing. The attendance on relief works in the Sonthal Parganahs is said to have fallen off considerably.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 5th June.—No rain. Weather very hot. Harvesting nearly over. Sugarcane, indigo, and extra crops being irrigated. Markets well supplied. Prices fluctuating. Condition of cattle good.

Punjab.—For week ending 5th June.—Slight rainfall in several districts. Prices falling in Sialkote and Shahpur, unsettled in Peshawar, and stationary elsewhere. Threshing operations nearly completed, and ploughing for and sowing of kharif crops still in progress. Cotton and sugarcane crops progressing favourably. Outturn is reported poor from Amritsar, average from Lahore, and good from Rawalpindi. Stock cattle are reported healthy. Pasturage or fodder sufficient throughout the Province.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 5th June.—Weather cloudy and hot, with slight rain in Sambalpore. Ground being prepared for autumn sowings. Early rice sowings commenced in Sambalpore. Scarcity of water in almost all districts. 400 cattle are reported to have died from scarcity of water and fodder in the Khandwa tahsil.

Burma.—For week ending 1st June—Rain fell in all districts, except Minbu and Yamethin in Upper Burma. Ploughing has commenced in some districts. Cattle-disease is reported to be severe in Shwegyin district. The price of paddy has risen 11 per cent. in Sandoway. Elsewhere there are no marked fluctuations. The food-supply is sufficient, except in Mawteik in Myodoung; but even there scarcity is not likely to become serious.

Assam.—For week ending 5th June—Weather seasonable. Rainfall sufficient. Ploughing for winter rice continues. Prospects of tea and other crops generally good.

Myso-re and Coorg.—For week ending 5th June—Light rain in Civil and Military Station of Bangalore. Rain reported throughout the State. Standing crops good. Sowing continues in parts. ADMINISTRATION REPORT OF THE INDO-EUROPEAN TELEGRAPH DEPARTMENT
FOR THE YEAR 1887-88.

No. 142T., dated Simla, the 27th May, 1889.

RESOLUTION—By the Government of India, Public Works Department.

Read—

Letter from the Officiating Director-General of Telegraphs, No. 31E., dated the 8th April, 1889, and its enclosure, the Report for 1887-88.

OBSERVATIONS.—The Capital Account of the Indo-European Telegraph Department was increased by £3,783 during the year 1887-88. This raised the total Capital to £1,128,160.

2. The receipts for the last three years have been—

1885-86	101,928
1886-87	100,380
1887-88	99,234

The first of these years was an exceptional one on account of the Afghan Boundary Commission. The falling off in the year under review is partly attributed to the reduced rates of the Berlin Convention having been in force for the whole year, whereas they were only in force for 9 months in 1886-87, and partly to depression of trade.

3. The working expenses of the year were £83,530, and the net revenue was £15,704. In the previous year, the department worked at a profit of £13,827 and in 1884-85 at a profit of £30,502.

4. The working expenses of the last three years have been as follows:—

YEAR.	REPAIRS.		Cable Steamer.	Miscellaneous.	Establishment.	Tools and Plant.	TOTAL.
	Ordinary.	Extra-ordinary.
	R	R	R	R	R	R	R
1885-86 .	1,28,024	7,63,693	1,32,686	19,765	5,29,243	46,663	16,20,074
1886-87 .	1,75,888	778	1,09,944	14,487	5,30,488	33,944	8,65,529
1887-88 .	1,21,538	...	1,13,660	36,299	5,18,865	44,944	8,35,306

The expenditure of 1885-86 was abnormally large on account of renewal of cables. The decrease in 1887-88 as compared with the previous year would have been greater but for an exceptional item of £2,129 paid for presents made to His Imperial Majesty the Shah of Persia and to some of his Ministers on the occasion of the renewal of the Convention.

5. The traffic transmitted during the year was again smaller both in number of messages and of words than in the previous one. The average length of commercial messages remains practically unaltered, but is slightly greater than in previous years.

6. The new cables in the Persian Gulf which were laid in 1885 and 1886 are in excellent order, but the older India-rubber cables are in a very weak condition. The total interruptions on the route during the year were very slight on the Indo-European lines between Karachi and Teheran, being only some 18 hours in duration, but there were serious and prolonged interruptions on the lines of the Indo-European Company extending from Teheran to England which lasted more than 66 days in the aggregate.

7. The speed of transmission of the three routes between England and Calcutta has been—

					Via. Teheran. H. M.	Via. Turkey. H. M.	Via. Suez. H. M.
1887-88	1 11	16 11	2 42
1886-87	1 31	13 23	2 31

The errors in the transmission of messages were 0.23 per cent. of the words transmitted.

8. The Indo-European Telegraph Department was under the charge of Major-General Sir R. M. Smith, K.C.M.G., as Director-in-Chief, during the greater part of the year under review: he retired in February 1888, when the appointment of Director-in-Chief was abolished and the charge of the Department was made over to the Director General of the Telegraphs of India.

9. The report was not received by the Government of India until the 9th April 1889. This date is considerably later than that on which the report of the previous year was received, but the Government is aware that the transfer of the Indo-European Telegraph Department (which formerly had a Director-in-Chief and Assistants of its own) to the Indian Telegraph Department entailed a considerable increase in the ordinary current work and also necessitated a study of the working of a Department, with the details of which the Director-General was quite unacquainted, and the examination of past records, most of which were not available for some time after the transfer. In addition to these facts, further delay was caused by the absence of the Director-General of Telegraphs from the 20th October 1888 to 21st February 1889, under the orders of the Government of India, on a tour of inspection of the Persian and Indo-European Department lines, an inspection which has, no doubt, rendered his report more useful than it would have been had it been prepared before he had obtained a personal knowledge of the general state of the communications and of the personnel employed. Whilst, therefore, noticing the fact of the late date at which this report has been submitted, the Government of India has no intention of imputing blame on this account to the Director-General.

ORDER.—Ordered, that a copy of this Resolution be forwarded to the Director General of Telegraphs for information and guidance.

Also that copies of the Report and Resolution be forwarded to the Department of Finance and Commerce and the Home Department for information.

Also to the Government of Bombay for information.

Ordered further, that the Report and the Resolution be forwarded to the Secretary of State for the information of Her Majesty's Government, and published in the Gazette of India.

R. C. B. PEMBERTON, Colonel, R.E.,
Secretary to the Government of India.

ADMINISTRATION REPORT

OF THE

FOR

1887-88.

CAPITAL.

The Capital of the Department was but slightly altered during 1887-88, the debits and credits were chiefly in adjustment of suspense items (stores advances, &c.,) and resulted in an increase of £3,783-3-7 to Capital account, which, on the 31st March 1888, stood at £1,128,159-11-9. (Appendix A.)

REVENUE.

2. B. Revenue Account.—The Receipts in 1887-88 reached the satisfactory total of £99,234-7-5. The slight decrease of £1,147, compared with the previous year, is attributable partly to a partial falling off in traffic from depression of trade, and partly to the circumstance that the whole of the traffic during 1887-88 was carried at the reduced rates of the Berlin Convention, while in the previous year only nine months' traffic was so carried. In addition to the receipts brought to account the Patrick Stewart earned on account of work performed for other Departments £289-6-0.

3. The Expenditure for 1887-88, Appendix B, was £83,530-12-2, showing a decrease compared with the previous year of £3,022, thus arrived at—

	Increase.	Decrease.
Repairs	5.513
Establishment	1,757
Tools and Plant	1,207	...
Presentation Stores	2,129	...
Cable Steamer	372	...
Chief Direction, London and Constantinople Offices .	594	...
Advertizing and Agencies—(share of)	38	...
* Royalty for Brown-Allan relays	100
Stores	54	...
Stationery	46
	£4,394—	£7,416
	NET DECREASE . £3,022

The chief item of increase, £2,129, is a special charge. It represents the value of presents made to His Imperial Majesty the Shah of Persia and to some of his ministers on the renewal of the Convention, by which the British Government is allowed to maintain a telegraph line in his dominions.

4. The result of the working for 1887-88 was a balance to credit of £15,704, or £1,876 better than in the previous year, representing a profit of about 1½%.

* The decrease of £100 Royalty for relays is only apparent, the regular payment is £300 a year, but three half-yearly bills were paid in the preceding year.

TOTAL INTERRUPTIONS—(APPENDIX C.)

5. The Indo-European route suffered very severely from total interruption in 1887-88, the aggregate during the year being 67½ days, compared with 7½ days in 1886-87 and 34½ in 1885-86. Of the aggregate of 67½ days, less than 1 day is chargeable against the Persian and Persian Gulf Sections of the Indian Government, the whole of the remainder having occurred on the section worked by the Indo-European Company. The Company had total interruptions of an ordinary kind, lasting a day or two, in May and December, and an extraordinary interruption which commenced at the end of January, and was not repaired by the end of the official year. The sub-marine wires leased by the Company, one in Reuter's Cable, and one in the German Union Company's Cable, were both broken and remained unrepaired during this almost unprecedented length of time, apparently from defective repairing clauses in the Company's leases.

6. This total interruption would have cost Government the loss of upwards of two months' receipts, had it not been for the Common Purse arrangement, under the terms of which there was a loss of £2,226 on Indian messages, and a "set-off" of £1,963* on trans-Indian messages, making the net loss £263 only.

7. The Turkish route had an opportunity of replacing to some extent the Indo European Company's broken section, but its service remained entirely unequal to the task. The Turkish route was totally interrupted 59 days 3 hours 29 minutes in 1887-88, against an aggregate of 108 days 4 hours in the preceding year. For the interruptions via Turkey (excluding days of grace), the Department had to pay £32-12-3 to the Eastern Company, and £12-1-3 to the Indo-European Company, under the Common Purse arrangement.

PARTIAL INTERRUPTIONS NOT STOPPING TRAFFIC.

8. By a partial interruption is meant an interruption of one or more wires on a circuit which has still an available line or lines left for communication. The partial interruptions in the Persian Gulf amounted to 265 days on the cables and 15 days on the land line. The partial interruptions in Persia amounted to 342 hours, of which 106 hours were due to wilful damage.

TRAFFIC.

9. The Regulations and Tariffs of the Berlin Convention remained in force during 1887-88.

10. The paid telegrams and words carried by the Department were—

		1887-88.		1886-87.
		Telegrams.	Words.	Telegrams.	Words.
Government	.	2,514	90,238	2,916	118,558
Commercial and Private	.	78,850	1,050,757	86,462	1,124,074
Press at reduced rates	{	1,079	52,572	1,355	121,566
	.	97	73,282

There was thus a slight falling off in Government and Commercial telegrams, and a very slight increase in the number of words in cheap press telegrams.

11. The average length of Commercial telegrams was 13.326, or a trifle higher than for several years preceding, when it fluctuated between 12 and 13 words, indicating that the art of codification remained stationary in 1887-88.

* The interruption percentages being higher than the normal percentages for Far East traffic.

SPEED OF TRANSMISSION.

12. The average speed of transmission by each of the three routes from England to Calcutta during the year 1887-88, was—

	Via Teheran.		Via Turkey.		Via Suez.
	H.	M.	H.	M.	H.	M.
	1	11	16	11	2	42
In 1886-87 it was	1	31	13	23	2	31

From England to Karachi the comparative average speed of transmission was as follows :—

	Via Teheran.		Via Turkey.
	H.	M.	H.	M.
In 1886-87	1	05	10	45
In 1887-88	0	55	14	54

13. The average speed of homeward messages via Teheran was about the same as of outward. In the two months of August and October, the average was only 57 and 56 minutes, respectively, from Calcutta, and 50 and 40 minutes from Karachi. As these are the first instances of monthly averages under the hour since the establishment of telegraphic communication between England and India, the fact appears deserving of notice.

Appendix D shows the monthly mean rate of transmission by the two Sections between Karachi and Teheran. From Karachi to Teheran, 11 minutes 42 seconds, and from Teheran to Karachi 12 minutes 40 seconds. If the two exceptional months of bad working—in December and January—are excluded, the average during the remaining ten months is 9 minutes 7 seconds and 11 minutes 10 seconds, respectively.

Appendix E gives the rate of transmission from the United Kingdom via Teheran to Karachi, and compares favourably with that of the previous year.

Via Turkey.—The rate continues unsatisfactory, and there were numerous interruptions reported between Fao and Bagdad, and judging from the frequent receipt of messages by the Bashkali line, many stoppages were apparent on the Bagdad-Diarbekir Section.

CHECK OF ERRORS.

14. Fifty per cent. of the messages passing between Teheran and Karachi were examined for errors, and it was found that 99·770 per cent. of the total number of words were transmitted correctly, as against 99·614 in the previous year.

RECTIFYING MESSAGES AND PUBLIC COMPLAINTS.

15. There were fewer rectifying messages in 1887-88 than in the previous year, the decrease being evidence of an improvement in accuracy. The number of public complaints in proportion to volume or traffic was about the same. The figures are—

	1887-88.	1886-87.
Rectifying messages	1,464	1,709
Public complaints (through London Office)	64	65

TRANSFERRED TRAFFIC.

16. In consequence of the serious interruptions of the Indo-European route (Company's Section, spoken of under paragraph 5) the Indo-European Company transferred 2,960 messages to the Eastern Company in London in 1887-88. The number transferred from the Eastern to the Indo-European route was 4 only.

SPECIAL WIRES, ADVERTIZING AND AGENCIES.

17. There was a decrease in the traffic between India and Liverpool, and a slight fluctuation in that with Manchester, by the special wires of the Indo-European route. The figures are—

	Liverpool Messages.	Manchester. Messages.
To	2,218	3,853
From	1,520	2,044
Total, 1887-88	3,738	5,897
„ 1886-87	4,698	6,039
„ 1885-86	6,202	6,237

18. Notice was given to the Indo-European Telegraph Company that the departmental contribution towards the expense of the special wires, advertising, and agencies in England, would cease from 31st December 1887.

CREDIT SYSTEM IN ENGLAND.

19. Eleven firms in Great Britain were added to the credit list of the Indo-European Company in 1887-88, and it is to be noted that the Department shares with the Company, under certain defined conditions, the risk of bad debts on this account.

GENERAL TRAFFIC ARRANGEMENTS.

20. An arrangement made in 1886-87, under which, during partial interruptions on the Indo-European route, outward traffic gives way to homeward after 2-30 P.M., Greenwich time, appears to have worked satisfactorily during 1887-88.

COMMON PURSE.

21. The reduction of tariff in 1886-87 by about 13 per cent. sensibly affected the total receipts of the Common Purse, as shown in the report for that year and in the subjoined table. The effect of the reduction was also felt throughout 1887-88, but an improvement took place in Far East traffic, raising the total of the Purse from £545,553 in the first-named year to £551,431 in the latter year.

22. The following table exhibits the growth and fluctuation of the Common Purse from the time the Department joined it:—

24. The following table exhibits the yearly amounts paid into and received from the Common Purse by the Department. The result of the 10 years' working is that the Department has paid in £756,757 and received £754,815. The approximation of these large aggregates is somewhat remarkable, and affords evidence of the care taken in negotiating the intricate terms of the Common Purse arrangement :—

COMMON PURSE ACCOUNTS—Checking of—

26. The usual test check was applied to the traffic accounts of the Eastern Telegraph Company with the usual result ; no error was detected.

27. The Indo-European Company's Common Purse accounts for the month of August were checked throughout. About 25 errors of detail were discovered : —

The under-credit will be paid into the Purse.

SETTLEMENTS.

28. The settlements with India were effected at the market values of the monthly franc balances; the average rate for the year being 169'18d per rupee. The exchange between francs and sterling was 25'21 per £ for the year.

29. The local collections of the Persian Section were adjusted at the rate 1 franc=26 Shahis, and credit to the Government of India at 255 krans=100 rupees.

30. The settlements with Turkey and the Companies were, as usual, at the rate of 25 francs=£1.

In addition to the above there are two other cables laid in the Karachi Harbour,—one for the Defence-works, 10'006 knots long, and the other for the Port Department, length 4'15 knots.

ELECTRICAL CONDITION OF THE CABLES.—Appendix G.

The insulation of the Fao-Bushire cable remains low owing to the occurrence in November 1886 of a small fault of high resistance which does not interfere with the working of the circuit.

The low insulation of the Bushire-Jask new gutta-percha cable is also due to the presence of a small fault which does not affect the working.

In February 1888, a partial fault* (not affecting the working) developed in the Bushire-Jask india-rubber cable. Owing to its variable resistance, this fault was not localised until after the return of the ship to Karachi.

* Cut out in May.

FAULTS AND INTERRUPTIONS.—Appendix H.

During the past year, thirteen faults have been removed. Of these, two faults stood over for repair from the previous year. In addition to the above there were on 1st April four faults still remaining. Of these, one fault in the Gwadar-Manora Section and one in the Bushire-Jask india-rubber Section will be cut out on the first opportunity, leaving two faults, one in the Bushire-Jask new gutta-percha cable, and one in the Fao-Bushire Section, which have not yet been localised, owing to their high resistance.

One circuit between Karachi and Bushire was available throughout the year, except for seven hours on 22nd February last, during the repair of the Bushire-Jask new gutta-percha cable. The second circuit was available except for 51 days 19 hours, whilst the india-rubber cable between Bushire and Jask was interrupted.

Statement B shows all faults, repairs and renewals to the cables, whereas Statement C shows only the total interruptions in this section affecting communication with Europe, viz. —

MAINTENANCE AND REPAIRS.

The Engineering establishment were absent from Karachi on repairing duty 162 days. Whilst carrying out the various repairs it was found that out of the 107 miles of cable disturbed—

60% had to be left on the ground owing to the india-rubber being too weak to bear lifting, and the gutta-percha cable being buried ;

25% has been stripped for the core :

14% was found good enough to be relaid after repairs, and 1% consisting of short pieces has been sold.

EXPENDITURE OF CABLE AND CABLE IN STOCK.—Appendix I.

106·566 knots of cable have been expended during the past year in making thirteen repairs, giving 8·20 knots as the average per repair. This includes two large repairs or rather renewals of 17·30 and 16·40 knots in the Jask-Gwadar cable, and one renewal of 29·77 knots in the india-rubber cable.

The cable in the Manora tanks kept ready for repairs on 1st April 1888 amounted to 73'524 knots.

SUMMARY OF THE HISTORY OF THE CABLES DURING 1887-88.

Fao-Bushire Cable.

Since this Section was renewed in July 1886, no total interruption has occurred.

In November 1886, whilst removing a partial fault (due to manufacture), a second defect was found to exist in this Section. Its resistance has, however, remained so high that up to the present the fault has not been localised, but its presence does not in any way interfere with the working Bushire-Jask new gutta-percha cable.

Two partial earth faults have been cut out during the past year, and one partial fault, which occurred in December 1885, still remains in. Of the two faults cut out, only one occurred during the year under review, the other having developed in March of the previous official year.

During the past year this Section was only interrupted for 15 hours whilst repairing two faults.

During the repair of this Section on 22nd February last, owing to the india-rubber cable being interrupted on the same date, a total interruption to traffic occurred, lasting 7 hours.

Jask-Gwadar Cable.

Altogether 6 faults have been cut out of this Section, of which 5 occurred during the past and one during the previous official year. Of these faults, 4 were partial earths (which did not interfere with the working) and 2 were total breaks. One of the partial faults was due to manufacture, the remainder were all caused by the corrosion of guards and fish-bites.

This Section was interrupted for 167 days 14 hours, of which 120 days 4 hours were due to repairs being postponed till after the monsoon.

Gwadar-Manora Cable.

Two faults were cut out of this section, both total breaks, due to the corrosion of the guards. A third fault (partial earth, not affecting the working) occurred on 4th January, about $9\frac{1}{2}$ miles from Manora. This fault has not yet been repaired, though an attempt was made in March last, which owing to the heavy swell had to be abandoned.

This Section was interrupted for 136 days 10 hours; of which 131 days 11 hours were due to the repairs being postponed until after the monsoon.

Bushire-Jask Old Gutta-percha Cable.

In November 1885, when this section was abandoned as a working circuit, its length was 507·67 knots—

Up to 31st March 1887 total amount recovered was	121·78 knots.
And the amount left on ground as unrecoverable was	18·89 "
Thus leaving at the beginning of 1887-88 to be recovered	367·00 "
During 1887-88 we have recovered	98·50 "
And left on ground as unrecoverable	39·00 "
Leaving at end of year to be recovered	229 50 "

Allowing, say, 30 per cent. as unrecoverable, we may, I think, expect to recover another 160 miles of cable.

Of the 98·50 knots recovered during the past year, 35 knots were good enough to be relaid after repair. Five knots were kept for sale and the remainder stripped for the core to be remade into cable.

Harbour Cables.

Since the renewals last year no faults have occurred in these cables.

A small fault of high resistance was cut out from the lead-covered wire laid last year for the Military Department between Batteries Nos I and II. The fault looked as if it had been made.

Since the new cable for the Military Department was laid between Baba Island and Battery No. III, the site of No. III Battery has been changed, thus necessitating a corresponding alteration in cable.*

CABLE HOUSES AND LAND LINES.

All cable-houses and cable land-lines at the various stations are in good order.

The Bushire cable land-lines have been strengthened by the erection of a double line of posts, which have been bolted together as was previously done at Jask.

MECHANICAL CONDITION OF THE CABLES.

The Fao-Bushire Section (which was renewed in July 1886) and the Bushire-Jask new gutta-percha cable, which was laid in November 1885, are both in excellent mechanical condition.

The Bushire-Jask india-rubber cable (laid in 1869) is now 19 years old, and is in a very weak condition. During the past year a large renewal of nearly 30 miles, extending eastward from Big Tamb Island, was made in this section, thus cutting out some very bad cable.

The Jask-Gwadar Cable is in better condition than the india-rubber cable. Off Charbar, however, when making repairs in December 1887, the cable was found very weak, and a long renewal of over 16 miles was made. Nearer Gwadar (off Ras Jeyuni and Ras Ganz), a renewal of upwards of 17 miles was made, but this was due to the cable being buried in that locality. A further renewal of about 12 miles is proposed between this and Gwadar.

The Gwadar-Manora Section is in about the same condition as the Jask-Gwadar Cable. In October 1887, during two repairs, nearly 12 miles of cable were renewed, and another renewal of about 15 miles remains to be made near the same spot.

Although the Patrick Stewart made eight voyages during the past official year (same as in 1886-87), only 12 repairs were made as against 23 during the previous year. Whilst the number of faults were 15 and 26 respectively. This in a great measure accounts for the renewals being much less anticipated.

Owing, too, to the ship not having occasion to go beyond Jask as frequently as before, the amount of old gutta-percha cable recovered has been less.

In addition to the above statements, I add two others—(a) Statement F, shewing the total number of faults which have occurred in our cables up to date, and (b) Statement G, showing the amount of cable undisturbed up to date.

MEKRAN COAST LINES.

The corrected lengths of these lines at the close of the year under report were as follows:—

	Miles of line.	Miles of wire.
Karachi to Sonmeanee Branch	48.75	97.50
Sonmeanee Branch	2.00	2.00

MAINTENANCE AND REPAIRS TO LAND-LINE.

In the Gwadar Division 35.5 miles of wire were renewed during the year, the right wire was fitted with 1,094 fluid and 88 Schomberg insulators. At the Shadi Kaur River near Pusnee, new iron compound masts, each 60 feet long, were erected, and near Gwadar a short diversion of 2½ miles was made.

In the Gwadar-Jask Division, an iron cylinder, 36 feet long, 4 feet 9 inches diameter (built up in sections), was sunk in the middle of the Rapch River. In this a post was erected and the span wires placed on it. Also a compound mast, 42 feet long, was erected on the west bank of the Sharhno in place of an old telescopic mast.

The right wire for 201½ miles has been thoroughly overhauled, 90 miles of new wire has been inserted; the whole of the original joints, numbering 4,007, have been cut out and replaced by 1,590 of the Britannia form.

The insulation of the left wire throughout to Jask with fluid insulators was completed this year, 96 miles being the length finished.

INTERRUPTIONS.

On the Mekran Coast line two interruptions affecting both wires occurred. One was on the 7th October and lasted 15 hours 15 minutes, caused through corrosion of the wires, and the other on the 11th February, when a post was blown over near the Dasht river; this lasted 20 hours 30 minutes. During these interruptions the Karachi-Gwadar Cable was working.

Partial interruptions, not affecting communication, were 18 in number, and aggregated 18 days 21 hours 57 minutes as noted below. They were, with two exceptions, caused through the wire breaking through corrosion; but much of this corroded wire has now been removed.—

CABLE STEAMER "PATRICK STEWART."

This ship, although the property of the Telegraph Department, was on the list of the Indian Marine until the 31st May 1887.

She was placed entirely under the orders of the Director-in-Chief of the Indo-European Department on the 1st June 1887, but her officers were not relieved until some months later.

Captain Tindall and Mr. Townsend, her present Commander and First Officer, who arrived in India on the 17th October and 24th November 1887, respectively, were both appointed under covenant by the Secretary of State, and both were selected for their experience in cable ships.

The usual tabular statement shewing the work done by the steamer is forwarded in Appendix J. She made eight trips during the year and steamed about 10,500 miles.

The value of work done for other Departments by the steamer amounted to Rs. 2,892-14-2.

PERSIAN TELEGRAPHS.LINE MAINTENANCE AND REPAIRS.

Of the 3 wires on the Persian line, that used by the Persian Administration is called No. 1, the one principally used for International traffic No. 2, and No. 3 was only used for Departmental messages up to April 1887, since which time it has carried International traffic for only 6 hours a day, consequently more attention has been paid to the maintenance of No. 2 than of No. 3 wire.

No. 2 wire was, during the autumn of 1887, re-insulated with Johnson and Philip's patent fluid insulators for 159½, out of 176, miles of line, near Teheran, which passes over a desert country, the soil of which is impregnated with saline matter. The damp exhalations arising from this saline desert in winter time cause very faulty insulation, where insulators of the original iron-hooded pattern are employed, and the re-insulation with the fluid insulators had a beneficial effect; when the traffic increases to such an extent as to require a second circuit to be kept open at night as well as by day, it will be necessary to re-insulate No. 3 wire as well.

On the rest of the line the work executed was of the ordinary nature of repairs, except that in the 4th Section the direction of the line was changed for a distance of 5 miles in order to avoid a small lake and considerable marsh, which had formed directly under the line rendering its inspection difficult.

WILFUL DAMAGE.

There were 48 acts of wilful damage committed during the past year, for which a sum of 3,841 krans was received in compensation from the Persian Government. The greater part of the above sum was paid by the local Governors of districts, and only a balance of 1,770 krans had to be referred to Her Britannic Majesty's Legation and recovered through its agency.

This wilful damage, which principally consists of using iron telegraph poles as a means of testing the "penetration" of a gun before purchase, caused an aggregate interruption of No. 1 wire for 120 hours 31 minutes. The table below shows a comparison of the interruptions caused by wilful damage during the last two years:—

	1 Wire.	2 Wires.	3 Wires.
1886-87	166 15	1'45	Nil.
1887-88	120'31	Nil.	Nil.
DECREASE .	45'44	1'45	Nil.

INTERRUPTIONS.

The line stood well throughout the winter of 1887-88. A single case of interruption, however, did occur in the neighbourhood of Shiraz, and was due to an exceptionally heavy snowfall on the 15th January, which caused a cessation of communication for 8 hours and 58 minutes.

The above was the only total interruption that occurred during the past financial year.

Of all interruptions, total and partial, the following table shows an improvement on 1886-87:—

	1 Wire.	2 Wires.	3 Wires.
1886-87	636'56	129'1	59'23
1887-88	342'32	50'32	8'55
DECREASE .	294'24	78'29	50'28

Working parties caused interruptions thus—

In	1 Wire.	2 Wires.	3 Wires.
1886-87	21'4	'59	Nil.
1887-88	2'58	Nil.	Nil.
DECREASE .	18'6	'59	Nil.

This decrease is due to the fact that the only alteration of the direction of the line undertaken during the past year was where it crossed open country, whereas the change made in 1886-87 was from one side to another of the Pulvar river at its passage through a long and difficult gorge.

Birds caused interruptions thus—

In	1 Wire.	2 Wires.	3 Wires.
1886-87	92'45	Nil.	Nil.
1887-88	5'15	Nil.	Nil.
DECREASE .	87'30	Nil.	Nil.

It was in a great measure to avoid the contacts caused by birds that the direction of the line was changed near "Cyrus's tomb" as mentioned above. Since the change has been made no further trouble has been experienced in respect to such contacts.

Camels caused interruption, thus—

In	1 Wire.	2 Wires.	3 Wires.
1886-87	3'20	10'35	Nil.
1887-88	24 30	Nil.	Nil.
INCREASE .	21'10	10'35	Nil.

The interruptions due to wilful damage have already been specified.

TRAFFIC.

Attached are returns—

I.—Showing the average accuracy.—Appendix I.

II.—Showing the average speed with which messages were transmitted.—Appendix J.

The improvement shown by both returns is remarkable; that as regards speed is mostly due to the use of the second circuit.

The total number of words transmitted over this section during the financial year 1887-88, were 1,184,799, or 196,082 less than the average for the previous three years—a decrease to be accounted for by the fact that the Indo-European Company's lines were interrupted during 63 days in 1887-88.

MESHED LINE.

The line from Teheran to Meshed which, although it forms part of the Persian system of telegraphs, has been maintained and partly worked by the British Government since the 14th December 1885.

This line was interrupted for 1,611 hours 15 minutes during the year, the greater number of interruptions being caused by camels, but one interruption of 213½ hours in August was purposely caused by the followers of Sirdar Ayub Khan when he made his escape from Teheran.

In addition to the expense incurred on account of this line by the British Government, the Persian Minister for Telegraphs gave 6,750 krans for new poles, besides a supply of wire and insulators.

In connection with this line there are now lines open from Meshed to the East as far as Sarakhs and to the West via Kuchan to Bujnurd; and the Persians are also constructing one via Kelat-i-Nadari to Deraghez.

PERSIAN AUTHORITIES.

Our relations with the Persian authorities and inhabitants everywhere are of a very friendly nature. An unfortunate event happened at Shiraz on the 20th of December 1887, but this was not so much a demonstration against the English as a desire on the part of the inhabitants to discredit the Governor who then misruled the province.

On the occasion here referred to, Mr. Smith and his wife, together with a Dutch merchant, agent for Messrs. Hotz and Company, accompanied by servants carrying lanterns, were returning from the telegraph quarters outside Shiraz to the gates of the town, when a volley was fired by some people on the reverse side of the wall that bounds the road; none of the shots took effect, but on Mr. Smith rushing forward to try and capture one of his assailants, his wife received a charge of slugs from a pistol held by a man standing only one pace from her, and the merchant was cut by a sword on the left hand. Four of the slugs fired from the pistol took effect, and Mrs. Smith was consequently for some time in a precarious state of health. The Governor and many of the principal inhabitants expressed the warmest sympathy, and a payment of 5,000 krans was made in compensation; but notwithstanding the efforts of the British Minister, the perpetrators of this outrage have never been brought to justice.

The new Governor H. R. H. the Itesham-ud-Dowleh, cousin of H. I. M. the Shah, who was appointed to the province of Fars on the 21st of March 1888, is determined to put a stop to many malpractices that had gained head under his predecessor. Wilful damage and other annoyances of a like nature may be expected to decrease under his firm rule.

His Excellency the Mukhber-ul-Dowleh, Minister of Telegraphs, by his tact and hearty co-operation, has enabled the species of dual control of the Meshed line to be worked without friction, and with advantage both to the Persian and British Governments. The services His Excellency has rendered to the Indo-European Government Telegraph Department are well known, and his desire to do the best in his power to facilitate the working of the Persian Section proves to be as great now as it ever has been.

ESTABLISHMENT.

Major-General Sir R. M. Smith, K.C.M.G., the last Director-in-Chief of the Indo-European Telegraph Department, having retired on the 15th February 1888, Her Majesty's Government decided that no successor should be appointed to him, but from that date placed the administration of the system under Sir A. J. Leppoc Cappel, the Director General of the Indian Telegraphs, in addition to his other duties. Throughout the year Mr. B. Finch, as Director, was in charge of the Persian Gulf Section, and Major H. Wells, R.E., officiated as Director of Telegraphs in Persia—a post which he has held since Major-General (then Colonel) Sir R. M. Smith proceeded on furlough in May 1885.

Sir A. J. Leppoc Cappel having taken furlough on the 9th March, or 23 days after assuming charge of the Indo-European Department, the charge of it has since been vested in me.

H. A. MALLOCK, Colonel, Bengal Staff Corps,

No. 15.—The following Statute is published for general information.

ARMY (ANNUAL) ACT, 1889

[52 VICT., CAP. 3]

An Act to provide, during twelve months, for the Discipline and Regulation of the Army.

[11th April, 1889.]

WHEREAS the raising or keeping of a standing army within the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland in time of peace, unless it be with the consent of Parliament, is against law.

And whereas it is adjudged necessary by Her Majesty and this present Parliament that a body of forces should be continued for the safety of the United Kingdom and the defence of the possessions of Her Majesty's Crown, and that the whole number of such forces should consist of one hundred and fifty-two thousand two hundred and eighty-two men, including those to be employed at the depôts in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland for the training of recruits for service at home and abroad, but exclusive of the numbers actually serving within Her Majesty's Indian possessions :

And whereas it is also judged necessary for the safety of the United Kingdom, and the defence of the possessions of this realm, that a body of Royal Marine forces should be employed in Her Majesty's fleet and naval service, under the direction of the Lord High Admiral of the United Kingdom, or the Commissioners for executing the office of Lord High Admiral aforesaid :

And whereas the said marine forces may frequently be quartered or be on shore, or sent to do duty or be on board transport ships or vessels, merchant ships or vessels, or other ships or vessels, or they may be under other circumstances in which they will not be subject to the laws relating to the government of Her Majesty's forces by sea :

And whereas no man can be forejudged of life or limb, or subjected in time of peace to any kind of punishment within this realm by martial law, or in any other manner than by the judgment of his peers and according to the known and established laws of this realm ; yet nevertheless it being requisite, for the retaining all the before-mentioned forces, and other persons subject to military law, in their duty, that an exact discipline be observed, and that persons belonging to the said forces who mutiny or stir up sedition, or desert Her Majesty's service, or are guilty of crimes and offences to the prejudice of good order and military discipline, be brought to a more exemplary and speedy punishment than the usual forms of the law will allow :

And whereas the Army Act, 1881, will expire in the year one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine on the following days :

- (a) In the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man, on the thirtieth day of April ; and
- (b) Elsewhere in Europe, inclusive of Malta, also in the West Indies and America, on the thirty-first day of July ; and
- (c) Elsewhere, whether within or without Her Majesty's dominions, on the thirty-first day of December :

Be it therefore enacted by the Queen's Most Excellent Majesty, by and with the advice and consent of the Lords Spiritual and Temporal, and Commons, in this present Parliament assembled, and by the authority of the same, as follows :

1. This Act may be cited as the Army Short title. (Annual) Act, 1889.

2. (1) The Army Act, 1881, shall be and remain in force during the periods hereinafter mentioned, and no longer, unless otherwise provided by Parliament ; that is to say,—

- (a) Within the United Kingdom, the Channel Islands and the Isle of Man, from the thirtieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine to the thirtieth day of April one thousand eight hundred and ninety, both inclusive ; and
- (b) Elsewhere in Europe, inclusive of Malta, also in the West Indies and America, from the thirty-first day of July one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine to the thirty-first day of July one thousand eight hundred and ninety, both inclusive ; and
- (c) Elsewhere, whether within or without Her Majesty's dominions, from the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and eighty-nine to the thirty-first day of December one thousand eight hundred and ninety, both inclusive ; and the day from which the Army Act, 1881, is continued in any place by this Act is in relation to that place referred to in this Act as the commencement of this Act.

(2) The Army Act, 1881, while in force shall apply to persons subject to military law, whether within or without Her Majesty's dominions.

(3) A person subject to military law shall not be exempted from the provisions of the Army Act, 1881, by reason only that the number of the forces for the time being in the service of Her Majesty, exclusive of the marine forces, is either greater or less than the number hereinbefore mentioned.

3. There shall be paid to the keeper of a victualling house for the accommodation provided by him in pursuance of the Army Act, 1881, the prices specified in the schedule to this Act.

Amendments of Army Act, 1881.

4. Whereas by section one hundred and thirty-five of the Army Act, 1881, provision is made for a difference between the treatment of prisoners convicted of breaches of discipline and the treatment of prisoners convicted of offences of an immoral, dishonest, shameful or criminal character, and it is expedient to make provision for treating persons sentenced to be discharged from the service with ignominy in the same manner as the latter class of those prisoners: Be it therefore enacted that, in the said section, after the words "criminal character" shall be added the words "or sentenced to be discharged from the service with ignominy".

5. Whereas doubts have arisen as to the effect of certain provisions of section ninety-one of the Army Act, 1881, and it is expedient to remove those doubts; Be it therefore enacted as follows:

(1) In sub-section three of the said section, for the words "and shall be subject accordingly to the provisions of that section" shall be substituted the words "and the like proceedings shall be taken thereon as on an order under that section."

(2) In sub-section four of the same section, for the words "section eighty-five of the Act of the session of the twentieth and twenty-first years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter seventy-one, intituled 'An Act for the regulation of the care and treatment of lunatics, and for the provision, maintenance and regulation of lunatic asylums in Scotland,' and shall be subject accordingly to the provisions of that section," shall be substituted the words "section fifteen of the Act of the session of the twenty-fifth and twenty-sixth years of the reign of Her present Majesty, chapter fifty-four, intituled 'An Act to make further provision respecting lunacy in Scotland,' and the like proceedings shall be taken thereon as on an order under that section."

(3) In sub-section five of the said section, for the word "soldier" shall be substituted the word "lunatic".

6. Whereas by section one hundred and forty-six of the Army Act, 1881, it is enacted as follows:

"A person who is commissioned and in full pay as an officer in Her Majesty's regular forces shall not be capable of being nominated or elected to be sheriff of any county, borough or other place, or to be mayor or alderman of, or to hold any office in, any municipal corporation in any city, borough or place in the United Kingdom";

And it is expedient that this section should apply to all commissioned officers in Her Majesty's regular forces whilst on the active list, although not on full pay. Be it therefore enacted that, in that section, for the words "A person who is commissioned and in full pay as an officer in Her Majesty's regular forces" shall be substituted the words "An officer of the regular forces on the active list within the meaning of any Royal Warrant for regulating the pay and promotion of the regular forces."

7. After section one hundred and seventy-four of the Army Act, 1881, the following section shall be inserted and numbered 174A:

Notwithstanding anything in the Act of the twenty-fifth year of the reign of His Majesty King George the Second, chapter thirty-six, intituled "An Act for the better preventing theft and robberies and for regulating places of public entertainment and punishing persons keeping disorderly houses," or in the Act of the session held in the sixth and seventh years of Her Majesty, chapter sixty-eight, intituled "An Act for regulating theatres," where a recreation room is managed or conducted under the authority of a Secretary of State or the Admiralty, it may be used for public dancing, music or other public entertainment of the like kind or for the public performance of stage plays, without any licence in pursuance of those Acts, or either of them.

10. 14. No suit shall be instituted against the Government in respect of anything done or purporting to be done under this Act, or against a Treasurer of Charitable Endowments except for divesting him of property on the ground of its not being subject to a trust for a charitable purpose, or for making him chargeable with or accountable for the loss or misapplication of any property vested in him, or the dividends, interest or income thereof, where the loss or misapplication has been occasioned by or through his wilful neglect or default.

15. Nothing in this Act shall be construed to impair the operation of section 111 of the Statute 53 [4 Moore's L. George III, Chapter 155, or A. 190.] of any other enactment for the time being in force, respecting the authority of an Advocate-General at a presidency to act with respect to any charity, or of sections 8, 9, 10 and 11 of Act No. XVII of 1864 (an Act to constitute an Office of Official Trustee) respecting the vesting of property in trust for a charitable purpose in an Official Trustee.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

On many occasions the want has been felt in India of an official capable of discharging the functions which are discharged in England by the Official Trustee of Charity Lands and the Official Trustees of Charitable Funds. The object of this Bill is to meet that want.

2. Much property has from time to time in different parts of India been vested by founders in public servants, such as the Collector, Director of Public Instruction, Accountant-General and Divisional Commissioner. With respect to a case in which an Accountant-General and a Divisional Commissioner had been named as trustees, the Officiating Advocate-General of Bengal and the Officiating Standing Counsel stated in a joint opinion in 1885 that persons cannot, as holders of certain posts, be appointed trustees "unless these posts are corporate ones." "Neither the office of the Accountant-General nor that of the Commissioner," they observed, "is a corporate office; and even if appointed by the designation of their office only, and not by name, the trust-fund would vest in them as individuals, and they would remain trustees until they themselves appointed others to succeed them or until they died."

3. There is a difficulty in India in finding any corporation capable of acting as a trustee in such cases as this Bill is designed to meet. The Secretary of State for India in Council and the Governor-General in Council are incapable of being trustees (L. R. 15 Ch. D. 9). It has also been held that Anglican Bishops and Archdeacons in India, who have been constituted by Letters Patent to be perpetual corporations, with power to take and hold property under grant or license from the Crown, are not capable of acting as trustees in some of the cases for which this Bill is intended to provide. To the question whether the Lord Bishop of Calcutta in his corporate capacity might not, under the Letters Patent for the Bishopric of Calcutta, bearing date the 14th May, 1814, hold land upon trust for a Diocesan School so that, upon his ceasing to be Bishop, it would devolve without a deed upon his successor in the Bishopric, an eminent counsel in England, to whom the question was referred, has replied in the negative. "It is quite true," he remarks, "that the Bishop is a corporation sole, and in that capacity can hold the lands belonging to his See. He may, however, only hold such lands as by grant or license from the Company (now Her Majesty) he is authorized to take, hold and enjoy. I think it is clear that the Letters Patent only refer to lands belonging to, or purchased out of moneys belonging to, the Bishopric. * * * On the whole, I am of opinion that, if the land in question was conveyed to the Bishop as a trustee, it would pass on his death not to his successor but to his executors."

4. The Bill, it will be observed, is of a purely permissive character. The Government will be unable to make a vesting order or frame a scheme except on application for that purpose, and may, if it sees fit, refuse to act. The corporation sole in whom as Treasurer of Charitable Endowments property may be vested is, except as regards the disposal of any property by direction of the Government, to have nothing to do with the administration of the property. He is to be a bare trustee, the object of vesting the property in him by his name of office as a corporation sole being to secure the holding of the property by some one always present, and to avoid the difficulty and expense of appointing a new trustee on the retirement or death of any incumbent of the trust.

CHARITABLE ENDOWMENTS BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. SCOBLE moved for leave to introduce a Bill to provide for the vesting and administration of property held in trust for charitable purposes. He said:—

"This Bill is of an unambitious character. Its object is to provide in India an officer capable of discharging, in regard to certain classes of charities, the functions which are discharged in England by the Official Trustee of Charitable Lands and the Official Trustees of Charitable Funds; and thus to avoid the difficulty and expense which would otherwise attend the devolution of charitable property.

"It has been a common practice in this country, when lands or funds have been appropriated to purposes of public charity, for the founders to vest them, sometimes by deed, and sometimes more informally, in public servants, such as the Collector of the District, the Director of Public Instruction, the Agent of a Railway Company or the Accountant General. But the trusts so created are personal, none of the offices held by these functionaries being corporate offices, and the Law Officers have advised that, even if these gentlemen are 'appointed by the designation of their office only, and not by name, the trust-fund would vest in them as individuals, and they would remain trustees until they themselves appointed others to succeed them, or until they died,' in which latter case the trust-estate would pass to their executors or administrators.

"It is obvious that in the changing circumstances of Indian official life much confusion must have arisen from this state of facts, and that it would be difficult, if not impossible, after even the lapse of a comparatively short time, to trace back and discover in whom such trust-property was legally vested. Such an enquiry would involve considerable expense and would profit none but the lawyers. A more simple remedy is proposed by the Bill, namely, to empower the Governor General in Council to appoint a Government servant to be virtute officii Treasurer of Charitable Endowments for the territories subject to any Local Government, to constitute this Treasurer a corporation sole for the purpose of holding charitable property, and to vest the property in him 'as a passive bare or dry trustee,' leaving all powers of management to a committee elected or appointed for the purpose, and the constitution of which may be changed without affecting the legal devolution of the trust-property.

"No corporation appears to exist in India capable of acting as trustee in such cases as this Bill is designed to meet. The Secretary of State for India in Council and the Governor General in Council are incapable of being trustees (L. R. 15 Ch. D. 9). It has also been held that Anglican Bishops and Archdeacons in India, who have been constituted by letters patent to be perpetual corporations, with power to take and hold property under grant or license from the Crown, are not capable of acting as trustees in some of the cases which this Bill is intended to meet. To the question whether the Lord Bishop of Calcutta in his corporate capacity might not, under the letters patent for the Bishopric of Calcutta, bearing date the 14th May, 1814, hold land upon trust for a diocesan school so that, upon his ceasing to be Bishop, it would devolve without a deed upon his successor in the bishopric, an eminent counsel in England, to whom the question was referred, has replied in the negative. 'It is quite true,' he remarks, 'that the Bishop is a corporation sole, and in that capacity can hold the lands belonging to his see. He may, however, only hold such lands as by grant or license from the Company (now Her Majesty) he is authorized to take, hold and enjoy. I think it is clear that the letters patent only refer to lands belonging to, or purchased out of moneys belonging to, the bishopric. * * * * * On the whole, I am of opinion that, if the land in question was conveyed to the Bishop as a trustee it would pass on his death not to his successor but to his executors.' Nor can the provisions of the Official Trustee Act be resorted to in relief of charities of the class contemplated by the Bill. It is an essential feature of the proposal that the Treasurer shall not, as such, act in the administration of the trust-property, the management and control of which is intended to be left to others; whereas the Official Trustee is required to perform active duties with respect to trust-property vested in him, and is entitled to remuneration for his services; he could not therefore remain passive, and hand over his duties to a local committee.

"It will be observed that the charitable purposes to which the Act applies are limited in character. They include relief of the poor, education, medical relief and the advancement of any other object of general public utility; but they do not include any foundations which have religious teaching as an exclusive purpose. This limitation is in accordance with the policy which dictated Act XX of 1863, by which the Government of India relieved its officers from all duties involving any connection with mosques, Hindu temples and other similar religious establishments ; and Act XVII of 1864, by which the Official Trustee is debarred from holding trusts for any religious purpose.

“It will also be noted that the Bill is of a purely permissive character. The Local Government will be unable to make a vesting order or frame a scheme except on application for that purpose ; and may, if it sees fit, decline to take any action.

“Finally, the Bill reserves the powers of the Advocate General at a presidency to take action with respect to any charity within his jurisdiction. If more frequent advantage were taken of these powers in connection with section 539 of the Civil Procedure Code, we should probably hear fewer complaints of malversation and misappropriation in regard to native religious endowments.”

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR SCOBIE also introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble MR. SCOBIE also moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the local official Gazettes in English and in such other languages as the Local Governments think fit

Home Department Notification No 1817, dated the 3rd July, 1888, publishing revised rules for the regulation of appointments in the Secretariat Clerical Service of the Government of India and attached Offices.

R E S O L U T I O N .

The Government of India has had under consideration the question whether the examinations for the Upper and Lower Divisions of candidates for admission to clerkships in the Government of India Secretariats and attached Offices should not be held at different times instead of simultaneously as has been done hitherto. Under the existing practice, a candidate who fails for the Upper Division is unable to present himself for examination for the Lower Division in the same year, and as it is possible that this arrangement may prevent candidates who would make specially efficient members of the Lower Division from competing at the examination for it, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to decide that in any future year in which examinations are held for both Divisions, they shall not be held simultaneously. Under the system as now modified the examination for the Upper Division will be held first, and after its results have been announced, the Lower Division examination will begin. Candidates who fail in the examination for the Upper Division will thus have an opportunity to present themselves at the examination for the Lower Division, provided they pay the fees prescribed by the rules for both examinations. When examinations for both Divisions are to take place in the same year, the date on which the examination for each Division is to be held will be duly notified.

OFFICIAL PROGRAMME.

It is intended to celebrate the Fiftieth Anniversary of the Foundation of the Colony of New Zealand, by holding in the City of Dunedin an Exhibition of arts, industries, resources, and manners of New Zealand, Australia, and the other Countries and Colonies in the Southern Pacific.

The principal objects of this Exhibition are to practically illustrate the development of the resources of New Zealand during the first half century of her existence, in comparison with the progress made by other Colonies, British and Foreign; to stimulate industry and promote Intercolonial commerce; to strengthen the natural ties which connect all the Countries in the South Pacific Ocean, and to call attention to their position and potentialities.

The recent improvement in the commercial condition of New Zealand, and the prospect of prosperity immediately before her, offers special opportunities for the development of industry and the extension of Intercolonial commerce; whilst many considerations point to the desirability of bringing the importance of the South Sea Islands into notice, and cultivating a closer acquaintance with their peoples.

The Exhibition is held by, and at the risk of a number of New Zealand colonists, who have subscribed a Guarantee Fund for the purpose, after the model of those upon which the Great Exhibition of 1851, the London International Exhibition of 1862, and the Adelaide Jubilee Exhibition of 1887 were carried out.

The Government of New Zealand have recognised this Exhibition as the Official Celebration of the Jubilee of the Colony, and issued invitations to the Governments of Australia and the other Colonies and Islands in the Southern Pacific to be officially represented thereat. They have further undertaken to assist the Exhibition by erecting the main building, which will contain the picture galleries, and themselves exhibiting collections illustrating the fauna, flora, geology, and mineralogy of New Zealand, as well as objects of historical interest. The Government will also with the assistance of the native chiefs, organise a representation of Maori life and customs.

The Commissioners invite exhibits of all kinds from all Colonies, British and Foreign, wheresoever situated, as well as from Islands under British rule in the South Pacific. They are also desirous of obtaining Works of Art, Educational, Scientific, and Machinery Exhibits from other countries; but ordinary Industrial Exhibits from Europe and America can only be admitted under special conditions. Inducements will be offered for the exhibition of processes of manufacture.

With the consent and support of the other chief cities of New Zealand, the Exhibition will be held in Dunedin, which is the centre of the railway system of the southern and most populous island of the Colony. A suitable site has been obtained in the heart of the town, close to the railway station and intercolonial wharves. A line of railway will deliver exhibits into the grounds.

The Exhibition will be open to the public on Tuesday, 26th November, 1889, and close about the middle of April, 1890. It will be open in the evening as well as the day time.

The Government will issue customs regulations for the free admission of Intercolonial and Foreign Exhibits, similar to those in force at Melbourne and other Intercolonial Exhibitions, and similar railway privileges will be allowed for exhibits. The reproduction of exhibits will be prohibited by law.

CONDITIONS AND REGULATIONS.

1. Governments intending to take part in this Exhibition are requested to intimate the same as soon as possible. Applications for space for exhibits from Colonies officially represented must be made through the Commissioners of the Colonies to which the applicant belongs. Applications from countries and colonies not officially represented should be addressed directly to the Secretary at Dunedin.

2. Applications for space, with full particulars, are invited as early as possible, and in the allotment of space precedence will be given, as far as possible, to priority of application. No application will be received later than the 1st of July, 1889. Forms of application and all information can be obtained from the Secretary.

3. The ordinary charge for space will be £1 1s. for the first ten square feet or any less space, and a shilling for every additional square foot. Sculpture and paintings approved by the Fine Arts Committee will be admitted free, as well as educational and scientific exhibits shown by Government departments, and exhibits in Classes 34 and 35. Machinery and bulky exhibits will be shown in special annexes, in which space will be charged for at the reduced rate of £1 1s. for the first 20 feet, and sixpence for every additional foot. Wall space will be charged at the same rate as machinery. All applications must be accompanied by payment of the full amount of the space required. Special arrangements can be made for the exhibition of articles in the grounds.

4. The Exhibition will be ready for the reception of exhibits on October 1, 1889, and space not occupied by November 1, 1889, will revert to the Commissioners for reassignment. The Executive Commissioner shall at any time have power to reserve or reduce space which, in his opinion, is not fully occupied or misused.

5. The Executive Commissioner may issue at his discretion weekly licenses for the sale of articles manufactured in the Exhibition, but no other exhibit will be allowed to be taken out of the buildings until the close of the Exhibition; and any exhibitor selling goods for immediate delivery renders himself liable to the forfeiture of his space and all rights as an exhibitor.

6. The Exhibition building will be constituted a bonded store, but exhibits sold will be subject to duty.

7. The introduction of dangerous substances is strictly prohibited.

8. Packages intended for the Exhibition must be painted or labelled with the following device as a distinctive mark N.Z.E. together with the name of the exhibitor and country or colony in which court the exhibit will be shown.

9. Customs entries, transportation, receiving, and arranging articles for exhibition must be undertaken by the exhibitor at his own expense, but no charge will be made for the carriage of goods intended for exhibition on the railway lines. New Zealand and Island exhibits will be carried free on the Union S.S. Company's boats, and Australian exhibits the double journey at single freight.

10. The protection of invention capable of being patented and of designs is secured by the patent law of New Zealand. No exhibit may be drawn, copied or reproduced in any manner whatsoever without the joint consent of the exhibitor and the Executive Commissioner. The Commissioners, however, reserve to themselves the right of authorising the production of general views.

11. If exhibits are not intended for competition, notice must be given in the application for space.

12. An official catalogue will be published in English by the Commissioners, by whom the sale of catalogues is reserved. Anything beyond the ordinary description of the exhibit, together with the name of the exhibitor, must be paid for as an advertisement.

13. The representatives of countries and colonies will be allowed to group their exhibits as they may think fit in that portion of the Exhibition buildings allotted to them, subject always to the approval of the Executive Commissioner.

14. Motive power will be supplied to exhibits of processes of manufacture free of charge on application to the Executive Commissioner; but the right is reserved of reducing the amount asked for, or to make a charge for certain portions of the motive power supplied at discretion. The Commissioners desire to encourage the display of machinery in motion, and of all descriptions of manufactures in progress. Requests for motive power must be made to the Secretary prior to 1st July, 1889.

15. All shafting, pulleys, belting, machines, &c., for the transmission of power from the main shafting, must be provided by and at the cost of the Exhibitor.

16. Judges will be appointed by the Commissioners, acting mainly upon the recommendation of the exhibitors themselves. Certificates of first, second, and third order of merit will be awarded.

17. The removal of exhibits from the Exhibition buildings and grounds must be completed within one month from the close of the Exhibition. Goods remaining after that period will be removed by order of the Executive Commissioner, at the risk of exhibitors and sold by auction or otherwise disposed of at his direction, and the net proceeds handed to the exhibitors or their duly appointed agents.

18. Every person who becomes an exhibitor thereby acknowledges and undertakes to observe the rules and regulations established from time to time for the government of the Exhibition.

19. The Commissioners reserve the right to alter, explain, or add to these regulations at any time, whatever may be deemed necessary.

20. Precaution will be taken to preserve exhibits from injury and to guard the buildings, but no responsibility will be taken for damage or loss from whatever cause. Exhibitors will make their own arrangements for effecting insurances.

Form of applications for space and all further information can be obtained from

D. HARRIS HASTINGS, Secretary.

Final Memorandum on the Snowfall of the Cold Weather, 1888-89, in Northern India.

Three snowfall reports have come to hand since the preparation of the preliminary note on the cold weather snowfall in the mountain districts bordering Northern India and the abnormal features of the weather in India during the period January to May, 1889, published in last week's gazette.

The Deputy Commissioner of Kangra has sent the following statement of the reported depth of snow on the higher passes in the Kulu and Plach districts at the end of April. The reported depths at the same date of the two previous years are also given for comparison :

District	Name of Pass.	Height	Reported depth of snow, April 10th, 1889	Reported depth of snow, April 10th, 1888	Reported depth of snow, April 10th, 1887.
Kulu	Rotang	13,500	15½ feet	4 feet	7 feet
	Hamta	14,500	13 "	3 "	8 "
	Chandarkhani	...	7 "	5 "	...
	Barsai	...	1½ "	1 foot	...
	Pushuri	...	1 foot	Nil	...
	Bubu	10,000	2 feet	4 feet	4 feet
	Lori Ahri	...	3 "	3 "	...
	Majang	...	Nil	Nil	...
	Biragah	...	1 foot	2 feet	...
	Jalori	1,000	1 "	Nil	½ foot
Plach	Raghopur	...	1 "	Nil	...
	Namu	...	Nil	Nil	...
	Chul	...	1 foot	1 foot	...
	Basleo	10,500	2 feet	1 "	1 foot
	Maghin	...	2 "	1 "	...
	Dindku	...	2 "	3½ feet	...
	Srikand	15,000	55 "	14 "	17 feet
	Gargarasan	17,000	2 "	7 "	13 "

	Tirath	...	11 feet	7 "	...
	Lumbisigran	...	1 foot	Nil	...
	Lalbach	...	?	2 feet	...

The Assistant Commissioner also states that there was heavy rain on the 10th in these districts, and that snow fell on Sahraj down to 10,000 feet, and in Upper Kulu as low down as 7,000 feet. Slight showers were frequent during the last week or ten days of the month, but on the whole the snow steadily decreased in depth on the higher hills although the quantity still lying is above the normal. The Rotang pass has been open to foot passengers and the Bubu to mules throughout the month. Snow is still lying on the shady sides of the Jalori and Basleo passes, but the Jalori was it is stated crossed by mules towards the end of the month.

The Reverend F. Redslob describes the weather in Ladakh during the month of May as follows: "After very unusual heat during April, May has been for the most part cloudy. Snow fell on two occasions, and rain on the 18th. It has also been occasionally frosty at nights, but the weather is now (May 21st) clearing up and is of the usual character."

The Deputy Commissioner of the Rawalpindi district writes to the effect that no snow fell on the hills adjacent to Kahuta during the month of May.

It will be seen that this additional information confirms the conclusions given in the preliminary note. Hence it may be accepted :

- 1st.*—That the snowfall of the past winter occurred chiefly during the months of December to February, and that the snowfall since that period has not been large in amount. There has been apparently no abnormally heavy snowfall in any part of the Himalayas during the past three months.
- 2nd.*—In the Afghan Highlands the snowfall was not only less in amount than usual, but was melted with greater rapidity than usual in consequence of the occurrence of heavy rain afterwards.
- 3rd.*—The distribution of snowfall in the North-West Himalayas appears to have been very variable. Apparently larger amounts than usual fell on the outer ranges. In the lower elevations of the outer ranges the snowfall was followed by heavy rain which assisted to melt it, and hence the depth of snow is practically no greater in the lower passes of Kulu, &c., than it was last year. The case is different with the higher elevations above 13,000 or 14,000 feet, where the snowfall was unusually heavy, and was not followed by rain. There is hence an unusual accumulation of snow in the higher passes and elevations of Kulu, Plach, and Lahoul. As this extra depth of snow probably only occurs over the area of perpetual snow, it is almost certain that it will have little direct influence on the weather conditions of Northern India. There has on the other hand been less snow than usual in Cashmere and Ladakh. The information of the snowfall in the Gurhwal Himalayas is very limited, but so far as can be judged from the accounts it was not excessive.
- 4th.*—In the Eastern Himalayas the snowfall is, so far as can be judged by the reports of the hillmen, less than it was last year and is probably somewhat below the average.

Experience has shown that it is chiefly abnormally heavy snowfall in the hot weather months of March, April, and May which is influential in modifying the pressure conditions to such an extent as to either retard the monsoon current or deflect it from Upper India into Central or North-Eastern India. The snowfall reports are hence favourable. There has been no heavy unseasonable snowfall during the hot weather months, nor was there during the winter any excessive accumulation of snow on the lower elevations. Hence it may be accepted that the conditions in the mountain districts of Northern India are favourable to an early and steady monsoon.

Abnormal pressure and other weather conditions in India.—These were fully stated for the first four months of the year in the preliminary note. The whole period presents several remarkable features. Amongst the most striking were the excessive rainfall over the whole of Northern India from the Punjab to Behar in the month of February, and the abnormally high temperature and excessive dryness of the air which has prevailed during the months of April and May over the greater part of the country and more especially in the North Deccan, the Central Provinces, Central India, the North-Western Provinces, Behar and Rajputana.

Experience shows that the hot weather is on the whole most influential in modifying the pressure anomalies. The chief feature during the past two years has been excessive pressure in the Deccan, more especially along the eastern base of the West Ghâts. This abnormal feature which has exercised a very powerful influence on the rainfall during the past two years has fortunately disappeared.

The following gives the more important pressure anomalies of the month of May :

(1) Pressure was relatively to the general state in defect over the greater part of the Peninsula and in Burma, Assam, Bengal, Behar, and the northern half of the North-Western Provinces. The deficiency was not large in amount in the Peninsula or Burmah. It was excessive in Behar and Central Bengal as is shown by the following statement which gives the anomalies:

Burdwan	—'038"
Berhampore	—'046
Dhubri	—'038
Purneah	—'042
Durbianga	—'044
Patna	—'038

(2) Pressure was relatively in excess in North-Western India including the Punjab, Sind, and Rajputana, but the anomalies are only large in the Punjab, e.g.—

Peshawar	+ '043"
Dera Ismail Khan	+ '031
Multan	+ '039
Lahore	+ '029
Sirsa	+ '028

Experience shows that when the monsoon current invades India it tends to drift more strongly towards areas of deficient pressure and to be diverted from areas of higher pressure than usual, and that any such modification at the commencement of the monsoon tends to become permanent throughout the season.

Assuming this principle and the principle underlying the snowfall theory, the following are the chief inferences respecting the probable character of the south-west monsoon of the present year:

1st.—The weather conditions in May over the land area of India and the character of the cold weather snowfall are both favourable to the probable occurrence of an early and strong monsoon this year. The commencement of the monsoon appears however to depend to a greater extent upon conditions in the south of the Bay and Arabian Sea than upon those of the land area of India, and hence this probability as based on known conditions is not large (not more than three to two).

2nd.—Conditions are unusually favourable to a good monsoon and probably heavier rain than usual over the whole of North-Eastern India, including Burmah, Assam, Bengal, Behar, and the greater part of the North-Western Provinces. It is difficult to estimate the effect of the pressure conditions in Behar, as they were much less plainly marked during the second-half of the month than during the first-half, and are hence to some extent temporary in character. The tendency of a persistent low pressure area in Behar during the monsoon would be to give increased rainfall over that area and the districts to the east, south and south-west, that is, over Behar, the greater part of Bengal, Chutia Nagpur, and the Central Provinces, and to diminish the rainfall to the west in the North-Western Provinces. Hence there is a strong probability of Behar, Bengal, and the Central Provinces receiving normal to abundant rain, and of Burmah and the North-Western Provinces receiving normal rainfall.

(3) The conditions in the Peninsula are on the whole favourable, and hence it is probable that the Bombay monsoon current will be at least of normal strength and give normal rainfall over the Peninsula generally.

(4) The conditions in Upper India and more especially the Punjab are more or less unfavourable. The rainfall of the Punjab depends to a somewhat larger extent on the strength of the Bombay current than on that of the Bay of Bengal. The rainfall in the Punjab and Rajputana will hence be probably less than the normal. The deficiency will depend largely on the effect of the Behar low pressure area in diminishing the effect of the Bay of Bengal current in Upper India. If that be a temporary and not a permanent feature of the present monsoon, the deficiency will probably not be marked. On the other hand, if it be permanent, and also deflect the Bombay monsoon current more directly across the Peninsula than usual, the deficiency will probably be large and be relatively greatest in the central and western districts of the Province.

- (5) The observations from the observatories in Ganjam and the Northern Circars are unfortunately slightly discrepant and hence somewhat doubtful. So far however as can be judged from these observations, it is on the whole probable that those districts will receive normal rainfall during the present season.

It may be added that the year which approximates most closely in its weather conditions to the present year is 1879. It was characterized by excessive heat in April and May, and the pressure anomalies were very similar. The monsoon rainfall of that year was in excess in all provinces except the Punjab and Rajputana.

Weather Review of India for the week ending 8 a.m. on Monday, June 10th, 1889.

The past week has been chiefly remarkable for the passage of a large and important cyclonic storm along the Bombay Coast, and for the establishment, whether permanently or not it is difficult to say, of monsoon conditions over a large part of India.

The Chart of the 4th showed that the storm on the West Coast, the first indications of which were noticed last week, was a large and important cyclone. The barometer had fallen about 0·075" at the West Coast stations, and the centre of the storm apparently lay outside the Coast between Goa and Ratnagiri. At the latter station the barometer read nearly $\frac{1}{8}$ of an inch below the normal height, and a south-easterly strong wind was blowing. On the following day the centre of the storm lay off the Port of Bombay, and the barometer had again fallen there. An east-south-east gale was blowing at Ratnagiri and a strong south-east wind at Bombay. The Chart of the 6th June showed that the storm had apparently been caught within the angle formed by the North Konkan and Kattiawar Coasts and had developed there. The barometer had fallen nearly one-tenth of an inch at Bombay, and the reading was nearly $\frac{1}{4}$ inch below the normal. A strong east-south-east gale was blowing there and fresh gales all around the storm area. On this day pressure was also falling over the Bay, and a disturbance seemed to be forming there. On the 7th the West Coast storm was passing west-north-westward out into the Arabian Sea, and the barometer was rising briskly on the West Coast, though the wind there still blew with the force of a gale. The depression over the Bay proved to have been very slight. By the morning of the 8th the storm had passed out of the region of the Chart, and the barometer had risen moderately to quickly over Sind, Kattiawar, and the Konkan. On this and on the preceding day there had occurred a brisk barometric decrease over the Punjab. The Chart of the 9th showed that a small depression was forming off the Orissa and Ganjam Coasts and that elsewhere the distribution was fairly normal. On the following day the Chart showed that the depression off the Orissa Coast had increased considerably in size, though not in intensity, and had moved north-westward towards the Central Provinces and Behar. A strong southerly wind prevailed on its eastern side, and this wind drawing into east over Bengal passed up the Gangetic plain and joined the circulation existing around the low pressure area over the Indus Valley. At the same time the monsoon current from the West Coast blew over the Central parts of India and of the Peninsula and north-eastward across Guzerat into Rajputana, &c. There was thus established a set of conditions such as ordinarily accompanies a general fall of rain, and the Chart of the 10th showed that, with the exception of one or two regions, rain was falling throughout the country.

Temperature.—The excessive temperatures which prevailed during the previous week continued during the week under review. Maxima varying between 110° and 118° prevailed throughout the week over the Upper Gangetic plain, Sind, Guzerat, Rajputana, and the Central Provinces, and on the 5th a reading of 120° was recorded at Jacobabad. On the 9th and morning of the 10th a rapid fall of temperature occurred, coinciding with the change to damper or rainy conditions noticed in the preceding paragraph.

The following table shows the excess or defect of the mean average temperature of the different Provinces from the normal, both for the present and for the preceding week.

PROVINCES.	Difference of Mean Temperature of last week from normal.	Difference of Mean Temperature of present week from normal.
Burma	+ 3·6°	+ 3·4°
Bengal	+ 3·3°	+ 1·0°
North-Western Provinces	+ 2·8°	+ 3·9°
Punjab	+ 2·0°	+ 5·1°
Bombay	+ 2·0°	— 0·3°
Central Provinces and Behar	+ 4·0°	+ 4·4°
Guzerat and Central India	+ 5·0°	+ 3·1°
Sind and Rajputana	+ 3·7°	+ 3·9°
Madras	+ 1·2°	+ 1·2°

This table shows that, except in Bombay, where the heavy rainfall occasioned a brisk decrease of temperature, the excess of last week has been maintained, and in Upper India and the Central Provinces has increased.

Rain.—The rainfall over India during the week has been attributable to three sources. There has been, firstly, the heavy daily rainfall which has occurred on the West Coast, due to the northerly progress of the cyclone noticed above; secondly, there has been the steady but generally moderate rain which has fallen over Bengal in connection with the small depressions which have formed off the Orissa and Ganjam Coasts; and thirdly, there has been the general burst of rain, which occurred, with the establishment of monsoon conditions, at the close of the week.

On the 4th heavy rain was reported from the West Coast from Corchin to Goa, moderate rain in Assam, slight rain in Lower Burma and Lower Bengal, and a few drops at Ranikhet and Mussoorie. On the 5th heavy rain continued on the West Coast and had extended as far north as Ratnagiri, and slight rain was reported from Burma and Assam. The reports of the 6th showed that heavy rain continued in the West and had spread to Bombay. Heavy showers had fallen at Dacca and Jessore, and slight rain in Assam and Burma. On the 7th there was little change, except that the West Coast rainfall had extended inland over the Central parts of the Peninsula. Slight rain continued in Burma and Bengal. Similar conditions prevailed on the 8th. On the 9th the fall on the West Coast had become light, but rain had extended to the Central Provinces and the East coast of the Peninsula. On the morning of the 10th rain was general. Of the fifty-one rainfall divisions, one gives no returns, three report no rain, twenty-one an excess of rain, and the remainder a deficiency of rain for the week. The greatest excess is reported from the West Coast, but relatively to the average there was considerable excess in Assam, the North-Western Provinces, and the northern parts of Madras. The greatest absolute deficiency is in Burma, but relatively to the average the greatest defect is over Upper and North-Western India.

In Burma all divisions exhibit a deficiency. In Bengal, except the Delta, Orissa, and Chota Nagpur, the rainfall has been heavy. The same is true of the North-Western Provinces, except the Western division. In the south of the Punjab there was a trifling excess, and in other parts of the Province a more or less considerable deficiency. All along the West Coast and inland over Coorg and the Bombay Deccan the rainfall was heavier than the average, and Guzerat to a limited extent shared in this excess; but in Khandeish, all over the Central parts of the country, and the east of the Peninsula, except the north of Madras, the rainfall was short.

The column giving the state of the seasonal rainfall shows that more or less considerable deficiency prevails in Burma, East Bengal, Deltaic Bengal, Chota Nagpur, the west of the North-Western Provinces, the Central and Hill districts of the Punjab, Mysore, Khandeish, the Central parts of the country, Sind, and the Madras Presidency. A more or less considerable excess in Assam, the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, the south of the Punjab, the Konkan, Guzerat, and Kattiawar. Elsewhere the rainfall up to date is fairly normal.

The returns of maximum and minimum are comparatively uninteresting, except in the case of the West Coast. There were no large falls in Burma or Bengal, and even at Cherrapunji the total amount during the week was only 15 inches. In Oudh and the North-Western Provinces there were some falls of between 2 and 3 inches, but these were the largest amounts in Upper India. In Malabar very different conditions prevailed. At one station in Calicut 26 inches and at one in South Kanara 30 inches were collected, while Kumpta in North Kanara received 39 inches. In this district the average rainfall throughout was 34 inches for the week. In the Deccan two places record amounts exceeding 10 inches. Heavy falls were however entirely confined to the West Coast districts, and in the remainder of the divisions there are no falls of any magnitude, though the occurrence of 1 inch of rain at Surada in the Ganjam district is not unimportant in face of the scarcity at present existing there.

Weekly Report on the State of the Season and Prospects of the Crops.

Madras.—For week ending 8th June.—No rain in Madura and Tinnevely; good rain on the West Coast and Nilgiris; fair in Ganjam, Vizagapatam, Kurnool, Chingleput, South Arcot; slight elsewhere. Crops generally good, but withering in parts of Cuddapah, South Arcot, and Salem; suffering from want of rain in parts of Vizagapatam, North Arcot, and Coimbatore. Indigo blighted in Cuddapah. Water-supply scarce in Ganjam, insufficient in parts of Vizagapatam, Nellore, Anantapur, Chingleput, and North Arcot. Stock suffering very badly, chiefly from rinderpest, in Malabar, Tanjore, and Anantapur, and badly in Kistna, South Arcot, and Trichinopoly. Prices falling in Bellary, stationary in seven districts, and rising in all others. Prices of all grains have risen in Ganjam. 1,020 deaths from cholera in Ganjam. Labourers employed on last day of week—on Rushikulya works, 5,681; Gopalpore Canal, 5,199; Ghat Roads, 1,426. Average daily number on drinking-water tanks and wells, 4,363. On minor irrigation and other works, 2,439. General prospects favourable, except in Ganjam.

Bombay.—For week ending 12th June.—Rain in Guzerat, Konkan, Deccan, Southern Mahratta Country, and Hyderabad. Preparations for kharif crops in progress generally. Probable rabi outturn in Shikarpur thirteen annas. Damage done to crops by crickets in Upper Sind Frontier.

Bengal.—For week ending 11th June.—General rain during the week—heaviest in the Northern and North-Eastern districts. Agricultural prospects have consequently improved, and ploughing and sowing are generally in progress. More rain is however still required in parts of Western and Central Bengal and Behar, Chota Nagpur, and Orissa generally. The early rice and jute seedlings are coming up well; and the condition of sugarcane, indigo, and other standing crops is fair. In Rungpur and Bogra the early rice is said to have suffered considerably from drought, and will be a short crop. Prices of foodgrains are high and almost steady in the affected districts of Durbhunga, Muzaffarpur, and Chumpan. Common rice is quoted at 13½ seers, 12 seers, and 11 seers per rupee respectively. Distress continues in the Contai subdivision of the Midnapur district.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 12th June.—Good rain has fallen in all districts but Rae Bareilly, Allahabad, Banda, Farukhabad, Agra, and Jhansi, where the heat is intense. Sugarcane and other summer crops being irrigated. Markets fairly supplied. Prices show an upward tendency in some districts. Health of cattle good.

Punjab.—For week ending 12th June.—Moderate rain in several districts. Prices stationary throughout the Province, except in Peshawar, where they are unsettled. Threshing operations nearly over. Ploughings for and sowing of kharif still in progress. Standing kharif crops are in good condition. Outturn is reported good from Rawalpindi. Stock-cattle are reported healthy. Pasturage or fodder sufficient throughout the Province.

Central Provinces.—For week ending 12th June.—Weather cloudy, with slight showers; a good fall of rain in Nimar. Land being ploughed and manured. Rice being sown in Bilaspur and Sambalpur. Scarcity of water continues.

Burma.—For week ending 8th June.—Heavy rain fell in several districts in Upper Burma. The rainfall generally is seasonable. Ploughing and transplanting are progressing. Cattle-disease is severe in Pegu, Toungoo, and Bhamo. Fluctuations in the price of paddy are but slight, but at Henzada prices have risen 10 per cent. in the last fortnight, and during the week under report 9 per cent. at Mergui and 11 per cent. at Sagaing. The food-supply is sufficient.

Assam.—For week ending 12th June.—Weather seasonable. Rainfall general. Transplanting of late rice continues. Prospects of potatoes in Khasi hills fair. Tea and other crops doing well.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 12th June.—Rainfall good in the Shimoga and Kadur districts; elsewhere slight. Standing crops good. More rain wanted in parts of Bangalore, Kolar, and Tumkur districts; otherwise prospects generally favourable. Paddy and sugarcane harvested in parts. No material change in prices.

Very good and general rain in Coorg. Standing crop in good condition. Fevers prevalent.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 12th June.—Weather hot in Berar. A little rain during the week. Preparations for the kharif crops completed in some districts. Agricultural stock in good condition. Fodder and water insufficient. Marked change in the price of foodgrains.

Slight rain during the week in Hyderabad. Reaping of hot-weather crops concluded. Preparations for kharif sowings commenced. Scarcity of fodder and water still felt. Prices stationary.

Central India.—For week ending 12th June.—Slight rain throughout Central India during the week—heaviest fall at Sirdarpur. Fair also in Western Malwa. Sowings commenced in Western Malwa and many parts of Bhopawar. Prices of foodgrains slightly risen in Dhar, and steady and high in Bhopal.

Rajputana.—For week ending 12th June.—Rainfall in most States. Agricultural operations commenced. Agricultural stock poor in Meywar and Bikanir. Pasturage or fodder insufficient in Marwar, Kherwara, and Meywar. Prices rising in Meywar, Kotah, and Bhurutpore.

Nepal.—For week ending 6th June.—Good rain fell during the week. Weather hot. Prospects improved in the Valley.

In the Republic of Mexico the Government will decide on the extradition by administrative procedure, until a judicial procedure be established by law, when the accused will be delivered as soon as possible to the Judge designated by law. The criminal shall, in accordance with this Article, be discharged, as well in Mexico as in the United Kingdom, if within the term of thirty days a requisition for extradition shall not have been made by the Diplomatic Agent of his country in accordance with the stipulations of this Treaty.

The same rule shall apply to the cases of persons accused or convicted of any of the crimes or offences specified in this Treaty, and committed on the high seas on board any vessel of either country which may come into a port of the other.

ARTICLE XI.

The extradition shall take place only if the evidence be found sufficient, according to the laws of the State applied to, either to justify the committal of the prisoner for trial, in case the crime had been committed in the territory of the same State, or to prove that the prisoner is the identical person convicted by the Courts of the State which makes the requisition, and that the crime of which he has been convicted is one in respect of which extradition could, at the time of such conviction, have been granted by the State applied to; and no criminal shall be surrendered until after the expiration of fifteen days from the date of his committal to prison to await the warrant for his surrender.

ARTICLE XII.

En la República Mexicana el Gobierno decidirá en la via administrativa sobre la extradicion, entretanto las leyes no establezcan un procedimiento judicial, en cuyo caso el acusado será consignado tan pronto como sea posible el Juez que la ley designe. De conformidad con este Artículo el reo será puesto en libertad, tanto en el Reino Unido como en la República Mexicana, si en el término de treinta dias no se ha hecho la demanda de extradicion por el Agente Diplomático del país respectivo, con arreglo á las estipulaciones de este Tratado.

Se observará la misma regla en los casos de individuos acusados ó condenados por alguno de los delitos especificados en este Tratado, y cometidos en alta mar á bordo de un buque de alguno de los dos países que llegue á un puerto del otro.

ARTICULO XI.

Solo tendrá lugar la extradicion si, conforme á las leyes del Estado al cual se pide aquella, se consideran suficientes las pruebas, ya para que el detenido hubiera sido sometido á juicio, en caso de haberse perpetrado el delito en el territorio del mismo Estado; ya para probar que el preso es la misma persona condenada por los Tribunales del Estado que hace el requerimiento, y que el delito por el que fué condenado es de aquellos en punto á los cuales el Estado á quien se pidió la extradicion, podía conceder esta en la época de la condenacion. Ningun reo será entregado hasta despues de haber trascurrido quince dias contados desde la fecha en que fué puesto en prision en espera del mandamiento para su entrega.

ARTICULO XII.

Las autoridades del Estado al que se pida la extradicion, en el exámen que deben hacer conforme á las precedentes estipulaciones, admitirán como pruebas válidas las depositions ó declaraciones de testigos, tomadas en el otro Estado bajo juramento ó bajo protesta de decir verdad, conforme lo prevenga su legislacion, ó las copias de estas depositions ó declaraciones, é igualmente los mandamientos librados y sentencias pronunciadas en el Estado que pide la extradicion, los certificados del hecho de la condenacion, ó los documentos judiciales que lo comprueben, con tal que estén legalizados en la forma siguiente:

1. Un mandamiento debe expresar que está firmado por un Juez, Magistrado, ó funcionario del otro Estado.

2. Las depositions ó declaraciones, ó sus copias, deben expresar que están certificadas por un Juez, Magistrado, ó funcionario del otro other State, to be the original depositions or affirmations, or to be true copies thereof, as the case may require.

3. A certificate of, or a judicial document stating the fact of a conviction, must purport to be certified by a Judge, Magistrate, or officer of the other State.

4. In every case such warrant, deposition, affirmation, copy, certificate, or judicial document must be authenticated either by the oath of some witness, or by being sealed with the official seal of the Minister of Justice, or some other Minister of the other State; but any other mode of authentication for the time being permitted by law in the State where the examination is taken may be substituted for the foregoing.

ARTICLE XIII.

If the individual claimed by one of the two High Contracting Parties, in pursuance of the present Treaty, should be also claimed by one or several other Powers on account of other crimes or offences committed upon their respective territories, his extradition shall be granted to that State whose demand is earliest in date.

ARTICLE XIV.

If sufficient evidence for the extradition be not produced within two months from the date of the apprehension of the fugitive, or within such further time as the State applied to, or the proper Tribunal thereof shall direct, the fugitive shall be set at liberty.

ARTICLE XV.

All articles seized which were in the possession of the person to be surrendered at the time of his apprehension shall, if the competent authority of the State applied to for the extradition has ordered the delivery of such articles, be given up when the extradition takes place, and the said delivery shall extend, not merely to the stolen articles, but to everything that may serve as a proof of the crime.

ARTICLE XVI.

All expenses connected with extradition shall be borne by the demanding State.

ARTICLE XVII.

Letter from the Director-General of the Post Office of India, No. 8535, dated 7th February, 1889.

ORDERED, that this letter be published in the Gazette of India for general information.

No. 8535, dated 7th February, 1889.

From—SIR F. R. HOGG, K.C.I.E., C.S.I., Director-General of the Post Office of India,

To—The Secretary to the Government of India, Department of Finance and Commerce.

I have the honour to submit the Annual Report on the Operations of the Postal Life Insurance and Monthly Allowance Schemes during the official year 1887-88.

2. This scheme was begun in February 1884, so that the year under report is the fourth complete year of its existence. Heretofore the privilege of insuring their lives or of purchasing monthly allowances under the guarantee of the State has been restricted to Postal employes; but towards the close of the year under report the Government was pleased to extend the privilege to employes in the Telegraph Department, and effect was given to this extension in July 1888. A slight addition was made to the form of proposal with the object of providing a further check against insuring unsound lives. Four applications for life insurance were refused because of unfavourable reports on the lives of the persons affected.

3. During the year under report the business increased by the addition of 123 persons, who insured their lives for various sums, aggregating in all Rs. 1,56,000. The total amount received as premium on these and on previous policies was Rs. 33,546, and claims were met to the extent of Rs. 13,782, of which Rs. 13,450 represent the value of ten life policies paid, and Rs. 332 the half surrender value on six policies relinquished. The policies surrendered were 14 in number and Rs. 13,050 in amount; while those which lapsed or were cancelled numbered 13, their gross value being Rs. 13,075. The progress made in the business is shewn by the marginal figures. No advantage was taken of the option given to purchase an insurance by payment of the premium in one sum. Eighty-three policies, representing an aggregate assurance of Rs. 97,150, were taken out under the system of paying the premium during a fixed period, 78 by natives and 5 by Europeans; and 40 policies, representing an aggregate assurance of Rs. 58,850, were effected under the alternative of paying the premium during life, 39 by natives and 1 by a European. Of the 123 policies newly issued, no less than 62 belong to the Lower Provinces of Bengal, 20 to Bombay and Sind, 12 to Madras, and 10 to Assam. Since the scheme of Postal Life Insurance was introduced, 100 policies for a total sum of Rs. 1,12,825 have in all either lapsed or been surrendered or discharged. Omitting these transactions, the active policies which existed on 31st March 1888 numbered 732; and the total insurance on these 732 active policies amounted to Rs. 9,34,900, of which some particulars are given below:

1 for Rs. 700 by a single payment of premium.

254 for Rs. 3,17,150 by payment of premium up to the age of 50.

241 for Rs. 3,10,200 by payment of premium up to the age of 55.

236 for Rs. 3,06,850 by payment of premium during life.

officials of the Life Insurance policies taken out. Out of a total of 40,691 employes, 832, or 2.04 per cent., have insured their lives. Excluding the menial classes, which form the great bulk of the staff, the general percentage rises to 5.07 per cent.

5. The Monthly Allowance Branch of this business continues to languish. Not only were no new contracts made during the year, but two contracts for monthly payments of Rs. 15 were surrendered. Thus two contracts only remained in existence on 31st March 1888, representing monthly payments of Rs. 9 in all.

6. The assets and liabilities of both branches of the business appear in the following abstract.

GOVERNMENT OF INDIA.

REVENUE AND AGRICULTURAL DEPARTMENT.

Weather Review of India for the week ending 8 a.m. on Monday, June 17th, 1889.

The weather of the past week has been much quieter than during the week preceding. No storms of any magnitude have been developed, and the general conditions over the greater part of the country have been such as normally accompany a fairly general incursion of monsoon winds and well distributed rainfall. The Bombay branch of the monsoon current has been far stronger than that from the Bay of Bengal, and hence the rainfall over the Peninsula has been more general and heavier than that over the Gangetic plain. In the latter region there has been comparatively little rainfall, the major part of the monsoon current from the Bay feeding into slight shallow depressions which formed over Lower Bengal and produced the slight but continuous precipitation which characterised that region.

The chart of the 11th showed conditions similar in many respects to those which prevailed at the close of the preceding week. A large but shallow depression, with its centre off the Circars and Orissa coasts, overlay Bengal, the east of the North-West and Central Provinces, and the Circars; a second depression was shown in the Indus Valley, while the highest pressures were reported from Malabar, Ceylon, and the south of the Bay. The winds were normal in direction. A strong westerly wind blew across the West Coast and over the Peninsula; in the Bay of Bengal it drew into south-westerly, and in Burmah and Lower Bengal into south-easterly, while in North Bengal and up the Gangetic plain it was easterly to south-easterly. In North-Western India there existed a partial circulation around the Indus Valley low pressure. On the 12th the principal changes consisted of alterations in the positions of the two areas of low readings. The centre of depression which on the 11th lay off the Orissa and Circars Coasts had passed northward into Lower Bengal, while the Indus Valley depression had passed southward and concentrated in Lower Sind. The winds were very little changed, except that the south-easterly winds from the Bay were interrupted over the North-Western Provinces and no longer penetrated into Upper India. On the 13th the only change of importance was the slight intensifying and northerly movement of the Bengal depression. The general distribution was unaltered, readings being high in the extreme south and relatively low in the Indus Valley and in Bengal. The chart of the 14th showed that the small depression over Bengal had more or less broken up, but that that over Sind had intensified. Gradients were consequently very steep over Sind, and all over that region very strong winds were blowing. The Bombay monsoon current on this day was everywhere exceptionally strong. On the 15th there was very little change in the distribution of pressure. The winds were also very little changed, the Bombay monsoon blowing with abnormal strength, while the Bengal current was weak and irregular. On the 16th there was a marked tendency to the formation of an area of depression and cyclonic circulation in Bengal, but no other change of importance. The chart of the 17th showed that a depression was steadily forming over Bengal, so that while the Bombay monsoon continued strong there was very little passage of air from the Bay into Upper India.

Temperature.—The week on the whole has been a cool one. The rainfall of the earlier days of the week effected a large decrease of temperature, and the showery weather which subsequently prevailed in Northern India prevented any very extensive recovery in that region, while the strong monsoon winds and more or less daily rain which occurred over the region affected by the Bombay current maintained low temperatures over the greater part of the remainder of India.

The coolest day on the whole was the 12th, when very low maxima for the season were experienced. At Patna and Gya on that day the maximum readings exhibited a deficiency of $10\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$; at Gorakhpur and Lucknow of 17° ; at Lahore of 18° ; at Bareilly of 22° ; and at Sirsa of 26° . From that day on to the close of the month the changes of temperature were somewhat irregular, but with a general tendency to rise.

The following table shows the excess or defect of the mean average temperatures of the different Provinces from the normal, both for the present and for the preceding week:

PROVINCE.	Difference of Mean Temperature of Last Week from Normal.	Difference of Mean Temperature of Present Week from Normal.
Burmah	+ $3\cdot4^{\circ}$	+ $0\cdot1^{\circ}$
Bengal	+ $1\cdot0^{\circ}$	— $1\cdot3^{\circ}$
North-Western Provinces	+ $3\cdot9^{\circ}$	— $6\cdot8^{\circ}$
Punjab	+ $5\cdot1^{\circ}$	— $3\cdot7^{\circ}$
Bombay	— $0\cdot3^{\circ}$	+ $0\cdot2^{\circ}$
Central Provinces and Berar	+ $4\cdot4^{\circ}$	— $2\cdot0^{\circ}$
Guzerat and Central India	+ $3\cdot1^{\circ}$	— $3\cdot3^{\circ}$
Sind and Rajputana	+ $3\cdot9^{\circ}$	— $2\cdot3^{\circ}$
Madras	+ $1\cdot2^{\circ}$	+ $0\cdot5^{\circ}$

From this table it will be seen that relatively to the average there has been a large fall of temperature compared with the preceding week. The only Provinces where the excess of last week has been maintained are Burmah and Bengal. In Bombay the slight deficiency of last week has been changed into a slight excess, while in all other Provinces there has been a deficiency of temperature varying from nearly $1\frac{1}{2}^{\circ}$ in Bengal to nearly 7° in the North-West Provinces. As mentioned above, the maxima have been abnormally low.

Rain has been fairly general throughout India during the week. Over a large part of the country it was of almost daily occurrence, but both in the east of the Peninsula and in the north-west of India it has been somewhat uncertain, rainy periods alternating with comparatively fine intervals.

The table at the end of this summary shows that of the 51 divisions into which India is divided, only one division, vis. Sind, received no rain; in 30 there was a greater or less excess, and in 19 the rainfall was more or less deficient. The greatest excess was in Burmah, where Tenasserim received $10\frac{1}{2}$ inches and Arrakan 17 inches more than the normal. In other parts of the Indian region neither the excess nor the deficiency was relatively large. The maximum falls reported from Burmah were in some cases very large. Tavoy received 26 inches; Moulmein and Amherst, 17 inches; Bassein, 19 inches; Akyab, 36 inches; and Sandoway, 31 inches. Beyond Burmah there were no very heavy falls. Cherrapunji received 23 inches during the week, but this is not a large amount for this proverbially wet station. Falls of between 5 and 8 inches were common throughout Bengal, but advancing north-westward up the Gangetic plain the amounts rapidly decreased, and in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh, except in the submontane districts, falls of 5 inches were the exception. In the Punjab the maximum falls were generally between 1 and 2 inches.

In the West Coast districts, with the exception of Calicut and South Kanara, no heavy falls are reported. In the Central parts of the country good average rain has been received, but in Kattiawar and Sind there has been little or none. In Rajputana there has been heavy, and on the East Coast there has been general and in places fairly heavy rain.

The concluding column of the table shows the state of the seasonal rainfall.

Madras.—For week ending 15th June.—No rain in Tinnevely; slight in Madras, Tanjore, Trichinopoly, Madura, and Coimbatore; good elsewhere. About 1½ inches fell in Ganjam. Crops generally good, but withering in parts of Cuddapah and South Arcot; suffering from want of rain or water in parts of Vizagapatam, North Arcot, Trichinopoly, Tinnevely, Coimbatore, and Salem. Indigo blighted in Trichinopoly. Water-supply insufficient in Ganjam, parts of Vizagapatam, Nellore, Chingleput, North Arcot, Coimbatore, and Salem. Stock suffering badly, chiefly from rinderpest, in Malabar, Kistna, and Tanjore. Prices rising in eleven districts, falling in five, and stationary in others. Prices of all grains rose in Ganjam: 865 deaths from cholera in that district. Labourers employed last day of week.—Rushikulya works, 3, 97; Gopalpur Canal, 2,968; Ghat Roads, 1,646. Average daily number on drinking-water tanks and wells, 4,779; on minor irrigation and other works, 2,623. General prospects favourable; beginning to improve in Ganjam.

Bombay.—For week ending 19th June.—Rain in Guzerat, Konkan, Deccan, Southern Mahratta Country, and Shikapur; insufficient in parts of Karachi, Thana, Nasik, Poona, Sholapur, Dhurwar, and Kathiawar. Sowing finished in Colaba; progressing in several districts, but retarded in five talukas of Poona for want of sufficient rain. Young crops doing well in Sholapur, Kanara, and Baroda. Transplantation commenced in Poona. Locusts appeared in Kandiaro taluka of Hyderabad, but no damage done.

Bengal.—For week ending 19th June.—The monsoon has now fairly set in, and the rainfall during the week has been general and in many districts considerable. More rain is however needed throughout the Patna Division. Agricultural prospects have improved generally. Ploughing and sowing are general, and the rice and jute where already sown are coming up well. Sugarcane, indigo, and other standing crops have been much benefited by the rain. Prices continue high and almost stationary.

North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 19th June.—The weather has been unsettled during the week. The eastern districts generally report an average rainfall, the central only light showers, and the western ones little or none at all. Ploughing is in progress in all districts, and kharif sowings have commenced in most. Markets are fairly well stocked, and prices are almost stationary, three districts only, Allahabad, Farukhabad, and Moradabad, reporting an upward tendency. From Cawnpore a scarcity of fodder in one tahsil is reported.

Punjab.—For week ending 19th June.—Good rain in most districts. Prices rising in Sadr station Lahore, falling in Rawalpindi, unsettled in Peshawar, and stationary elsewhere. Threshing operations nearly completed. Ploughings for and sowing of kharif still in progress. Crops are reported to be in good condition in Amritsar. Cotton and sugarcane crops promise well. Outturn of rabi is average in Lahore. Cotton slightly damaged by hail in Chunian, and fruit by storm in Sharakpur, Lahore district. Stock cattle are reported healthy. Fodder sufficient throughout the province.

• Central Provinces.—For week ending 19th June.—Rain general and sufficient. Land being prepared for autumn sowings, which have commenced in some districts under favourable conditions. Prices steady.

Burma.—For week ending 15th June.—The rainfall was heavy throughout Burma. Ploughing and sowing are progressing. Cattle-disease continues to be severe in Bhamo. The price of paddy has risen 25 per cent. in parts of Sando-way and 11 per cent. in Tavoy; elsewhere the fluctuations in prices are but slight. The food-supply is everywhere sufficient.

Assam.—For week ending 19th June.—Weather seasonable. Rainfall general. Ploughing for winter rice continues. Tea and other crops in general doing well.

Mysore and Coorg.—For week ending 19th June.—Good rain in Civil and Military Station, rainfall good in parts of Kadur and Shimoga districts, and insufficient in Bangalore and Kolar districts. Crops good. Agricultural operations progressing. Outturn of crops harvested generally favourable. Prices slightly fallen in Kadur district.

Heavy rain in Coorg. Prospects fair. Much sickness prevalent since wet-weather set in.

Berar and Hyderabad.—For week ending 19th June.—Rainfall fair in Berar. Weather warm and cloudy. Cotton sowing in progress. General condition of agricultural stock good. Fodder insufficient. Prices steady.

Good rain at Hyderabad. Kharif sowing in progress. Scarcity of fodder still felt. Prices stationary.

SEPARATE REVENUE.
SALT.

The 29th June, 1889.

No. 3207.—The Governor-General in Council directs that the subjoined rules made by him in the exercise of the powers conferred by the Indian Salt Act, XII of 1882, shall be published in accordance with the terms of section 29 of the said Act.

1. These rules shall apply to the districts of the Bhagalpur Division of the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, and shall have effect therein on and from the 29th June 1889.

2. The importation into any part of the territories to which these rules apply of the salt known in Calcutta and other parts of Bengal as "pakwa," being salt which has been obtained in the manufacture of saltpetre, and on which the duty for the time being imposed under section 7 of the Act has not been paid at the place where the salt was obtained as on salt manufactured in the part of British India where that place is situated, is prohibited absolutely.

3. No substance included under the term "saltpetre" in section 3 of the Act shall be manufactured or refined, and no salt shall be educed therefrom, except under and in accordance with the conditions of a license as hereinafter prescribed.

4. Applications for licenses shall be made to the salt revenue officer in charge of the division or circle in which the works are situated, who may grant the application on receipt of the prescribed license fee.

5. No license shall be granted for the manufacture of crude saltpetre, or any of the other substances included under the term "saltpetre" in section 3 of the Act, unless the licensing officer is satisfied that the soil in the vicinity of the place of manufacture, and the soil from which the said crude saltpetre or other substance is to be produced, do not contain such a percentage of chloride of sodium as to render the manufacture a source of danger to the salt revenue, and unless the works are so situated that they can without difficulty be supervised by the Salt Revenue Department.

6. As a general rule, no refinery shall be licensed until the parties applying for a license have satisfied the licensing officer that they are prepared to produce within the period of the license not less than two hundred maunds of refined saltpetre.

7. No refinery shall be licensed until the parties applying for a license have satisfied the licensing officer that the refinery buildings and premises are so constructed and surrounded by a wall as to afford full security for the levy of the duty on salt educed therein.

8. The following fees shall be levied in prepayment for licenses for each description of work:

	Rs.	a.	p.
For the manufacture and refining of saltpetre, including the eduction of salt therefrom	50	0	0
For the manufacture of saltpetre	0	4	0
For the manufacture of sulphate of soda (khari) by solar heat in evaporating pans	0	4	0
For the manufacture of sulphate of soda (khari) by artificial heat	0	4	0
For the manufacture of any other substance included under the term "saltpetre" in section 3 of the Act	0	4	0

9. The license for the manufacture of crude saltpetre or other substance included under the term "saltpetre" in section 3 of the Act to be granted to persons not licensed to refine the "saltpetre" or educe salt therefrom shall contain the name of the person to whom it is given, and shall specify the place where such manufacture may be carried on and the approximate quantity of saltpetre which should be manufactured, and shall contain the following conditions:

- 1st.*—That the provisions of the Act and of all rules duly made under it shall be strictly observed by the licensee, his agents, and servants.
- and.*—That no process for refining the crude saltpetre shall be resorted to.

3rd.—That the plant specified in the license shall not be altered, or the locality of the works changed, without written sanction from the salt revenue officer in charge of the circle.

And shall be subject to such further conditions as the Commissioner may from time to time prescribe for the protection of the Government revenue.

10. The license for the manufacture and refinement of saltpetre and for the eduction of salt therefrom shall contain the name of the person to whom it is given, and shall specify the place where such refinement of saltpetre and eduction of salt may be carried on and the approximate quantity of saltpetre to be refined, and shall also contain the following conditions :

1st.—That the provisions of the Act and of all rules duly passed under it shall be strictly observed by the licensee and his agents and servants.

2nd.—That the refinery buildings and surrounding walls shall be kept in good repair to the satisfaction of the salt revenue officer in charge of the circle, and so as to afford full security for the Government revenue.

3rd.—That the number of pans and boilers specified in the license shall not be altered without the written sanction of the salt revenue officer in charge of the circle.

4th.—That the licensee shall maintain a daily register showing the quantity of crude saltpetre purchased or manufactured, of the saltpetre refined therefrom, and of the salt educed from such saltpetre, and of the quantities of any of these substances which may be sold and removed from the refinery.

5th.—That no saline substance other than refined saltpetre shall be removed from the refinery except with the written sanction of the salt revenue officer of the circle ; and if the substance is by law subject to the payment of duty, on payment of two rupees and eight annas per maund of such substance, or of such other duty as may for the time being be imposed by the Governor-General in Council under section 7 of the Act : provided that, with the written sanction of the salt revenue officer of the circle, any saline substance subject to the payment of duty may without such payment be so removed for destruction at some convenient place outside the refinery under the supervision of the salt revenue officer of the circle, or other salt revenue officer named in the sanction.

And shall be subject to such further conditions as the Commissioner may from time to time prescribe for the protection of the Government revenue.

11. All licenses granted under these rules shall be for a period ending on or before the 31st July following the date of their issue, and shall on expiry be returned to the salt revenue officer.

12. Duplicates of licenses lost or destroyed during the period of their currency may be obtained on payment of one-quarter of the original license fee.

13. Every licensee shall produce his license for inspection when called upon to do so by any officer of the Salt Revenue Department not below the rank of Inspector or by any subordinate deputed by him for the purpose.

14. All licensed works and all premises connected therewith shall be open at all times by day or night to the inspection of any such officer or subordinate deputed by him for the purpose.

15. All diaries, registers, books of account, and the like connected with the business of licensed works shall at all times be open to the inspection of any such officer or of any subordinate deputed by him for the purpose.

16. All salt shall be daily weighed and placed in a bonded storehouse under lock and key, which key shall remain in possession of the salt revenue officer attached to the refinery.

Subject to such directions as the Commissioner may give from time to time, it shall be at the discretion of the Superintendent or Inspector from time to time to cause such salt to be weighed in his presence and removed from the bonded storehouse. The licensee shall within twenty-four hours subsequent to such weighment and before the removal of the salt pay the duty leviable thereon.

17. When salt has thus been weighed and the duty paid, it shall with all possible dispatch be removed to a distance of more than one hundred yards from any part of the refinery premises under a pass signed by the said Superintendent or Inspector.

The pass shall be current for such period not exceeding twenty-four hours as may be deemed necessary for the removal of the salt.

A pass shall not be granted for a less quantity than twenty maunds, except for the purpose of emptying the storehouse.

18. Except as hereinbefore provided, or with the permission of the Assistant Commissioner of Salt Revenue, no person shall possess any salt at any place within the limits of, or within one hundred yards from, the nearest point of any saltpetre manufactory or refinery and its appurtenances.

19. If any licensee under the foregoing rules fails during the period of the license to carry on effective working at the place at which he is licensed to carry on the same, the licensing officer may suspend the license until the licensee is prepared to resume effective working there.

20. In all cases in which illicitly manufactured salt or saltpetre is seized by any salt revenue officer below the grade of Superintendent, such officer shall at once proceed with the salt or saltpetre so seized, and any person concerned in the manufacture that he may have been able to arrest, and any independent witnesses to the seizure whose attendance he may be able to secure, to the nearest police post. The senior officer present at such police post shall receive from the seizing officer the salt or saltpetre so seized, and in the presence of witnesses and accused shall, after weighing and recording the weight of each, take from each distinct kind or quality of salt or saltpetre seized (if there be more than one such kind or quality) two samples of not less than one tola each, which he shall seal with the official seal of the police station, and after numbering them deliver them to the officer who made the seizure, recording at the same time a note on the printed form of seizure which will be presented to him, specifying the total weight of each kind seized according to the weighments made before him, and the corresponding numbers of the samples. The remainder of the salt or saltpetre shall be sealed up with the seal of the officer who made the seizure and of the police station, and shall remain in the mal-khana or other secure place in such station until such time as a written order shall be sent by the Superintendent of the circle either for the destruction of the articles seized, which shall be carried into effect by the officer presenting such request in the presence of some officer of the police station, and the same certified on the reverse of the order, or for the delivery of the same, or part thereof, as the case may be, to the bearer of the order for production in Court.

21. When a seizure is made by a Superintendent in person, he may either follow the foregoing procedure, deputing one of his subordinates present at the seizure to take the salt or saltpetre to the station and receive the samples, or he may himself on the spot take out and seal up the samples and the rest of the seized salt or saltpetre with his own official seal. He may then either take the salt or saltpetre seized with him to deposit where he considers it will be safest, or send it for deposit to the nearest or most accessible police station, to be kept, as in the previous case, until further orders. If, however, the Superintendent himself seals the salt or saltpetre, he must, in the event of the identity of the salt or saltpetre produced in Court being denied by the accused, be prepared to attend and prove the same in person.

22. When anything is seized and detained under the Act or the rules made under the Act, it shall not be released until all duty, penalties, and charges due on account thereof have been paid by the owner to the salt revenue officer who is in possession of such thing.

If the thing is reported for confiscation, it shall not be released unless orders for the release are received from competent authority.

23. If an animal is so seized and detained, the owner shall provide for its due care and keep, in default of which the animal may be sold to defray charges.

24. If orders are received from competent authority for the release of anything seized and detained, and no duty or penalty is payable in respect of such thing, it shall at once be given up to the owner or his agent on his paying all charges incurred.

25. Should no one be present to receive the thing released, the officer of salt revenue in charge shall do his best to give notice to the owner of the order of release, and shall cause a similar notice to be affixed on the office premises and at the Assistant Commissioner's office.

If within two calendar months from the date of the notice no person entitled to receive the thing claim it and pay all charges incurred, it shall be sold, and the proceeds placed in deposit.

After a further period of three calendar months, the money shall be credited to the Government.

26. If any duty is leviable or penalty is imposed by competent authority in respect of the thing seized, unless such duty or penalty, together with all charges incurred, be paid within three days of the receipt of the orders of competent authority for release subject to such payment, the thing shall be sold, and from the proceeds the duty, penalty, and charges shall be deducted, and the balance made over to the owner or his agent. Should no one be present to receive the money, notice, as under rule 25, shall be given, the money being kept in deposit for three calendar months. If not claimed within that period, it shall be credited to the Government.

27. When orders are received from competent authority for the confiscation of anything seized and detained, it shall with all convenient dispatch be sold or destroyed, as the Assistant Commissioner of Salt Revenue may direct.

28. When a Magistrate orders the confiscation of works, materials, or implements under section 9 of the Act, they shall be sold or destroyed by dismantling or otherwise under the orders of the Assistant Commissioner of Salt Revenue.

Appeals.

29. Any person who may be dissatisfied with an order passed by the Superintendent of a Circle may appeal to the Assistant Commissioner of the division; and any person dissatisfied with an order passed by an Assistant Commissioner may appeal to the Commissioner, whose decision shall be final.

30. The Commissioner of Salt Revenue may prescribe all forms necessary for the administration of the Act and of these Rules.

No. 3209.—In exercise of the power conferred by the last paragraph of section 1 of the Indian Salt Act, XII. of 1882, the Governor-General in Council is pleased to extend to the districts of the Bhagalpur Division of the territories administered by the Lieutenant-Governor of Bengal, with effect from the 29th June 1889, the whole of the said Act, except the portions thereof specified in the second paragraph of section 1, which are already in force in the said districts, and section 31.

"(3) Imperfect partition means the division of a mahál into two or more landed estates jointly responsible for the revenue assessed on the whole mahál.

The Central Provinces Land-revenue Bill.(Section 26.)

"136B. Any recorded co-sharer of a mahál and any person in whose favour a decree has been passed awarding to him a proprietary interest in a mahál, whether such interest consists of a fractional share in the whole mahál or a part of the mahál or of specific lands, is entitled to claim at any time imperfect partition of his share.

Persons entitled to perfect partition
"136C. Any recorded co-sharer in a mahál whose share, saving such part of it as may be impartible, has been completely separated from the rest of the mahál and is held by him in severalty, is entitled to claim perfect partition of his share at the time of settlement of such mahál.

Jurisdiction of Civil Court barred as to partition.
"136D. No Civil Court shall entertain any suit or application for the perfect or imperfect partition of a mahál.

Imperfect Partition.

Application for imperfect partition to be made to Deputy Commissioner.
"136E. (1) Applications for imperfect partition shall be made in writing to the Deputy Commissioner of the district in which the mahál is situate.

"(2) If the mahál is situate in two or more districts, the application may be made in any one of those districts, and the partition shall be made by such one of the Deputy Commissioners of those districts as the Chief Commissioner may direct.

Procedure on receipt of application.
"136F. (1) The Deputy Commissioner on receiving an application for imperfect partition shall, if the application be in order, and not open to objection on the face of it, publish a notification of the same at his office and at some conspicuous place on the mahál to which the application relates, and shall serve a notice on all such of the recorded co-sharers in the mahál as have not joined in the application, requiring any co-sharer in possession who may object to the partition to appear before him to state his objection either in person or by a duly authorized agent on a day to be specified in the notice, not being less than thirty or more than sixty days from the date on which such notice was issued.

"(2) Where from any cause notice cannot be personally served on any co-sharer the notification shall be deemed sufficient notice under this section.

Objection to partition.
"136G. If on or before the day specified any objection is made to the partition by any co-sharer in possession, and the Deputy Commissioner on a consideration of such objection is of opinion that there is good and sufficient reason why the partition should be absolutely disallowed, he may refuse the application, recording the grounds of his refusal.

Objection raising question of title.
"136H. (1) If the objection raises any question of title or of proprietary right which has not been already determined by a Court of competent jurisdiction, the Deputy Commissioner may either decline to grant the application until the question in dispute has been determined by a competent Court or may proceed to inquire into the merits of the objection.

"(2) In the latter case the Deputy Commissioner, after making the necessary inquiry and taking such evidence as may be adduced, shall record a judgment declaring the nature and extent of the interests of the party or parties applying for the partition, and any other party or parties who may be affected thereby.

"(3) The procedure to be observed by the Deputy Commissioner in trying such cases shall be that laid down in the Code of Civil Procedure XIV of 1882. for the trial of original suits, and he may with the consent of the parties refer any question arising in such case to arbitration, and the provisions of Chapter XXXVII of the same Code relative to arbitration shall apply to such references.

XVI of 1885.

"(2) Upon such appeal being made the Court of appeal may issue a precept to the Deputy Commissioner directing him to stay the partition pending the decision of the appeal.

"136J. From any decree or order passed under the last foregoing section by a Commissioner sitting as a Court of appeal a second appeal shall, where a second appeal is by law allowed, lie to the Court of the Judicial Commissioner under the law for the time being in force relating to second appeals to that Court.

"136K. When it has been decided to make a partition under this Chapter the Deputy Commissioner may give the parties the option of making the partition themselves or of appointing arbitrators for the purpose, or he shall make the partition himself.

"136L. Before commencing to make the partition the Deputy Commissioner shall record a proceeding specifying the lands held in severalty, if any, and the land held in common, and laying down the principles to be followed in making the partition with particulars of the method in which such principles are to be applied.

Each share to be made as compact as possible.
"136M. (1) The landed estate of each sharer shall be made as compact as possible :

"Provided that, so far as may be compatible with fairness of partition, lands held in severalty shall be left in the possession of the parties holding the same.

"(2) No partition shall be disallowed solely on the ground of incompactness.

The Central Provinces Land-revenue Bill.(Section 27.)

" 136N. (1) If in making the partition it be necessary to include in any landed estate the land occupied by a dwelling-house or other building in the possession of another co-sharer, such other co-sharer shall be allowed to retain it, with any buildings thereon, on condition of his paying a reasonable ground-rent for it to the sharer into whose estate it may fall.

" (2) The limits of such land and the rent to be paid for it shall be fixed by the Deputy Commissioner.

" 136O. (1) No sîr-land belonging to any co-sharer shall be included in the landed estate assigned on partition to another co-sharer unless with the consent of the co-sharer who cultivates it, or unless the partition cannot otherwise be conveniently carried out.

" (2) If such land be so included and after partition such co-sharer continue to cultivate it, he shall be recorded as an occupancy-tenant in respect of such land and his rent shall be fixed by order of the Deputy Commissioner.

" 136P. (1) Tanks, wells, water-courses and embankments shall be treated as attached to the land for the benefit of which they were originally made.

Power to assign titles to officers appointed to make settlements.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS.

THE object of this Bill is to amend the Central Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1881, with regard to matters in which the experience of the revenue-administration during the last eight years and the settlement-operations now in progress have shown the law to be defective. It is also necessary to make provision for giving effect to the orders of the Secretary of State regarding the introduction of the riyatwári system of settlement in tracts not included within the limits of the existing málguzári settlement.

The matters which call for notice in the Bill are as follows —

- (1) It is proposed to extend the Land-revenue Act to the scheduled districts. The scheduled districts are zamindáris paying revenue to the Government, and it is found inexpedient and unnecessary to exclude them from the ordinary revenue law of the provinces.
- (2) By section 5 of the Bill the definition of "sír-land" is amended. Under the present law the proprietor has as his sír-land (a) land recorded as "sír" at the last settlement, (b) land which was not so recorded but which has been cultivated by the proprietor for twelve consecutive years; and (c) waste-land which has been broken up by the proprietor and cultivated by him for six consecutive years. To prevent the proprietor obtaining under these provisions an excessive area of sír-land to the detriment of the tenants, it is further provided that land which has, after the date of settlement, or the expiration of the period of twelve years, or six years, as the case may be, been for a period of six years unoccupied by the proprietor is not sír-land, but that land is not unoccupied by the proprietor when it is leased out by him with an express reservation of his sír-rights. This definition of sír-land has been found to be defective in two material points. In the first place, it does not answer the purpose for which it was intended, namely, to prevent the undue accumulation of sír-land in the hands of the proprietor; and, in the second place, it frequently deprives the proprietor of his old sír-lands, the land which has for years been recorded in the settlement-records as his sír. If the landlord lets out this sír-land to a tenant who holds for six years continuously, the landlord loses his sír-rights. He might save them by expressly reserving them, but among an agricultural people the law is not carefully regarded; the express reservation of sír-rights is forgotten and the sír-rights are lost. It is now proposed to amend the definition of "sír-land" so as to remove this grievance of the landlords, and at the same time to prevent the excessive acquisition of sír-land under the twelve years occupancy rule. The definition in the Bill alters the rule as to the acquisition of sír-land by cultivating land for twelve years. For the future land will not under the definition become sír-land by being cultivated for twelve years by the proprietor; but, to preserve existing rights, land which has become sír under the twelve years occupancy rule and is occupied by the proprietor when this Bill becomes law will remain sír-land. It is also provided that for the future a proprietor shall not lose his sfr-rights by not occupying sfr-land for a period of six years. It is not intended, however, to interfere with the taking up by a proprietor of raiyati land for direct farming, nor to prevent a proprietor holding a reasonable amount of land as his sfr. Section 19 of the Bill accordingly empowers the Settlement-officer to record as sfr-land all land which he finds to have been cultivated by the proprietor for not less than twelve consecutive years; but the Settlement-officer will not under this provision declare raiyati land to be sfr if the total area of sfr-land in the mahál would thereby amount to more than a quarter of the cultivated area of the mahál. It is considered that these amendments will preserve to the proprietors their old sfr-lands, will prevent the excessive absorption of raiyati land into the sfr, and will at the same time afford the proprietor a full opportunity of holding in his own cultivation as sfr a reasonable amount of land.

- (3) Section 6 of the Bill defines, for the purposes of raiyatwári settlements, the expression "survey-number"; section 7 amends the definition of "mahál" for the same purposes; and section 8 adds a definition of the word "proprietor" to meet the requirements of the revenue-system in the Sambalpur district.
- (4) By section 9 of the Bill the definition of málik-makbúza is amended in order to make it clear that the status of málik-makbúza cannot be now created. The status of málik-makbúza or proprietor of a small plot of land in a mahál was created at the last settlement, and it was never intended that a person could become a málik-makbúza by acquiring a plot of land assessed to revenue in a mahál.
- (5) Section 10 of the Bill adds a definition of the word "patél" for the purposes of the raiyatwári settlement and a definition of the expression "landed estate" for the proposed enactments regarding partition.
- (6) By section 11 of the Bill an explanation is added to the definition of "tenant" so as to prevent the acquisition of tenant-right in lands held by málik-makbúzas and tenants of the Government. The majority of persons who were given the status of málik-makbúzas at the settlement and were thus made proprietors were raiyats who had a strong claim to protection. The grant of proprietary rights will prove injurious to them, if it leads to the acquisition of tenant-right by persons to whom the málik-makbúzas sublet their holding. In providing also that the tenant of the holder of a survey-number is a sub-tenant existing facts are maintained. A possible ambiguity is merely guarded against.
- (7) Section 12 of the Bill amends section 6 of the Act, the provisions of which as to the subordination of officers was found to be ambiguous and defective.
- (8) Section 13 of the Bill gives power to Revenue and Settlement Officers to require the attendance of persons whose presence is necessary for the purposes of revenue inquiries and proceedings. This power is not distinctly conferred by the Act and is necessary, especially in proceedings before Settlement-officers.
- (9) Section 14 of the Bill amends section 45 of the Act so as to authorize the Settlement-officer to require gaontias and thekadárs of Government land, or persons who hold survey-numbers, to erect or repair the boundary-marks of their lands.
- (10) Sections 15 and 16 of the Bill make provision for what is known as a fluctuating assessment, or an assessment chargeable according to the results of a year or part of a year. It is thought desirable that the Government should have the power of making such an assessment, if necessary, and the provisions of the Bill are adapted from the Punjab Land-revenue Act, 1887.
- (11) Section 17 of the Bill adds to the Act a provision of considerable importance. It is designed to place some restriction on the ejectment by zamindárs and other large proprietors of old-established gaontias, thekadárs or farmers who hold villages in farm. The position of a considerable number of these gaontias and thekadárs was at the last settlement little, if anything, inferior to that of the persons on whom proprietary rights were conferred. A large number of them founded, or represent the founders of, the villages which they hold, and have spent considerable sums of money on the establishment and improvement of those villages. At the last settlement a certain number of them, holding villages in estates which were more or less regularly settled, were secured by the grant of inferior proprietary rights, but the great majority of them were left unprotected. These held under leases or grants for a term of years, and these leases or grants were customarily renewed on the payment of a premium. The gaontia or thekadár considered that he had a right to such renewal, and on this understanding he expended money and improved the land entrusted to him. At first he was secure from ejectment or arbitrary enhancement, because, if he gave up the village, the zamindár would have had a difficulty in getting anyone else to take it. Recently, however, owing to the opening up of the country and the increase of competition, the zamindárs have been led to demand excessive rents or premia from the gaontias and thekadárs, and on their refusing to agree to pay the rent demanded the gaontias and thekadárs have been ejected and have lost in many cases the money which they had spent in improving the zamindár's property. It is considered that at the last settlement provision should have been made, when proprietary rights were conferred on the zamindárs and others, to secure also to the gaontias and thekadárs their rights in the villages which they hold. Under the present settlement endeavours have been made to supply this omission. Thekadárs and gaontias of long standing who have improved their villages have been given, with the consent of the zamindárs, a protected status, the principal incidents of which are non-liability to ejection or enhancement, except under the orders of the Deputy Commissioner, and the commutation to an annual payment of the heavy premia, or fines, commonly levied by zamindárs on the renewal of leases. It is however necessary to provide for cases in which the zamindár refuses at the settlement to grant such a protected status to his gaontias or thekadárs. Power is therefore given by the Bill to the Settlement-officer to make provision in the terms of settlement for the protection of thekadárs, gaontias or farmers against arbitrary enhancement or ejection. This power can only be exercised with the previous sanction of the Chief Commissioner and in the case of those persons who were in possession at the last settlement or who have established a village or substantially improved it at their own cost. To meet the cases of those persons who may have been ejected merely in order to prevent rights being secured to them in the present settlement, power is also taken to inquire into the claim of a thekadár or gaontia who has been ejected within three years from the date on which the Bill becomes law, and, with the previous sanction of the Chief Commissioner, to reinstate him in possession if he was in possession at the last settlement or if he has established the village or substantially improved it at his own cost.

- (12) Section 18 of the Bill inserts nine sections to provide for raiyatwári settlements. In tracts over which proprietary rights were not conferred at the settlement the cultivators hold direct from the Government. The present Land-revenue Act contains no special provisions for the settlement of lands so held or for realizing the rents from them, and it is necessary to supply this defect. The provisions contained in the Bill follow generally the system of raiyatwári settlement in force in the Bombay Presidency. They also declare the right which the raiyat has in his survey-number or holding separately assessed with land-revenue. The right is heritable, but not transferable except to a person who, if he survived the raiyat, would inherit his right or to a co-sharer in the right or, with the permission of the Deputy Commissioner, to a person who cultivates as a sub-tenant from year to year. It is also provided that the right cannot be transferred by decree of Court. Experience has shown that it is not a benefit to a raiyat to confer a transferable right upon him. The result too frequently is that the raiyat raises money on the security of his holding, spends the money extravagantly for marriage and other purposes and loses his land.
- (13) Section 20 of the Bill contains an amendment so as to make the definitions of "arrears" and "defaulters" in section 91 of the Act applicable to the case of land held under a raiyatwári settlement.
- (14) Section 21 of the Bill provides that, if a raiyat holding a survey-number fails to pay his revenue, he can be ejected.
- (15) Section 22 of the Bill contains a provision intended to preserve the forests which have been settled with proprietors. When, at the last settlement, proprietary right in forest-land was conferred on the persons with whom the settlement was made, the injustice was recognized of permitting this measure to affect the tenants injuriously, and rights in village-forests and waste-lands were expressly reserved for the tenants. The great rise in the value of timber and firewood which has taken place since the last settlement has led the proprietors to cut and sell the wood, so that in some cases the forests have been almost entirely destroyed. The village-population consequently finds it more and more difficult to get material for the annual repairs of their houses and for other purposes. It was to meet this evil that section 123 was inserted in the present Act, but the powers which it gives are too limited to be effectual. For the violation of a rule entered in the record-of-rights a proprietor can under that section be rendered liable to a fine of two hundred rupees, but it is obvious that this fine will not restrain a proprietor who can make ten times the amount by cutting and selling the timber of the village-forest. The section inserted by the Bill provides that, when under any record-of-rights, sanad or agreement with the Government a proprietor is bound to manage forest-land in accordance with rules or instructions prescribed by any Government officer, the Chief Commissioner may make rules regarding the control and management of the forest-land. If the rules are disregarded, power is given to the Deputy Commissioner, with the previous sanction of the Chief Commissioner, to take the forest-land under direct management, and provision is made for the cost of management and the payment of the profits to the proprietor. The usual provision is made to guard against incumbrances or contracts created on, or made with respect to, the forest-land by the proprietor, and also as to restoring possession to the proprietor after the expiration of the term of direct management. Power is also given to the Deputy Commissioner to confiscate any timber or other forest-produce cut or removed in contravention of the rules made by the Chief Commissioner. It is hoped that these provisions will be sufficient to prevent the injury caused to the public and the village-community by the destruction of village-forests.

- (16) Section 23 of the Bill amends section 125 of the Act with a view to extending to the purchasers of waste-land plots the obligations in regard to the maintenance of village-records. The words "occurring subsequently to the preparation of the record-of-rights" may be taken to exclude the operation of this section in cases where land has been acquired and villages settled since last settlement, and where consequently no formal record-of-rights has been prepared.
- (17) Section 24 of the Bill gives to the Deputy Commissioner the power, when a settlement is not in progress, of inquiring under the new section 65A into the claims of thekadárs or gaontias.
- (18) By section 25 of the Bill section 135 of the Act is amended so as to render the raiyats of raiyatwári villages liable for the repairing of boundary-marks.
- (19) Section 26 of the Bill repeals section 136 of the Act and substitutes a chapter on partition—a matter which was not properly provided for in the Act and which is now regulated by Act XIX of 1863. It is intended, however, to make an important amendment in the law regarding partition. Owing to the physical features of the country it is in many cases impossible to make a partition of an estate into compact shares. It is inconvenient to divide a mahál into several maháls unless they can be made compact, and the result is that it is extremely difficult to make a perfect partition of a mahál, that is to say, to divide it into a number of maháls each of which is separately assessed. In two districts (Chánda and Nimar) it was provided in the record-of-rights that a perfect partition cannot be made without the sanction of the Chief Commissioner, and with respect to the other districts it is considered that, having regard to the fact that proprietary rights, and consequently the right to partition, only came into existence at the last settlement, the Government is entitled to refuse to allow the joint responsibility of the proprietors of an estate to be broken up during the currency of a settlement. The majority of persons, moreover, who ask for partition do not want to be released from the joint liability for the land-revenue. Their object is to obtain a division of the land in the mahál, and especially of the sár-land, of which perhaps one co-sharer holds more than his fair proportion. If facilities were afforded for making an imperfect partition, it is considered that perfect partition would seldom be asked for. The new sections inserted by the Bill provide that any co-sharer may claim at any time imperfect partition of his share, but that perfect partition can only be claimed at the time of settlement and then only by a sharer who holds his share in severalty. Provisions adapted from the North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act are made for carrying out an imperfect partition. With regard to perfect partition power is given to the Settlement-officer, subject to rules made by the Chief Commissioner, to declare that a share held in severalty is a separate mahál.
- (20) Section 27 of the Bill amends section 137 of the Act so as to give the Chief Commissioner power to make rules regulating the appointment, remuneration and removal of patéls, the persons who represent the raiyats of raiyatwári villages in their dealings with the Government. The provisions of the same section with regard to mukaddams are also amended. As the section now stands it provides that, where there are resident málguzárs, one of such málguzárs shall be the mukaddam. Experience has, however, shown that it is generally hopeless to look to any one but the lambardár for the authority which the mukaddam requires for the proper performance of his duties. Moreover, the allowance which is given to the mukaddam is generally so small that it is insufficient to induce a person to undertake the duties and responsibilities of the office. The duties which the Act attaches to the office of mukaddam are duties which are properly attached to the ownership of property. The amendment proposed by the Bill, therefore, provides that the lambardár of a village shall also ordinarily be the mukaddam; that if the lambardár does not reside in the village he shall be bound to appoint an agent to perform his duties, and that notwithstanding the appointment of an agent the lambardár-mukaddam shall be responsible for the due performance of duties imposed on a mukaddam by the Act.
- (21) Section 28 of the Bill inserts a new section declaring what the duties of the patél are, namely, to collect and pay into the treasury the land-revenue of his village, to report the abandonment of survey-numbers and other matters regarding his village, to assist the patwári and village-watchman in recovering their dues, and to prevent the unauthorized cutting of wood in Government forests.

- (22) The amendments made by sections 29, 30, 31 and 32 of the Bill relate to patwáris. They provide, in the first place, for the appointment of patwáris in places where no patwáris previously existed, in the second place, they legalize the collection of the dues payable by tenants in return for the patwári's services through the málguzárs instead of by the patwáris themselves, and, in the third place, they legalize the appropriation of part of the proceeds of the patwáricess in defraying the expense of a supervising staff and in meeting charges connected with the working of the patwári system, such as those for instruments and forms.

At the last settlement the proprietors in some districts were allowed the option of maintaining patwáris or of making their own arrangements for the performance of the patwári's duties. The result was that in many cases no patwári was maintained and no proper arrangement was made for the performance of his duties. To remedy this section 145 of the Act provided that the Chief Commissioner might make rules empowering the Deputy Commissioner to impose fines on the proprietors and therefrom to make provision for the temporary performance of the duties of the patwári, or to appoint a patwári and to fix his remuneration. No provision was made as to the persons who were bound to pay this remuneration. This enactment has not worked satisfactorily. In many cases proprietors have consented to have a patwári appointed and to pay a patwáricess, but it is inconvenient to leave it open to proprietor to decide whether they will have a patwári or not. Power is accordingly taken by amending section 144 of the Act so as to enable the Chief Commissioner to appoint patwáris in tracts where they have not been heretofore appointed, and section 145 of the Act is repealed, as it will no longer be required.

Section 32 of the Bill adds a new section (146A) giving the Chief Commissioner power to fix the contributions payable by the proprietors and tenants towards the remuneration of patwáris the cost of supervising their work and maintaining their records. This will enable the Government to enforce the payment of the patwáricess and will legalize the expenditure of a part of the patwári fund in paying for a portion of the supervising establishment of revenue inspectors and for charges connected with the working of the patwári-system. The fees paid by tenants to patwáris constitute in some districts of the Central Provinces a large proportion of the patwári's emoluments. When these fees are payable in cash it is desirable that they should be collected by the málguzár and paid into the Government treasury instead of being collected by the patwáris themselves. Section 146A therefore gives the Chief Commissioner power to direct that the patwáris fees shall be paid into the Government treasury by the Ambudát of the málal or the patel.

The limit now fixed with regard to the amount chargeable as patwáricess remains unaltered.

- (23) Section 33 of the Bill adds to the Act a section (147A) providing for the appointment and remuneration of the kotwár or village-watchman. Like the mukaddam the kotwár is an administrative officer and for the most part by a grant of land but his position and emoluments were not sufficiently provided for at the last settlement in the record-of-rights. It is expedient to give the Government power to control the kotwár, especially as it is important for the police-administration that the kotwár's duties should be efficiently performed.
- (24) Sections 34 and 35 of the Bill amend sections 148 and 149 of the Act so as to save the appointments of existing kotwárs and to provide for the realization of the fees to which they are entitled.
- (25) In section 151 of the Act it was intended to preserve to the Government the right to extract sap from all trees yielding the sap which is known as "tári". The tree from which "tári" is made in the Central Provinces is the date-palm, but by an oversight in the drafting of the Act the sap of the palmyra and coconut trees was mentioned, and consequently the right of the Government to extract "tári" has not been preserved. It is, however, considered expedient to repeal the words reserving the right and not to amend them. To withdraw from proprietors the right to extract "tári" would rouse great opposition, and the profits which they derive from the date-palms can be taken into account in assessing the revenue on their estates. Section 36 of the Bill accordingly repeals the words "and the right to extract sap from all palmyra and coconut trees".
- (26) Sections 37 and 38 of the Bill add to the matters with regard to which the jurisdiction of the Civil Courts is barred by section 152 of the Act. The jurisdiction of the Courts is excluded with regard to questions arising out of the direct management under section 124A of forest-land from which a proprietor has been excluded for contravening the rules for the management of the forest-land, with regard to questions which may arise with respect to the distribution of land and allotment of revenue at a partition, and also with regard to claims to the office of patél or village-watchman.

- (27) Section 39 of the Bill provides for the punishment of mukaddams for neglect of duty or for abuse of authority. In order also to give effect to the rules made for the duties of mukaddams and to support their authority with regard to village-sanitation, a penalty is provided for the neglect or disobedience of a reasonable order made by a mukaddam in pursuance of the duty imposed upon him by section 141, clause (c), of the Act.
- (28) The object of section 40 of the Bill is to legalize the practice of designating the Chief Settlement-officer as the Settlement-officer and the Settlement-officer as the Assistant Settlement-officer. Section 29 of the Act uses the expressions Chief Settlement-officer and Settlement-officer, but it has been found more convenient in practice to use the titles Settlement-officer and Assistant Settlement-officer.

CENTRAL PROVINCES LAND-REVENUE BILL.

The Hon'ble MR. CROSTHWAITE moved for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Central Provinces Land-revenue Act, 1881. He said:—

“ Since the Central Provinces Land-revenue Act was passed in the year 1881 the experience gained by the officers of the revenue-administration, and especially by the officers engaged in making the settlements now in progress, has shown that the Act requires amendment. The Chief Commissioner has carefully watched the working of the Act and considered those matters with regard to which obscurities or defects in the law have been, from time to time, brought to the notice of the Local Government. He feels that the amendment of a fundamental law like the Land-revenue Act ought only to be undertaken on strong grounds of necessity or expediency, and that in any case nothing should be done to undermine or invalidate principles which had been accepted after full discussion and confirmed by the legislature. He is now convinced from his own experience that, taken as a whole, the system embodied in the Land-revenue Act is well-suited to the requirements of the province, and that nothing like radical alteration of the law is anywhere required. There are, however, undoubtedly in his opinion a considerable number of minor matters in respect of which amendment would seem to be desirable; but in considering these he has endeavoured to limit as far as possible the extent of change, and to leave the law unaltered when this course can be followed without serious objection. I must mention here, my Lord, that the Central Provinces Tenancy Act, which was passed in 1883, followed the principles laid down in the Land-revenue Act, 1881, and consequently, if the latter Act is amended, it will be necessary to make a few amendments in the former. I shall, therefore, on a future occasion have to ask for leave to introduce a Bill to amend the Tenancy Act.

"With your Lordship's permission I will notice as briefly as possible the most important amendments which are contained in the Bill.

"In the first place, it is proposed to extend the Land-revenue Act to the scheduled districts of the Central Provinces. These scheduled districts consist of certain zamindari estates included within the limits of six districts. Why these districts were selected to be scheduled is not clear, but, as regards the land-revenue law, the Chief Commissioner considers that there is no reason why it should not be extended to them. They are assessed with revenue, and it is inconvenient that there should be no law for making the settlement of the estates or for realizing the revenue.

"The next amendment contained in section 5 of the Bill with regard to the definition of 'sir-land' is of great importance. By the Tenancy Act of 1883 a proprietor has rights in his 'sir-land' which he has not in other land. He can at his pleasure enhance the rent of the tenant of 'sir-land' or eject him. The amendment, therefore, of the definition of 'sir-land' affects the rights both of the landlord and the tenant and requires most careful consideration.

"The present definition was first enacted in the Land-revenue Act of 1881, and, though it was not considered to be free from objection, it was thought advisable to follow it in the Tenancy Act of 1883. That definition made the following descriptions of land to be sir-land:—first, the land recorded as sir at the last settlement, secondly, land which the proprietor had cultivated himself for twelve consecutive years, and, thirdly, waste-land which the proprietor had broken up and cultivated for six consecutive years. Now, it was obvious that, if the proprietor could make land sir by cultivating it for twelve years, he could in the course of time, by ejecting tenants and cultivating their land for twelve years, convert nearly the whole village-lands into sir-lands. The result would be the destruction of the tenant-right which it was the object of the legislature to preserve. To prevent this result it was provided in an Explanation to the definition that, if after the date of the settlement at which the land was recorded as sir, or after the land had become sir-land under the twelve and six years occupancy rule, the land was unoccupied by the proprietor for six consecutive years, it would cease to be sir-land, unless it had been leased to a tenant with an express reservation of sir-rights. It was expected that the proprietor would not be able to cultivate more than a certain quantity of land, and that consequently, if he acquired sir under the twelve years or six years rule, he would lose that or other land under the provision contained in the Explanation. This expectation has, however, not been realized. Once having made land sir the proprietor can let it with an express reservation of his sir-rights to a tenant and so keep it sir. It is also found that by a system of cultivating the land in partnership with a raiyat the proprietor can manage to farm a large area himself. The proprietor supplies the seed or part of the labour or only the land, and shares the produce with the raiyat. The tenants of sir-land being unprotected against enhancement and ejectment, there exists a powerful incentive to evict tenants and to convert the land into sir. The tendency of the law is, therefore, to promote a contest between landlords and tenants which may have a most injurious effect.

"In some parts of the country this tendency has hitherto not operated to disturb the relations between them. 'The great majority of málguzárs are,' Mr. Mackenzie says, 'still under the influence of the idea that the raiyats of a village are free from interference except at the time of settlement—an idea which has come down to them from the days of native rule and which has furnished so sure a basis for the tenancy legislation of the Provinces.' But it cannot be expected that, the law being as it is, the landlords will remain under this influence. In parts of the provinces the struggle to make the raiyati lands sîr-lands has already begun. It has been ascertained that in 56 villages of the Hoshungabad district the landlords now hold 28,697 acres against 12,718 acres held by them at the last settlement, whereas the raiyats hold only 44,483 acres against 55,506 acres at the last settlement. The cultivated area of these villages has increased by under ten per cent., while the portion of it held by the landlords has more than doubled. The contest in this respect between the landlord and tenant is strongest where the proprietary right in the land has passed to the money-lending classes, who are not restrained by old customs and the kindly relations which existed between the old land-holding families and their tenants. In conferring proprietary rights in the Central Provinces it was never the intention of the Government to destroy the rights of the tenants, and in order to preserve these rights a limit must be placed on the conversion of raiyati land into sîr-land.

"The landlords also have a complaint to make against the present definition of sîr-land. Before the Act was passed a tenant-right could not be acquired in sîr-land let to a tenant. Under the Act, if a landlord lets his sîr-land to a tenant without an express reservation of the sîr-rights and if the tenant holds for six consecutive years, the sîr-rights are lost. Many of the landlords through ignorance of the law have omitted to make this reservation, and have thus lost their rights in the land which they had for years regarded as their own peculiar home-farm. This state of the law has given great dissatisfaction to the landlords.

"For these reasons, my Lord, I submit that it is necessary to amend the definition of sîr-land. The proposal to amend the definition has not been adopted without the most anxious consideration on the part of Mr. Mackenzie and Mr. Fuller, the Settlement Commissioner; but it is considered that without the amendment the contest between landlord and tenant, which has already commenced, cannot be put a stop to, and that the respective rights of the landlord and the tenant cannot be preserved.

"The Bill proposes to leave to the landlords as sîr-land all land recorded as sîr at the last settlement, all land which they have been cultivating for twelve years when this Bill becomes law and all waste-land which they have broken up and cultivated for six years; and, except with respect to land which has been unoccupied by the proprietor for six years when this Bill becomes law, it further proposes to repeal the rule by which sîr-rights were lost in land which might be unoccupied by the proprietor for six consecutive years. The amendment therefore will as far as possible secure rights already acquired over raiyati land while limiting their acquisition for the future. It is not intended, however, to restrict unduly the acquisition of sîr-land by a proprietor. It is, therefore, provided by section 19 of the Bill that the Settlement-officer shall record as sîr all land which he finds has been cultivated by the proprietor for twelve consecutive years, subject to this proviso that raiyati land which has been so cultivated shall not be recorded as sîr if the total area of sîr-land in the mahâl would thereby amount to more than a quarter of the cultivated area of the mahâl. In effect, therefore, the landlord will have ample power to increase his sîr-land by breaking up waste-land and cultivating raiyati land, while he will not suffer the loss of his sîr-rights through ignorance of the law or neglect to secure them by an express reservation. The tenant, on the other hand, will be protected against the loss of the raiyati land by an excessive conversion of such land into sîr. It is hoped that these amendments will effect a substantial improvement in the law.

"The next important amendment is contained in section 17 of the Bill. This section inserts a section in the Act with a view to protect thekadârs, gaontias or farmers whose rights were not provided for at the last settlement. In some parts, especially parts which were remote from the seat of Government and which comprised a large amount of waste-land or forest, the Native Governments used to assign a large tract of land to a person, called a zamindár, who had to pay the revenue assessed on it or to render service to the State and who made what he could out of it. No doubt, under an arbitrary Government, the zamindár was liable to enhancement of the revenue-demand and to be dispossessed. He managed the estate by leasing villages or tracts of land to thekadárs or gaontias, who paid nazarána or a premium for their leases, and also a yearly revenue with numerous cesses. They established or improved villages, induced cultivators to reside in them and take up land; they brought waste-land into cultivation, constructed tanks and spent money on the improvement of the property. The custom was that when a lease expired it was renewed to the same thekadár or gaontia or his heirs on the payment of a premium. The zamindár seems to have had the power of ejecting his thekadárs or gaontias, but as a matter of fact the power was seldom exercised. If a thekadár who had spent his money on a village in the expectation of being allowed to continue holding it had been ejected, it would have been difficult for the zamindár to have found another competent person to manage the village. The position then of the gaontia or thekadár with respect to the zamindár at the last settlement was similar to the position which the málguzárs had with respect to the Government. The gaontia or thekadár, therefore, was entitled at the settlement to have some kind of proprietary right conferred upon him, and in some cases such a right was conferred; but in other cases, owing probably to inadvertence, the full proprietary rights were conferred on the zamindár and the thekadár and gaontia were left absolutely unprotected. The result has been that, as the country has been opened up and the competition for land has increased, the zamindárs have sought to raise the rents of the thekadárs and gaontias, or to exact heavy nazaránas from them for a renewal of their leases. In some cases the rents demanded have been agreed to and the nazarána paid, and the thekadár or gaontia has proceeded to pass on the exaction to the tenants. In other cases the thekadár or gaontia has resisted the zamindár's claims and has been ejected.

"To remedy the omission made at the settlement with regard to protecting the rights of these thekadárs and gaontias section 17 of the Bill proposes an enactment conferring on the Settlement-officer power to inquire into their claims, and, if it is proved that they were in possession at the last settlement or have established their villages or effected substantial improvements at their own cost, to provide for their protection against arbitrary enhancement or ejectment. To meet the cases of those persons who have been ejected recently, probably because the zamindár apprehended that they might be given rights at the present settlement, power is taken for the Settlement-officer to restore to possession and to make provision for the protection of those thekadárs or gaontias who were in possession at the last settlement or have established their villages or effected substantial improvement, and who have been ejected within a period of three years before this Bill becomes law. These powers conferred on the Settlement-officer can only be exercised with the sanction of the Chief Commissioner.

"The next subject I have to notice, my Lord, is the provision made for raiyatwári settlements by section 18 of the Bill. In some districts of the Central Provinces there are tracts over which no proprietary rights were conferred at the last settlement. These tracts are cultivated by tenants holding directly from the Government, but there are no special provisions in the Land-revenue Act with regard to the status of these tenants and the assessment and realization of the revenue payable for their holdings. Mr. Mackenzie is in favour of extending cultivation in places where this will not conflict with the true interests of the Forest Department, which stepped in as the proprietor of all land excluded from the village-waste. He considers that it is in the interests of the people as well as of the Government revenue to meet the keen demand for land which exists in some places, by throwing open to cultivation blocks of culturable waste which are now included in the Government forests, but which have no value from a forest point of view. The question, he points out, assumes an important aspect from its connection with the encouragement of immigration from the crowded districts of the North-Western Provinces and Behar. It is considered that in the best interests of the people and the Government it is advisable to settle these lands directly with the cultivators instead of letting them out to middlemen. The area, therefore, of Government land cultivated by raiyats may be expected to grow annually in importance, and it is necessary to make provision for making settlements with raiyats and for realizing the revenue from them.

"The system of raiyatwari settlement which the Bill proposes is generally similar to that of the Bombay Presidency which has been lately followed in settling certain villages in the Chanda district of the Central Provinces. Power is given to the Chief Commissioner for the assessment of the lands held by Government raiyats; the lands will be divided into survey-numbers, on each of which a separate assessment, either fixed or progressive, or in the form of rates chargeable according to the results of the harvest, will be made. Provision is made as to the person to whom the assessment is to be offered and the responsibility for, and the realization of, the revenue. With regard to the nature of the right of a raiyat in his holding, it is provided that the right shall be heritable, but the power of transfer is carefully limited, inasmuch as experience has shown that the conferring of a transferable right on a raiyat proves too often a curse instead of a blessing. The raiyat is tempted to borrow money on the security of his holding, and loses his land. It is better to secure his land for him even though by so doing we limit his power of borrowing. In the raiyatwari village there will be appointed a patel who will represent the raiyats in their dealings with the Government, and whose duties regarding the collection of the revenue, the reporting of matters of which the Revenue-authorities require information with respect to his village, the preservation of Government forests, and so forth, are enumerated in section 28 of the Bill. The patel will occupy a position similar to that of a lambardar in a malguzari village; and by section 27 of the Bill it is provided that he shall ordinarily be the mukaddam of his village and that his remuneration shall be fixed by the Chief Commissioner. Provision is also made in the new section 671 for raiyats who hold Government land not included in regularly settled raiyatwari villages. This provision calls for no special remark.

"The next amendment which requires explanation is that contained in section 22 of the Bill. At the last settlement proprietary rights were in some cases granted in forest-land, but the rights of the tenants to the use of the forest and to cut wood for the repairs of their houses and for agricultural purposes were reserved, and generally the proprietor was bound by the record-of-rights or his sanad to manage the forest properly and in accordance with the orders of the Government. With the extension of railways and the opening up of the country there has been a great rise in the value of timber and forest-produce, and consequently a difficulty has been for some years experienced in compelling the proprietors to act up to their engagements and to preserve their forests. Section 123 of the present Act was intended to meet this difficulty; but the power to fine a proprietor two hundred rupees for cutting down a village-forest is ineffectual. The proprietor can probably make ten times the amount of the fine by disregarding his obligations and cutting and selling the trees in the village-forest. The destruction of these forests by the proprietors is contrary to the agreements, either express or implied, made by them at the last settlement, it defrauds the inhabitants of the village of their rights in the forest, causes a loss of revenue to the Government and may produce injurious effects on the rainfall and water-supply. Section 22 of the Bill, therefore, contains a provision which it is considered will enable the Local Government to secure the proper management of village-forests. This provision empowers the Chief Commissioner to make rules regarding the management of forest-land which a proprietor is bound under the record-of-rights or his sanad or any other agreement with the Government to manage in accordance with the instructions of Government officers. If the rules are disregarded, the forest-land can be taken under direct management with the previous sanction of the Chief Commissioner, and the timber cut in contravention of the rules may be confiscated. I may mention also that a further means of controlling the owners of these forest-lands is afforded by the power of making the assessment on the forest-lands take the form of rates chargeable according to the results of each year or part of a year. This power is conferred by the amendment of section 46 of the Act made by section 15 of the Bill, and will enable the Government to assess the revenue on the value of the timber and forest-produce disposed of by the proprietor.

"The next subject which I have to notice is the partition of maháls. In the present land-revenue Act there is only one section (136) regarding partition. This section gives a co-sharer who holds his share in severalty the right to have that share made a separate mahál liable only for the revenue assessed upon it. The North-Western Provinces Partition Act (XIX of 1863) has also been extended to the Central Provinces, and under it a sharer in a mahál is entitled to claim perfect partition, that is, to have his share divided off and made a mahál separately assessed with revenue; but he cannot have imperfect partition made, that is, a separation of his share in the mahál without a separation of the joint liability for the revenue assessed on the mahál. The result is that, when a sharer in a mahál wishes to hold his share of the land in severalty, he is obliged to apply for perfect partition. From a revenue point of view it is inconvenient to have incompact maháls, that is, to have the lands of one mahál mixed up with the lands of another mahál; but, owing to the physical features of the country, it is frequently impossible to make a fair partition so as to make the shares compact. The good land often lies in one place and the inferior land in another. It is consequently extremely difficult to make a perfect partition which will be fair to the sharers and at the same time will not cause inconvenience to the revenue-administration. The unlimited power of claiming a perfect partition is open also to another objection. Every mahál must be separately assessed and should ordinarily have its separate record of rights, and, if a number of small maháls, assessed separately with perhaps less than Rs. 20 annual revenue, are created, great inconvenience and expense will be caused to the administration. In two districts (Chínda and Nimar) it was provided in the record-of-rights at the last settlement that a perfect partition should not be made without the sanction of the Chief Commissioner, and, considering that proprietary rights have so recently been granted in the Central Provinces, the Government can fairly impose limitations on the right to perfect partition in other districts and can refuse to allow changes affecting the security of the revenue during the currency of a settlement. Where málguzárs have jointly agreed to pay the Government revenue, the Government may fairly decline to release them from their joint liability. At the same time it is considered that every facility should be afforded to sharers to obtain an imperfect partition, so that they may have a fair division of the village-lands and that each may hold his share in severalty. It is believed that perfect partition will seldom be asked for if an imperfect partition can readily be obtained.

"The new sections inserted by the Bill provide that any co-sharer may claim at any time imperfect partition of his share, but that perfect partition can only be claimed at the time of settlement, and then only by a sharer who holds his share in severalty. Provisions adapted from the North-Western Provinces Land-revenue Act are made for carrying out an imperfect partition. With regard to perfect partition, power is given to the Settlement-officer, subject to rules made by the Chief Commissioner, to declare that a share held in severalty is a separate mahál.

"Section 27 of the Bill makes some changes which require notice in the law regarding the mukaddams or village-headmen. In moving that the Bill which is now the Land-revenue Act of 1881 be passed, Sir Charles Grant made the following remarks regarding mukaddams:—

'As the Chief Commissioner explains in his letter, * * the miscellaneous duties which the Bill imposes on the mukaddam had always, in the Central Provinces, been discharged by the head of the village; and, under the Native Government, any neglect of them would probably have resulted in forfeiture of the village. Even in the earlier days of our rule, before the award of proprietary right at the late settlements, no difficulty could arise in enforcing the performance of these duties, as the bulk of the land was held on mere farming leases, which the Government could always renew or not as it pleased; and at the head of each village was a responsible farmer, who was aware that the continuance of his lease depended on his good behaviour. The recent gift of proprietary right set grantees free to sub-divide among their families or to sell to richer men. Thus, many village-estates broke up, whilst others accumulated in the hands of absentee capitalists. In the latter case, the Government had no one to look to for the performance of the customary duties attaching to land; whilst, in the former, there were so many landlords that responsibility was divided and frittered away. Further, notwithstanding pledges made by them at the settlements, landholders, in some instances, took advantage of the increased securities of their position to neglect duties which could no longer be exacted from them by the simple expedient of ejection. Consequently, there was a practical difficulty to be dealt with, and, in the words of the Chief Commissioner, "no more simple or effective arrangement was possible than appointing a mukaddam in each village to discharge the miscellaneous duties properly devolving on the village-head."

"These were the reasons, my Lord, which led to the legislation regarding the mukaddam or village-headman in the Land-revenue Act of 1881. It has been found, however, that the provisions of that Act are in this respect somewhat deficient.

"The law now provides that, where there are resident málguzárs, one of such málguzárs shall be the mukaddam; but the resident málguzáár may have only a small share in the village and very little influence. Experience has shown that it is generally hopeless to look to any one but the lambardár, the real head of the village, for the authority which the mukaddam requires for the proper performance of his duties. Moreover, the allowance which is given to the mukaddam is generally so small that it is insufficient to induce a person to undertake the duties and responsibilities of the office. The duties which the Act attaches to the office of mukaddam are duties which are properly attached to the ownership of property, and it is necessary that this responsibility of owners of property should be insisted on. The amendment proposed by the Bill is therefore to provide that the lambardár of a village shall also ordinarily be the mukaddam; that if the lambardár does not reside in the village he shall be bound to appoint an agent to perform his duties; and that notwithstanding the appointment of an agent the lambardár-mukaddam shall be responsible for the due performance of duties imposed on a mukaddam by the Act.

"I must also notice here, my Lord, that to ensure further the due performance of the duties of the mukaddam, and to maintain his authority (which it is especially necessary to do in the matter of village-sanitation), section 39 of the Bill provides a penalty for failure to perform his duty or abuse of his authority by a mukaddam, and also a penalty for neglecting or disobeying a reasonable and lawful order made by a mukaddam.

"The next important amendments are contained in sections 29, 30, 31 and 32 of the Bill and relate to patwáris.

"These amendments provide, in the first place, for the appointment of patwáris in places where no patwáris previously existed; in the second place, they legalize the collection of the dues payable by tenants in return for the patwáris' services through the málguzárs instead of by the patwáris themselves; and, in the third place, they legalize the appropriation of part of the proceeds of the patwári-cess in defraying the expense of a supervising staff and in meeting charges connected with the working of the patwári-system, such as those for instruments and forms.

"At the last settlement the proprietors in some districts were allowed the option of maintaining patwáris or of making their own arrangements for the performance of the patwári's duties. The result was that in many cases no patwári was maintained and no proper arrangement was made for the performance of his duties. To remedy this section 145 of the Act provided that the Chief Commissioner might make rules empowering the Deputy Commissioner to impose fines on the proprietors and therefrom to make provision for the temporary performance of the duties of the patwári, or to appoint a patwári and to fix his remuneration. No provision was made as to the persons who were bound to pay this remuneration. This enactment has not worked satisfactorily. In many cases proprietors have consented to have a patwári appointed and to pay a patwári-cess, but it is inconvenient to leave it open to proprietors to decide whether they will have a patwári or not. There are also a few unimportant revenue-free grants for which provision should be made for the maintenance of a patwári. Power is accordingly taken, by amending section 144 of the Act, so as to enable the Chief Commissioner to appoint patwáris in tracts where they have not been heretofore appointed, and section 145 of the Act is repealed, as it will no longer be required.

"Section 32 of the Bill adds a new section (146A) giving the Chief Commissioner power to fix the contributions payable by the proprietors and tenants towards the remuneration of patwáris, the cost of supervising their work and maintaining their records. This will enable the Government to enforce the payment of the patwári-cess and will legalize the expenditure of a part of the patwári-fund in paying for a portion of the supervising establishment of revenue-inspectors and for charges connected with the working of the patwári-system. The fees paid by tenants to patwáris constitute in some districts of the Central Provinces a large proportion of the patwári's emoluments. When these fees are payable in cash it is desirable that they should be collected by the málguzár and paid into the Government treasury instead of being collected by the patwáris themselves. Section 146A therefore gives the Chief Commissioner power to direct that the patwári's fees shall be paid into the Government treasury by the lambardár of the mahál or the patél.

"The limit now fixed with regard to the amount chargeable as patwári-cess remains unaltered.

"There is only one other matter which I think requires notice. Section 33 of the Bill inserts in the Act a section giving power to the Chief Commissioner to provide by rule for the appointment, removal and remuneration of kotwárs or village-watchmen, and to define their duties. In the present Act there is not much said about these officers. The Settlement-officer is given power to determine disputes regarding the right of any village-watchman to any customary dues, or other remuneration, and his liability to render any customary service. It is further provided that the lambardár is to collect and pay into the Government treasury the remuneration of the village-watchman, and that the mukaddam is to control and superintend him, to report his death or absence from duty, to maintain him in possession of his service-land, to recover and pay to him any cash allowances to which he may be entitled, and to take such steps as may be necessary to compel him to perform his duty. It may seem out of place to legislate for a village-watchman in a Land-revenue Act; but the kotwár or village-watchman is an administrative officer, like the mukaddam, and is remunerated by a grant of service-land. He therefore falls within the class of village-officers with which the Land-revenue Act deals. It is expedient that he should not be left without control, or subject only to the control of the málguzár, and that provision should be made for his appointment and removal from office.

"The remaining amendments contained in the Bill relate to matters of minor importance. They are, I think, sufficiently explained in the Statement of Objects and Reasons, and I need not therefore detain your Lordship in Council by enumerating them in detail."

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Hon'ble MR. CROFTHWAITE also introduced the Bill.

The Hon'ble MR. CROFTHWAITE also moved that the Bill and Statement of Objects and Reasons be published in the Gazette of India in English, and in the Central Provinces Gazette in English and in such other languages as the Local Government thinks fit.

The Motion was put and agreed to.

The Council adjourned to Wednesday, the 3rd July, 1889.

WEATHER SUMMARY FOR MAY 1889.

General Weather conditions of the month.—The chief feature of the month is the increase of temperature which proceeds more rapidly in Upper than in Central India. The hottest area during the early part of the month usually includes the Central Provinces, Central India, and the eastern districts of the North-Western Provinces. It is usually transferred to Rajputana and Sind in the third or fourth week of the month. The continued high temperature in Central and Upper India usually diminishes pressure rapidly during the month in those areas and establishes the baric gradients necessary for the extension of the south-east trades winds across the equator and their continuance northwards as the south-west monsoon winds into India.

Usually one or two feeble advances of these humid winds occur during May which give moderate rain to Ceylon, Malabar, and to Tenasserim. The great advance however does not usually take place until the end of May or the beginning of June. This forms what is known as the setting in of the south-west monsoon. Over the whole of Central and Northern India the weather is generally very hot and dry, but hot weather storms occasionally occur and sometimes give very heavy showers, more especially in Bengal and Assam, and in and near the hills in Behar and the North-West Provinces. In Bengal and Assam the amount of rain received from the local thunderstorms is sometimes very considerable, and the showery weather of May occasionally merges at the end of the month almost imperceptibly into the rain of the south-west monsoon.

Temperature.—The past month has been characterized by higher average temperature than usual in all districts except the Punjab and Assam.

The following give the mean temperature data for the various Provinces :

Provinces	Mean Maximum Temperature May.	Variation from Normal.	Mean Minimum Temperature May	Variation from Normal.	Mean Daily Temperature May.	Variation from Normal.
Burmah	97.4	+ 4.4	78.2	+ 2.6	87.8	+ 3.5

Madras	99.8	+ 0.8	80.3	+ 1.5	90.1	+ 1.2

This table shows that the excess of temperature was greatest for Burmah and Bengal.

Temperature was considerably above the average at the commencement of the month. The 3rd and 4th were very hot days in Bengal and Burmah, and at many stations the maximum day temperature was from 8° to 12° above the normal.

Dry hot weather with excessive temperature continued steadily until the 20th. The 10th and 11th were very hot days in North-East India. The mean maximum temperature averaged 7° above the normal in Bengal and the North-West Provinces, 5° in Burmah, and 4° in the Central Provinces. The hottest area at this time was the eastern districts of the Central Provinces and the adjacent districts of Bengal. The hottest area was transferred to the eastern districts of the North-West Provinces and Central India on the 18th and 19th, on which days very high temperatures were recorded at Allahabad and other stations in these areas. A very rapid reduction of temperature took place on the 22nd in consequence of showers over the greater part of Northern and Central India. In many cases the day temperature was reduced from 20° to 30°. Thus on the 23rd the maximum temperature was 18° below the normal at Sutna, 15° below it at Patna, and 14° at Allahabad. On the 25th it was 22° below it at Ludhiana, 19° at Sialkote, and 15° at Agra. This very cool period lasted until the 26th, during which occasional showers continued to be received. With the cessation of rain the temperature began to rise steadily, and at the end of the month was again considerably above the normal. The excess averaged 7° in the Central Provinces; 5° in Bengal, Central India, Sind, Guzerat, and Rajputana; and 4° in the North-West Provinces and the Punjab. During this period of increasing temperature the area of highest temperature was transferred to Sind.

The following gives the highest temperatures registered during the month at selected stations in Northern India and the highest temperature registered during the same month in the previous 14 years for comparison:

Pressure.—One of the most important effects of the prolonged heat of May is to intensify previously existing barometric or pressure anomalies and to develop new ones. The mean pressure of the month for the whole of India was '031" above the normal.

The following gives the pressure anomalies or the variations of the mean pressure in each district relative to the general condition of excessive pressure as stated above :

Province	MEAN PRESSURE VARIATIONS
	May 1st to 15th.	May 16th to 31st	May
Burmah	+ '015	— '019	— '002
Bengal	— '036	— '001	— '019
Assam	— '041	— 007	— '024
Behar and Chutia Nagpur	— '052	— '002	— '027
North-West Provinces . .	— 029	+ '012	— '009
Punjab	+ '023	+ 024	+ 024
Sind and Rajputana	+ '024	+ 006	+ 014
Central India	+ 019	+ '011	+ 015
Central Provinces	+ 007	+ '005	+ 006
Madras	+ 002	— '013	— 006
Bombay	+ '002	— 010	— 004

The chief features as indicated by the above are :

- (a) Slightly defective pressure in the south and west of the Peninsula.
- (b) Increased pressure in Upper India, more especially in Rajputana and the Punjab and the adjacent districts of the North-West Provinces. This feature was very persistent throughout the month and was unaffected by the changes of weather during the month. It will hence probably modify to a considerable extent the northward extension of the south-west monsoon current in June.
- (c) Slightly increased pressure, small in amount, and hence probably of little importance, in Central India and the Central Provinces.
- (d) Very deficient pressure in Behar, Bengal, Assam, and Burmah. This deficiency was to a large extent produced by the excessive temperature which prevailed in these areas during a large part of the month. This feature was however not so persistent as the excessive pressure in Upper India. The deficiency was large in the first half of May in Bengal, Assam, and Behar, and during the second half of May in Burmah. It will hence probably influence the extension of the south-west monsoon current in June (in the manner stated in the forecast already published), but it is difficult to estimate to what extent.

The only other feature of importance in the pressure conditions of the month are the local depressions. These were in all cases small and in no case gave rise to stormy winds over large areas. The following gives a brief statement of these depressions :

- (1) Depression in Central Burmah on the 8th and 9th. It caused moderate rain in South and Central Burmah, and filled up on the 10th.

- (2) Depression in Behar on the 14th which accompanied a strong inrush of south-west winds across the Bengal Coast and gave moderate to heavy thundershowers over the greater part of Bengal on that day. It filled up on the morning of the 15th.
- (3) Depression in Sind on the 17th, 18th and 19th. This was apparently due to hot weather conditions, and was shortly afterwards followed by the transfer of the area of minimum pressure to Sind and Upper India.
- (4) Small depression off the Coromandel Coast on the 21st and 22nd. It gave some light showers on that Coast, and filled up on the 22nd.
- (5) Depression of May 22nd to 26th. On the 22nd a small depression lay over the Central Provinces and another over the north of the Bay. The former disappeared on the 23rd, and the depression in the Bay developed slightly and moved westwards towards the coast districts and eastern districts of the Central Provinces. It was throughout a large but a very shallow depression. It determined more or less general rain over a large portion of Central and Northern India, which occurred chiefly as thundershowers in Bengal, the North-West Provinces, Rajputana, Central India, and the Central Provinces. The depression filled up on the 26th and 27th.
- (6) A depression began to form off the South Malabar Coast on the 29th. It was at first apparently of small importance, but in the first week of June it advanced northwards along the Bombay Coast and developed into a cyclonic storm. Its history will be given in next month's report.

Storms.—The previous paragraph has shown that there was no large cyclonic storm during the month. Duststorms and thunderstorms were unusually numerous in Northern India and were in some cases very violent. The following were reported during the month. Severe duststorm at Gya and Nowgong on the 4th; hailstorm at Belgaum on the 7th, violent duststorm at Jacobabad on the 7th; thunderstorm at Negapatam on the 12th, during which 4 inches of rain fell, violent duststorm at Kurwar on the 14th; very severe thunderstorm with hail at Kishnagar on the 19th; duststorm at Sirsa on the 21st; violent duststorm with rain at Indore on the 21st; violent duststorm with hail and rain at Mount Abu on the 22nd; severe duststorm at Sirsa on the 22nd; a very heavy thunderstorm preceded by winds of almost hurricane force lasting for half an hour at Neemuch on the 22nd, and a severe nor-west at False Point on the 29th when the wind velocity averaged 32 miles per hour for a short period.

Rainfall.—The rainfall of the month has been of a somewhat unusual character. Rain fell daily in Assam from the 1st to the 13th; occasional showers were also received during this period in East Bengal and Burmah (chiefly on the 8th and 9th). The Punjab obtained local showers on the 10th and 13th, but the amounts were small.

Rain fell in large amounts in Assam from the 14th to the 18th, and nearly the whole of Bengal received moderate to heavy rain from thundershowers during the same period. Berhampore in Bengal obtained 4½ inches during a thunderstorm on the evening of the 15th. Two feeble advances of moist winds into the south of the Peninsula occurred during this period. The first took place on the 14th and 15th, and the second on the 17th and 18th. As usual the largest rainfall amounts were received in Ceylon and on the Malabar Coast. A brief interval of dry hot weather preceded a period of showery weather extending from the 21st to the 26th over a large part of the country including Burmah, Bengal, the North-West Provinces, Central Provinces, Central India, and Rajputana. Numerous thundershowers occurred during this period over the greater part of Northern and Central India, the chief effect of which was to cool the air very considerably and give a welcome break in the intensely hot weather which prevailed during the greater part of the month.

Assam and Burmah received moderate rain on the 29th, 30th and 31st. Heavy rain fell on the 29th in South-West Ceylon, and on the 30th and 31st on the South Malabar Coast. Colombo received $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches and Mangalore $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches on the 29th; Cochin 4 inches and Mangalore $2\frac{1}{2}$ inches on the 30th, and Cochin $3\frac{1}{2}$ inches on the 31st. This burst of rain was the commencement of that advance of south-west winds and general rain along the West Coast which is usually considered as the setting in of the south-west monsoon.

The month was drier than usual over the greater part of India. This was more especially the case in Lower Burmah and Bengal, in which moderately heavy rain is usually received. The actual rainfall in Lower Burmah was only 3.93 inches, the normal being 8.99 inches. The actual average rainfall of Bengal was 3.3 inches and the normal 6 inches. Rajputana, Central India, Guzerat, and the northern districts of the Central Provinces received larger amounts than usual in May due to the unusual fall in the fourth week of the month. The amounts were however not large, and the rainfall hence unimportant. The rainfall of the month was in moderate excess in Ceylon, and considerably above the average in Assam, which received an average of 19.4 inches or 4.8 inches above the normal. The variations in other districts were small and of no great importance.

The following table gives complete data and shows the actual average rainfall and the normal rainfall of the month of the twenty-one districts into which the country is divided, so far as it is indicated by the telegraphic reports of a few stations in each district :

Weather Review of India for the week ending 8 a.m. on Monday, June 24th, 1889.

The weather has again been quiet during the past week. A small depression which was developed over Bengal passed westward into the central parts of the country during the early part of the week. During its existence normal monsoon weather prevailed over the greater part of the country. After its disappearance both the Arabian Sea and the Bay of Bengal currents became somewhat irregular, and the rainfall became patchy instead of general, and the heat, particularly over North-Western India, became very oppressive.

The Chart of the 18th showed that the depression which was forming over Lower Bengal at the close of the previous week had commenced a westerly advance, and its centre lay to the south of Hazaribagh. A strongish current from the Bay blew across the Bengal Coast, and as a south-east wind penetrated far into Upper India. Fairly normal conditions prevailed in other parts of India, though pressure in the western half of the country was more uniform than is usually the case. By the morning of the 19th the depression had reached the Central Provinces, the centre lying between Jubbulpore and Saugor. A well marked but comparatively feeble cyclonic circulation existed around the storm area. In other parts of the Indian region the winds were fairly normal, a westerly current blowing across the Peninsula and the Central parts of the country, a southerly current in Bengal, and a south-easterly current up the Gangetic plain. On the 20th relatively low pressures were reported from the whole of Bengal, the North-Western Provinces, and the north of the Central Provinces, but there was no well marked disturbance such as existed during the two previous days. The cyclonic circulation had consequently ceased, and the south-easterly current up the Gangetic plain had become much weaker and less general. Calms had at the same time appeared on the West Coast, and the wind became variable over the Peninsula, but on the Sind and Guzerat Coasts and inland over that region a strong monsoon was blowing. The Chart of the 21st showed that the south-easterly current up the Gangetic plain had entirely disappeared. On the West Coast and over the Peninsula calms and variable winds prevailed, while in Sind, Guzerat, and Central India strong westerly and south-westerly winds continued to blow. Pressure remained highest in Malabar and lowest in the Indus Valley, while small local depressions were shown in different parts of North-Eastern India. On the 22nd conditions were similar to those reported on the 21st. There was a large difference of pressure between the Malabar Coast and the Punjab, the major part of the difference occurring over North-Western India, where gradients were very steep. The monsoon current blowing from the Arabian Sea into the Peninsula was not strong, but over Sind, Guzerat, and Central India the force of the wind was high. South-westerly winds prevailed in the Gangetic plain, and the current from the Bay, instead of travelling northwestward up the Gangetic plain, passed into Eastern Bengal, Assam, and Burma. The Charts of the 23rd and 24th showed no important change beyond a further weakening of the monsoon current on the West Coast of the Peninsula.

Temperature has been high throughout the week in Upper India, but has been on the whole low elsewhere, more particularly over the Central Provinces, where on the 20th and 21st there was a deficiency of about 10° . In the Peninsula and Bengal temperature has been steady, and the mean average temperature of most days showed very little departure from the normal.

A comparison of the maximum readings of the 20th with the normals for that day exhibits very large variations of temperature over India; for instance, at Dera Ismail Khan the maximum was 119° , or 11° above the average; at Multan 118.8° , or 13° above the average; and at Jacobabad 122.5° , or 11° above the average, while at Hoshangabad the maximum was only 76.2° , or 20° below the average; and at Khandwa 77.2° , or 19.8° below the average.

The following table shows the excess or defect of the mean average temperatures of the different Provinces from the normal, both for the present and for the preceding week :

PROVINCE.	Difference of Mean Temperature of Last Week from Normal.	Difference of Mean Temperature of Present Week from Normal.
Burmah	+ 0.1°	+ 0.7°
Bengal	— 1.3°	— 0.2°
North-Western Provinces	— 6.8°	— 3.0°
Punjab	— 3.7°	+ 4.0°
Bombay	+ 0.2°	+ 0.2°
Central Provinces and Berar	— 2.0°	— 4.5°
Guzerat and Central India	— 3.3°	— 2.0°
Sind and Rajputana	— 2.3°	+ 0.2°
Madras	+ 0.5°	+ 0.7°

These figures show that the relatively cool weather which prevailed last week has, except in the Punjab, continued. The main features of the table for the present week are the general agreement of the mean temperature with the normal, the considerable deficiency over the central parts of the country, and the considerable excess in the Punjab.

Rain has fallen in all parts of India, except the west of Rajputana, though all over North-Western India the amounts are very slight. There were some large amounts in connection with the depression which formed over Bengal, but as a rule the rainfall of the past week is made up of moderate general falls.

The reports of the 18th showed that slight rain had fallen in the south-west of the Peninsula, general rain over Burmah, the head of the Bay, Lower Bengal, and the Central Provinces, and scattered showers at a few places in the Gangetic plain. On the 19th rain had become more general both over the Peninsula and over the Gangetic plain, but otherwise the fall was similar to that of the 18th. On the 20th rainfall decreased again in the Gangetic plain, but otherwise there was again no change. The reports of the 21st showed an extension of rain into the Punjab, but that the rainfall all over the country was light. On the 22nd rain ceased all over the central parts of the country, and the fall was practically confined to the Peninsula, Burmah, Assam, North Bengal, and a small tract of country in Upper India containing the stations of Delhi, Lucknow, Bareilly, and Roorkee. On the 23rd rain was a trifle more general in the Gangetic plain, but on the 24th it again fell off, and the principal rainfall districts were the regions noted on the 22nd.

Of the fifty-one rainfall divisions one gives no return, one is not comparable with any average, one reports no rain, fourteen exhibit an excess, and thirty-four exhibit a deficiency.

In Burmah all the divisions, except Central Burmah, exhibit a deficiency. This is also the case in East Bengal and in Assam (Surma), but in Assam (Brahmaputra), Deltaic, Central, and North Bengal as well as in Orissa and Behar the rainfall has exceeded the average. Chota Nagpur and the greater part of the North-Western Provinces have received deficient rainfall, but along the line of the hills both in the North-Western Provinces and Oudh there has been an excess. The Punjab hills also had more than the average, but on the plains, as in the North-Western Provinces, there was a deficiency. The Peninsula and the central parts of the country, with the exception of the following divisions, Madras (South Central), Central Provinces (West), and Central India (East), had less than the normal amount, though in the majority of divisions the deficiency was not very large.

The final column of the table shows that up to date the season's rainfall over the greater part of the country has been fairly good. The divisions, where the deficiency is large, are the North-West Provinces (West), the Punjab (Central), Mysore, Khandeish, Sind, Kattiawar, Hyderabad, and Madras (South). Over Northern India, except the Punjab, there is a general excess.

Bengal.—For week ending 25th June.—Heavy and general rain during the week. A break is now desirable. Cultivation is proceeding satisfactorily. Paddy and all bhadoi sowings are in progress, and the early sown paddy and jute crops are coming up well. Sugarcane, indigo, and all other standing crops have improved by the rain and are now promising. Prices remain steady and high throughout the Province. In the affected districts of Durbhanga, Muzaffarpur, and Champarun common rice is quoted at $12\frac{1}{2}$ seers, 12 seers, and 11 seers per rupee, respectively. North-Western Provinces and Oudh.—For week ending 26th June.—Rain has fallen more or less generally over the Provinces, but its distribution has been very unequal: Gorakhpur reporting 9.5 inches, and none in Benares. In Meerut rain is wanted for the area already sown. Ploughings and sowings for the kharif are everywhere in progress. Markets are well supplied, though prices have risen in Lucknow, Benares, Ballia, Farukhabad, Sitapur, Kumaun, and Meerut.

Punjab.—For week ending 26th June.—Rain has fallen in most districts. Prices rising in Jullundur and Rawalpindi; falling in Shahpur; unsettled in Peshawar; and stationary elsewhere. NOTIFICATION.

ACCOUNTS AND FINANCE.

No. 3280.

Simla, the 29th June, 1889.

The Governor-General in Council has determined to borrow two hundred lakhs of rupees, being the amount required for the public service.

The following Notification is therefore published :

FOUR PER CENT. LOAN

His Excellency the Right Honourable the Governor-General in Council has resolved to borrow two hundred lakhs of rupees for the public service in the following manner :

2. Promissory Notes will be issued for the said amount in Form A annexed to this Notification, being the form of the notes of The Four Per Cent. Loan of 1854-55, of which Loan the notes to be now issued will form a part. All the conditions which apply to notes of The Four Per Cent. Loan of 1854-55 will apply to the notes to be now issued.

3. Tenders for the whole or any part of the said amount of Rs. 2,00,00,000 will be received by the Comptroller-General from this date to noon of Tuesday, the 30th July next. Tenders must be in sums of 500 Rupees or multiples of 500 Rupees.

4. Each tender must be addressed, in the form annexed to this Notification, to the Comptroller-General, Calcutta, and enclosed in a closed cover, superscribed, "Tender for the Four Per Cent. Loan." If the tenderer is not resident in India, he must name an agent resident in India to whom a letter of allotment may be issued, if any part of the loan is allotted to such tenderer.¹

(a) Each tender must be accompanied by a receipt from the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or one of their Branches, or

¹ Tenders made in accordance with these instructions will also be received by the Accountants-General, Madras and Bombay, on account of the Comptroller-General, Calcutta, on the 29th July and up to 11-30 or 11 o'clock local time respectively (corresponding with 12 o'clock in Calcutta) on the 30th July; provided that—

(a) they are delivered personally or by clerk or messenger at his office (where a receipt will be given for them),

(b) they are made on printed Forms, to be obtained at his office or at the local Presidency Bank,

(c) each tender is for not less than Rs. 10,000,

(d) that the deposit is either a promissory note, or a Treasury Receipt from the Head Office of the local Presidency Bank, or a cheque on a local Bank in Madras or Bombay, respectively;

(e) that the amount of the tender is made payable either in Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay, and he will return deposits on non-accepted tenders, and will issue allotment-certificates so far as the tenders are payable in Madras or Bombay.

from an officer in charge of some Public Treasury, or by a cheque drawn in favour of the Comptroller-General on a Bank in Calcutta, Madras, or Bombay, or in favour of the Accountant-General, Bombay or Madras, on a Bank in Bombay or Madras respectively in respect of tenders received by him, or by¹ Government promissory notes, standing in the name of or endorsed to the tenderer or the person making the deposit, for not less than one-hundredth, or, if the tender be for less than Five Lakhs of Rupees, then for not less than one-fiftieth part of the tender.

(b) Deposits, not being promissory notes, will, in the case of accepted tenders, be credited proportionally in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender, and will bear interest for the purpose of clause 14 below from the date of the opening of tenders. When a tender is not accepted in full, the deposits, when they are not in the form of promissory notes, will be credited as far as possible proportionately in even tens of rupees in part payment of the allotment-certificates issued in respect of it. If any allotment-certificate is not fully taken up, the deposit credited in respect of it will be forfeited.

(c) Promissory notes deposited in respect of any accepted tender will be held until all the allotment-certificates issued in respect of the tender are paid up, and will, if the allotment-certificates are not fully taken up, be appropriated by the Government and cancelled.

5. The rate at which a tender is made must not contain a fraction of an anna: if a rate containing a fraction of an anna is inserted in any tender, such fraction will be struck out and the tender treated as if the rate did not contain such fraction of an anna.

6. The rate at which each tender is made must be specified in rupees or rupees and annas: a tender in which no rate is thus specified, but a subscription is offered in some other terms—as, for example, at the recorded minimum, or at some specified percentage in addition to the recorded minimum, or at the average of the accepted tenders—will be rejected as null and void.

7. The minimum rate at which tenders will be accepted will be recorded under the signature of the Comptroller-General, and, before the tenders are opened, placed upon the table in a sealed envelope, but not be declared unless some tender is rejected only because it is below the recorded minimum.

8. Tenders will be opened publicly by the Comptroller-General at the Treasury Buildings, Calcutta, at noon (Calcutta time), on Tuesday, the 30th July next, and those received under the terms of the footnote under clause 4 will be similarly opened by the Accountant-General, Madras, at 11-30 (Madras time), and by the Accountant-General, Bombay, at 11 o'clock (Bombay time), on the same day; but the contents of the tenders will not be disclosed otherwise than as provided in clause 10.

9. Tenders at the recorded minimum rate, and at rates above the recorded minimum rate, will be accepted in the order of the rates tendered, beginning with the highest rate; the amount allotted at the lowest rate at which tenders are accepted will be divided amongst those who have tendered at this rate in proportion, as nearly as may be found convenient, to the amounts of their tenders; provided that no allotment will be issued if the amount distributable on any tender is less than Rs 500.

10. To each tenderer (or to his agent) whose tender is accepted in whole or in part, such number of allotment-certificates as may be necessary to make up the aggregate amount allotted to him will be issued by the Comptroller-General² as soon as possible after the 30th July; and an alphabetical list of the names of those to whom such allotment-certificates are issued will be posted, for general information, at the Head Offices of the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay.

11. If the allotment made on any tender is less than Rs 3,000 then the whole of the allotment-certificates (after credit of the deposit under clause 4 (b)) will be made payable upon the 10th September.

Otherwise the whole amount of each allotment will be divided into three instalments, as follows:

Instalment 1.—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 13th August:

¹ It is particularly requested that such Promissory Notes may NOT be endorsed to the Comptroller-General.

² For tenders received by the Accountant-General, Madras or Bombay, and payable at those places, the Accountant-General will issue the allotment-certificates.

Instalment II.—As near as convenient to 35 per cent., but not exceeding 35 per cent., payable upon the 10th September :

Instalment III.—The balance payable upon the 28th September :
and allotment-certificates will be issued for each instalment separately.

But the whole or any part of any accepted tender may be paid at any time after receipt of the allotment-certificates.

The words "as near as convenient" refer to the necessity for making each instalment an exact multiple of Rs500.

12. Any allotment-certificate will, on application to the Comptroller-General, be exchanged for an equivalent amount of allotment-certificates of smaller denominations, provided that if any payment (beyond the deposit) is recorded upon the cancelled certificate, it can be taken against, and recorded upon, only one of the certificates issued in exchange.

13. Payment of any allotment-certificate may be made to the account of the Government in the Head Office of the Bank of Bengal, or Madras, or Bombay, or in any Branch of these Banks, or into any Public Treasury or Treasuries in India which may be named in the tender in respect of which it was issued. Receipts for such payments will be given by the Banks of Bengal, Madras, and Bombay, or their Branches, or by the Officers in charge of the Government Treasuries at which payment is made, by encasement upon the relative certificate.

14. (a) When any allotment-certificate is fully paid up, the holder will, on presenting it duly receipted at the place where it was paid, obtain from the Public Debt Office, Calcutta, promissory notes of such values as he may desire (each note being in even hundreds and not less than Rs500), bearing interest from 1st January 1890, and he will also receive interest at 4 per cent. per annum from the dates on which he may have made payment till the last day of December 1889.

(b) Or he may, at his option, by paying interest at the said rate from 1st July 1889 to the dates on which he may have made payment, obtain promissory notes as above, bearing interest from 1st July 1889.
